CRITIC OF NAVY GETS ASSIGNMENT AT LAST

Rear-Admiral Magruder

POST GIVEN MAGRUDER

Rear-Admiral to Come to Coast

Officer Relieved from Duty in 1927 as Punishment Will Head Base Force

Hoover Backs Assignment of Fiery Critic of Navy to San Pedro August 1

WASHINGTON, July 12. (Exclusive)—Rear-Admiral Charles P. Magruder, whose charges that the Navy Department was run on wasteful lines created a sensation in naval and Congressional circles two years ago, was ordered reassigned to active duty today after spending twenty-one months on a deferred vacation.

Secretary of the Navy Adams announced that the fiery rear-admiral will assume command of the fleet base force with headquarters at San Pedro, Cal., on August 1. Orders to this effect already have been directed to Magruder's home in North Carolina, where the rear-admiral has spent most of his time since he was relieved as commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard and placed on waiting orders by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur in November, 1927.

Secretary Adams acted after consultation with President Hoover and virtually every high-ranking officer of the Navy Department. Although some naval officers believe that

Ohio Doctor Advises Short, Slow Puffs Without Inhaling Smoke

War, Flu, Alcohol and Auto Blamed by Kentuckian for "Loss of Pep"

BY WATSON DAVIS
Managing Editor "Science Service"

PORTLAND (Or.) July 12. (Exclusive)—Smoke cigarettes with small, intermittent puffs, taking ten minutes to each cigarette. Throw a cigarette away when the stump is still long. Don't inhale. Pick an oriental tobacco. Don't smoke before meals.

This is good advice to those who must smoke, extracted from the scientific report of Dr. Emil Bogen of Cincinnati, who, with cigarette smoking machines and human smoke testers, investigated more than fifty different brands of tobacco on the market. Talking before the American Medical Association meeting, which closed today, Dr. Bogen explained his extensive researches.

OTHER EVILS LISTED

Nicotine is not the only injurious agent in cigarette smoke. Aldehydes, similar to poisonous compounds in bootleg liquor, are formed during the combustion of the tobacco, ammonia is contained in the fumes from smoldering cigarettes, heat of the smoke is harmful to the mouth and tarry substances sometimes called tobacco oil are irritating. Headaches and other effects are caused by the inhalation of carbon monoxide contained in smoke.

Dr. Bogen discovered that simply holding a lighted cigarette in the hand produced more toxic materials in the room air than resulted from active smoking when smoke is drawn through tobacco and into the mouth. Smoke off the burning end is of more consequence to non-smokers who breathe it than to smokers who indulge moderately. Smoke from the cigarette's end contains most of the material of a cigarette and Dr. Bogen's analysis showed that it contains ammonia, chemical that causes eye and nose irritation. But smoke from the lighted end has little deadly carbon monoxide such as is present in smoke drawn swiftly into the mouth.

SLOW PUFFS URGED

Radical differences in nicotine content of the inhaled smoke depending upon the rate of smoking caused Dr. Bogen to recommend slow and short puffing. Fast and furious smoking makes it possible to carry into the system with the smoke half of the cigarette's nicotine content.

Discovery that stumps of partially smoked cigarettes act as filters and catch nicotine, increasing the stump's narcotic content by two-thirds, caused Dr. Bogen to suggest smoking cigarettes only halfway.

Inveterate smokers of three to ten years' experience could not tell even one class of tobacco from another, much less one brand of cigarette from another. Dr. Bogen, following suggestions contained in current cigarette advertisements, blindfolded his cigarette-testing volunteers and put bands around the brand labels. Only one man could consistently tell which cigarettes were mild or strong and even he fell down occasionally on differentiating between oriental, domestic, West Indian and blended tobaccos.

TOBACCO DIFFERS

Chemical analysis showed that domestic tobaccos have the highest nicotine concentrations, usually about 2½ per cent. West Indian tobaccos are lowest with less than 1 per cent, yet they are credited with being the most irritating. Oriental brands run a little higher and blends run from 1¼ to 2½ per cent. Some cigarettes treated to remove nicotine actually had higher contents than West Indian varieties. American tobaccos also had as much as ten times the aldehyde content as oriental sorts, which give off more ammonia.

Dyspeptic conditions may be prompted by smoking before meals because of impaired appetite and digestion. Dr. Bogen observed, while he admitted possibility that smoking after meals may allay nervous strain, increase digestive secretions

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 12.

[To the Editor of The Times:] The biggest news that was in the papers today was some fellow has experimented and is raising chickens that have no wings. That's a great gift to everybody that has to eat at the second table. Now if he can get rid of the necks and gizzards we will class him along with Burbank and Edison.

Just been over to see our flyers again. This wonderful flight was no surprise to me, for I know no place where air is more buoyant than here.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Two Burned to Death in Plane

RAHWAY (N. J.) July 12. (AP)—The pilot and mechanic of a biplane were burned to death late today after their plane fell and was wrecked on the outskirts of this town. The machine burst into flame.

The men were Frederick Arkright, the pilot, of Elizabeth, and a man named "Rourke," the mechanic. The plane was owned by the Atlanta Airways of Westfield.

Interior Secretary Declares Medical Costs Too High for Public and Predicts Changes

PORTLAND (Or.) July 12. (Exclusive)—The American medical profession, ultramodern in science, is woefully archaic in economics, said Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, in an interview at the annual convention here of the American Medical Association, which closed today.

"Medicine never has been adjusted to the strides of modern business," the Secretary said. "As a result, the cost to the public of obtaining the benefit of medical care is exorbitant. The profession has progressed mightily in scientific discovery, in combating disease and prolonging life. It has stood still so far in adjusting its financial aspect."

Secretary Wilbur is chairman of the National Committee on the Cost of Medical Care, composed of prominent citizens interested in easing the sickness burdens of the middle class public.

"We have planned a five-year program covering all angles of the medical cost problem," said Dr. Wilbur. "At the end of that time we expect to be able to make a definite recommendation to the profession and to the public which will remedy the situation. Medical men must face the problem and can gain nothing by stubborn, unreasonable resistance. I have often told audiences of physicians, 'Either you're going to do it or it's going to be done to you.'"

Meanwhile all experiments and plans, many of which are in process of being launched, can do no harm by being given trials, Dr. Wilbur said. They should all prove useful in arriving at the ultimate solution.

ANNAPOLIS PROXY TEST BOYS FREED

Henry Rupp, Long Beach, on Way Home After Flop of Examination Scheme

WASHINGTON, July 12. (Exclusive)—Henry S. Rupp, the Long Beach boy who tried to take a physical examination for Annapolis by proxy, and David Schooler, Washington youth, who substituted for him, were discharged by United States Commissioner Turnage today when the Navy Department refused to press the charges against the two boys of conspiracy to defraud the United States. Released before noon today, young Rupp left for his California home at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

With his dream of becoming a naval officer shattered and several days in jail behind him, naval authorities feel that the California boy has been punished enough.

Cottage by Sea to House Guggenheim Bride Built Despite Annulment Move

NEW YORK, July 12. (Exclusive) Natalie Price Guggenheim Gorman, 18-year-old heiress, now in Europe with her parents, may yet live in the cottage by the sea on Sands Point, L. I., with her young husband despite legal moves by her parents to annul the marriage.

Workmen went right on today putting finishing touches on the cottage despite the threatening summons in the annulment suit uncovered in White Plains Supreme Court. It was learned that while a summons was served on young Gorman, a real-estate man, the son of a Long Island railroad station master, in May, there is no record of any complaint in the action. Nor would the legal firm of Clark, Close & Davis of White Plains, in the absence of Lee Parsons Davis, make any comment.

A member of the law firm said he had no knowledge of either the filing of a complaint, as required by law within twenty days after the service of the summons on Gorman, or of the filing of a request for a continuance of time. In the absence of a request for a continuance the suit may be outlawed already.

Whether the little bride, whisked away to Europe by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund A. Guggenheim, refused to sign the papers that would make her a compliant tool in her parents' desire to break up the marriage, is not known.

The submarine, which is attached to the Mediterranean flotilla, is returning to Malta under her own power escorted by the cruiser Ceres and is expected early tomorrow.

Murray Hulbert Predicts Record Attendance for 1932 Sports Carnival Here

BY PAUL LOWRY

Praising this city as the site of the Olympic Games in 1932 Murray Hulbert, Past Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, yesterday predicted the greatest attendance in history since the Games were revived at Athens in 1896.

Although Mr. Hulbert's name has been almost exclusively associated with Elkdom the past week he is a power in the athletic world, and is in a position to make vital decisions affecting the conduct of the Olympic Games here three years hence.

He is a former and the only four-time president of the national Amateur Athletic Union and at present holds the position of first vice-president of the American Olympic Association, the body which appoints the committee to run the Games.

He has been through the mill at Stockholm, Paris and Amsterdam—three Olympiads—and knows whereof he speaks.

And it is from the background of this wide experience that he makes the following observations:

"(1.) Los Angeles is an ideal site for the staging of the Olympic Games in 1932. From the standpoint of climate it is

JAMMED CONTROLS FORCE RECORD FLYERS TO LAND

Mendell and Reinhart in Air More Than 246 Hours Before Mishap; Physical Condition Good

(Full page of pictures of the endurance record breaking flyers on Page 8, Part I of this edition of The Times.)

An epochal endurance test of ten and a quarter days between men and motor ended in a draw over Culver City airport at 2:13:03 p.m. yesterday when Loren W. Mendell and Roland B. (Pete) Reinhart, pilots of the record-breaking plane Angeleno, slipped to earth because of a debris-fouled tail group that theatened disaster in mid-air.

While making the thirty-seventh refueling contact 1500 feet above the airport shortly after noon the Angeleno wobbled unsteadily, side-slipped and banked into a sudden and perfect landing 246 hours, 43 minutes, 32 seconds after it had taken to the air. The world's endurance record for airplanes was outstripped by 72 hours, 38 minutes, 3 seconds.

As the wheels of the Angeleno struck the surface of the landing field, the cheers of hundreds acclaimed the latest supreme feat in aviation history and the black and white ship roared into a specially constructed inclosure where the weary pilots, bewhiskered and oil-spattered, clambered from the cabin, the newest aerial heroes.

A hurried examination disclosed that the tail group of the plane was befouled with papers, rags and other debris cast away during the flight, and which hampered the control if further flight were undertaken.

"I did not know what was the matter with the tail group as we were attempting to contact the fuel plane," Mendell said, "but the controls seemed to be jammed and for the sake of the record I thought we'd better come down. I had no trouble landing. It was just as easy as going up and coming down, but the tail was so heavy that I had to hold back on the stick with both hands to bring her down on an even keel." Mendell looked hale and hearty.

"I don't want to do anything for a week, but sleep," said Reinhart, the young flyer who handled the refueling contacts aloft.

"I never saw a motor run prettier," he said, "but I realized something was wrong with the tail while we were trying for more gas."

GREETED BY WIFE

Mrs. Ila Reinhart, who has been separated from her husband for four months, greeted her husband with a vigorous embrace as he dropped to the ground.

Reinhart was tired and haggard from the air duel and went to bed at once, after Dr. Frederick Rhodes of the Culver City Community Hospital made a hurried examination of the flyers. Mendell, however, stayed awake attending interviews and talking to friends.

Shortly after the wheels of the plane struck earth hundreds of telegrams of congratulation began pouring in to the flyers.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who with others sponsored the flight, declared Mendell and Reinhart have made "a distinct contribution to the progress of aviation in their marvelous flight." He was joined in that opinion by scores of others.

The third copartner in the flight, the Buhl airsedan, Angeleno, a second-hand ship, which had traveled some 17,000 miles in mail flights with a reserviced Wright Whirlwind engine with 450 aerial hours before preparation for the trial, was bundled into a hangar at once for intensive study of her parts.

DIVE OBSERVED

The first indication that all was not well with the flyers came a moment after they had established their thirty-seventh contact with the refueling ship. Hardly had the contact been made when the Angeleno was observed to dive below and away from its "nurse ship."

Despite the fact, however, that it was circling the airport and gliding earthward into the wind, only a few of the thousands who watched breathlessly expected the intrepid birdmen to land.

Less than an hour previous the endurance pilots had circled three overhead and sidled down to within twenty feet of the ground to drag the landing field. And as the dramatic climax came to the impressive flight, the crowd for a moment was dumbfounded and speechless.

Even scores of newspaper men and photographers who had stood by at the Culver City field since last Tuesday when Mendell and Reinhart had broken the last remaining record almost were caught unaware.

An hour earlier the Angeleno pilots had dropped their noonday message and requested 125 gallons of gasoline and five gallons of oil. And so confident are the ground force, field officials and press representatives become in the flyers' skill and endurance that the odds then were even money that a new record of 300 hours would be established.

TWO PLANES IN SEA RACE

New York Goal From France

Polish Pair Followed in Few Minutes by Frenchmen from Same Field

Coste Has Faster Ship But Poles May Take Shorter and Calmer Route

LE BOURGET, July 13. (Saturday) (AP)—The first great race by air across the North Atlantic is under way today with two Polish aviators and two French flyers competing for first honors.

The Poles, Ludwik Idzikowski and Casimir Kubala, took off at 4:47 a.m. (10:47 p.m., eastern standard time, Friday,) in a small Amiot sesquiplane in an attempt to reach New York.

Dieudonne Coste with his mechanic, Jacques Bellonte, took off forty-five minutes later at 5:32 a.m. (11:32 p.m., eastern standard time, Friday,) mysterious about his destination, which was announced after his departure as being also New York.

He previously had said it is Tokio, with one stop en route, but no one believed him, recognizing his statement as a necessary deception to evade French restrictions against trans-Atlantic flying.

The Poles made a beautiful start, lifting their plane in 1000 yards and sailing away to the west in the first rays of the rising sun.

COSTE'S SHIP HEAVIER

Coste's machine, which was christened the "?" (Question Mark,) took almost half as much longer and rose more slowly when it was off the ground. It is much heavier than the Poles' plane and had made only fifty feet altitude at a point where the Poles had climbed to 150 feet.

The Frenchman was mysterious to the last about his destination, but there was no one at Le Bourget who did not take it for granted he is going to New York. He headed westward from the flying field in what by that time was broad daylight.

The Poles had forty-five minutes start but the Question Mark is much faster and if both are going the same way Coste should pass the Poles quickly.

The element of a race, however, is quite plausible inasmuch as skill in crossing the shorter and less wind-swept route could bring the Poles to the American seaboard first.

POLES FAIL TO WAVE

The Poles were so deeply intent at their job of getting into the air with their enormous burden of petrol that they did not even supplement the good-bys said on the ground with waves of their hands from their plane.

Coste and Bellonte, more accustomed to spectacular starts, held out their arms—the parting handshake of airmen. They smiled at those below them and were off on their great adventure.

The Poles intend to adapt their route to the circumstances. Roughly, the distance between New York and Paris is about 3622 miles, but variations because of the wind, or in choosing a northerly or southerly course, can run that either higher or lower. It was probable they would not fix their direction defi-

FLOOD CRESTS SWEEP ON

Kansas Streams Carry Peril of Worst Overflow in Years at Salina and Hutchinson

TOPEKA (Kan.) July 12. (AP)—The flood waters of half a dozen Central and Southern Kansas streams tonight continued to sweep onward, entering Salina at two points, threatening Hutchinson with the worst overflow in recent years, and harassing residents of a number of smaller towns and communities.

While residents of these places were moving to higher ground and preparing to flee before the muddy deluge, citizens of a number of other cities and farm communities, gripped by the flood in the past few days, returned to their homes, and started the work of clearing mud and debris left by the receding waters.

Dry Creek, carrying a heavy load of water in its eastward course, late today invaded the west portion of Salina. The water crept into a residential district from the north to the south limits between the stream and the Missouri Pacific tracks. A hundred homes are in the area. Water also is entering the north section of the city. City officials estimate that if the water should rise above the Missouri Pacific tracks, a large section of the manufacturing and wholesale district would be flooded. The Smoky

FLYERS' LANDING FORCED BY JAMMED CONTROLS

Bewhiskered and Jubilant Rulers of Sky Able to Get Out of Their Plane Unassisted

for days had kept a vigil under Sergt. L. R. Kennedy, of the Los Angeles county motor patrol and Chief of Police W. P. Hendry of the Culver City force, were ready. Each time the Angeleno had started downward during the last three days, the vigilant officers had cranked their motorcycles and were ready for any emergency.

Thus, as the Angeleno touched earth for the first time in more than ten days, and on all three points, at first, squads of motorcycles shot forward from their prearranged point of vantage and encircled the flyers.

Other officers too, who had been kept stationed inside the wired inclosure of the field, were alert on the job. As a result, the new world champions were within a second barbed-wire inclosure around which the guardians of the law had formed a human chain, before the surging mass of humanity could reach them.

TAXI INTO INCLOSURE

Under their own motive power the flyers taxied into this strongly guarded inclosure flanked on either wing by the determined guardians of the law, and around which their fellow-officers had formed a ring.

All but ground officials, a few relatives and intimate friends and press representatives were excluded from the wired ring that encompassed the Angeleno and its pilots.

The first to greet the flyers were William G. McAdoo, Jr., one of the sponsors of the flight, and W. E. Thomas, western representative of the Wright motor.

Mendell, chief pilot of the flight, was at the controls of the endurance ship as it came to earth, and was the first of the two flyers to emerge from the cabin plane.

As the grimy and bewhiskered pilot clambered from the cabin willing hands sought to assist him, but were waved aside as he yelled, "Greetings, folks!"

Reinhart, who followed his chief to the ground from the opposite side of the plane, also was able to stand unassisted, but as he came around the nose of the plane, his legs were unequal to the task. Friends grabbed him as he wobbled to his partner's side and into the waiting arms of his wife.

FIRST MESSAGE

Mendell, the first to speak, announced into a microphone, held waiting, that a wobbly "tail group" brought them down.

"We are sorry, folks, but we couldn't help it. Something went wrong with our rear controls, otherwise we'd have stayed up another week." That was his first message to the audience.

Then turning to Paul Whittier, wealthy young pilot of the faithful refueling ship, he said, "To him, and Slade Hulbert, who handled the refueling end of the job, is due as much credit as to ourselves.

"Also to our wonderful motor and ship, to our Richfield gas and oil, and to the wonderful co-operation of the whole ground force, is great credit due.

"But for all of these things the flight would not have been possible. Our motor never missed a stroke until about an hour ago when a spark plug missed a couple of times," he said.

He was not permitted to say more, but with Reinhart was bustled into a waiting ambulance and hurried to the Culver City Community Hospital, where Dr. Rhodes took them into private rooms and made a hasty examination of their physical conditions.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Neither of the flyers had seemed as deaf as had been anticipated, and on reaching the hospital their physical condition, according to Dr. Rhodes, was remarkable, and likewise better than he had expected.

In a formal statement issued later, Dr. Rhodes, who was in charge of the Red Cross force at the national air meet here last fall, said:

"We find the boys in better condition than we anticipated. Contrary to expectation, the hearing of both rapidly is approaching normal. They both were nearly deaf when they landed.

"A complete study is being made of their respiration, pulse and blood pressure, in various positions, standing, sitting and reclining. Their pulse, when brought to the hospital, was about the same as would have been that of anyone on completion of strong exercise, but is approaching normal after an elapse of some twenty minutes.

"Special analyses are being made of various secretions by the best laboratory in Los Angeles.

MORE STUDY DUE

"The temperature of both was slightly below normal. The pulse of one at first was 120, but has now dropped to 96. That of the other has dropped from 108 to 92. The blood pressure of one is 140, a drop of twenty points since he entered; that of the other 120, as against 136 at first.

"Following a careful check and complete examination and study, our observations will be compared with their conditions at the time of getting their pilots' licenses. Drs. Theodore Lyster and Isacs Jones, who examined them will be given an opportunity to examine the flyers, and our reports will be made to the medical journals of the nation."

On entering the hospital, the new world's champions were turned over to the care of Dr. Rhodes, who was to determine whether they were physically able to broadcast a greeting to a radio audience.

The flyers were permitted to see representatives of the press for a few minutes, after a rest of some thirty minutes. The waiting reporters were escorted first to the bedside of the red-headed novice flyer—a week ago—and "Pete's" first words were, "I'm feeling fine, a bit tired and weak—would like to sleep until tomorrow."

"Wire mother," he said. "I'm safe and sound and will be up to see her next week."

Mendell, chief spokesman for the pair as well as chief pilot of their airsedan, endeavored to explain their forced landing.

Neither pilots was sure as to just what caused the tail group to wabble and start vibrating. Mendell thought perhaps it was because of a hatch cover which had blown off of the cock-pit just before the ship became unruly. Reinhart thought maybe the rear control was damaged from the back-wash of the refueling plane's propeller.

Neither was right, according to an inspection of the motor made later. The part of the hatch cover that had been blown off was but a small diagonal bit of isinglass too small to have caused any damage.

A more plausible theory was advanced by W. E. Thomas, motor expert who took charge of the plane after it landed.

"The wobbling tail, it appears, was indirectly the result of an accumulation of debris, refuse, etc., that had caught on and continued to accumulate on the leading edges of the stabilizer," he said. "This refuse, I noted last night, had accumulated to six or eight inches on each side of the stabilizer. And likely, when the Angeleno was subjected to the back-wash of the nurse's ship's propeller, some of this debris was dislodged, threw the tail out of balance and caused it to dive, and the controls to vibrate."

QUESTION MARK FIRST OF PROCESSION

When the giant trimotored army Fokker Question Mark landed at Metropolitan Airport, January 7, last, after setting a new record of 150 hours 40 minutes 14 seconds in the air, a vogue for refueling endurance records was established.

The Question Mark took to the air on the morning of January 1 with a crew of five. Maj. Carl Spatz was in command of the flight and was accompanied by Capt. Ira Baker, Lieut. E. R. Quesada, Lieut. H. A. Halverson and Sergt. Roy Hooe. The flyers were forced down by engine trouble.

Two Texas flyers, Reg L. Robbins and James Kelly, next attacked the record. Beginning on May 19 the flyers stayed aloft in their single-motored Ryan Brougham monoplane Fort Worth until May 27, when they landed at the Fort Worth airport with a new record of 172 hours 22 minutes and 1 second. In this flight, too, the machine gave out before the men, a cracked propeller causing the flight to stop.

The next successful attempt to set a refueling endurance record began at the Cleveland (O.) airport on June 30, when Byron K. Newcomb and Roy L. Mitchell took off in the monoplane City of Cleveland. The end of the flight, due to a damaged right wing, a damaged fuselage and weariness on the part of the flyers, came the 6th inst., when they landed with a new record of 174 hours 5 minutes and 29 seconds.

REINHART'S MOTHER TELLS OF OILING THEORY

SALEM (Or.) July 12. (AP)—The secret of the record-breaking flight of Pete Reinhart and L. W. Mendell in the plane Angeleno may be a new lubrication principle which they have worked out, according to Mrs. C. E. Reinhart, mother of the former Oregon traffic officer and one of the pilots of the plane. Her son told her, she said, that he was working on something of that kind prior to the flight.

SECRETARY GOOD PLEASED WITH FLIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Secretary Good tonight recognized the record-breaking endurance flight of L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart at Culver City, Cal., with the following statement:

"I am greatly pleased to hear of the splendid record the airplane crew of the Angeleno has made on their flight. The army plane Question Mark on its flight pointed the way to such records, and nothing gives army men greater pleasure than to hear that others have followed and even surpassed the records they have set."

STATISTICS ON RECORD FLIGHT

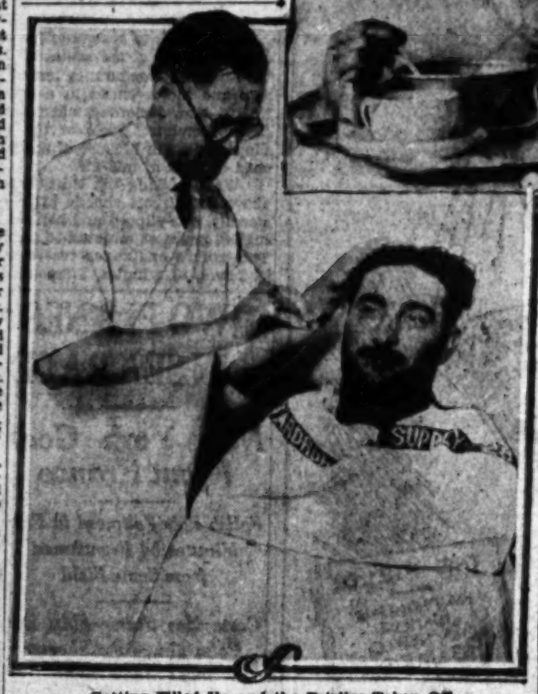
Square Meal and Razor Look Good



Getting Filled Up and the Bristles Taken Off

Food and a shave were the first desire of R. B. Reinhart and Loren W. Mendell when they came down after nearly 247 hours in the air. Reinhart is shown having his first regular meal sitting up in bed at the Biltmore with his wife sitting beside him. Mendell is getting ready to enjoy the shave.

BLACK HORNET FLITS TONIGHT

Fahy Sets 32 Hours as His Round-Trip Goal

Thirty-two hours after Herbert J. Fahy takes off from Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport one minute after midnight tonight he expects to have ridden the high transcontinental winds to Mitchell Field, New York, and back again in his fast Black Hornet monoplane.

The new ship with its 525-horsepower Pratt-Whitney Hornet motor will be placed on the line at the local port this morning, and filled with 600 gallons of gasoline and twenty-six gallons of oil.

PILOT WILL REST

The pilot, holder of the solo non-refueling endurance record, will rest today in preparation for the dark hours aloft as he whips the Lockheed through the 5012 air miles on the round trip over the Great Circle route.

Although Fahy will be in pursuit of Capt. Frank Hawk's round-trip record of 36 hours 48 minutes 3-5 seconds, his flight will decide the feasibility of opening the fastest air freight transport line in the world.

PLANS IN BALANCE

An unannounced group of financiers wants to institute eighteen-hour air service both ways across the continent and they will await the outcome of the flight before making their decision.

Fahy will shoot at a fifteen-hour goal on the eastward hop and expects to return in seventeen hours. Capt. Hawk's record from west to east is 17 hours 38 minutes 16 3-5 seconds, and from east to west is 19 hours 10 minutes 32 seconds. Fahy's schedule calls for his landing here again not later than 9:30 a.m. Monday.

McAdoo Gives High Praise to Daring Airmen

William Gibbs McAdoo, the principal sponsor of the flight of the endurance plane Angeleno, last night issued a statement in which he complimented Pilots Mendell and Reinhart on their success and declared they have tremendously aided commercial aviation. His complete statement follows:

"Pilots Mendell and Reinhart have made a marvelous record of courage and endurance. They also have demonstrated than an airplane engine has dependability and safety in sustained flight much greater than heretofore has been supposed.

"They have made a distinct contribution to the progress of aviation. I heartily congratulate them and Paul Whittier and Slade Hulbert, who handled the refueling ship. Great credit is due all others who aided the flight."

Flight Planned from Hawaii to San Francisco

HONOLULU, July 12. (AP)—Plans for an airplane flight from Hawaii to San Francisco, thence to Los Angeles and New York, were announced here today by Erik W. Friman on his arrival from Hollywood.

Friman declared that a motion-picture company is backing him in the flight. He said he expects to break the speed record of Capt. Frank Hawks—17h. 38m. 16s.—for the flight from Los Angeles to New York.

The plane Friman said he will use, a Lockheed-Wasp, is expected here shortly from the Coast.

While the air journey from California to Hawaii has been accomplished five times, no one yet has flown from here to the mainland. Richard Grace, who also had motion-picture backing, came to Hawaii with a plane to make the attempt, but damaged his plane in leaving Barking Sands Field and gave up the venture.

Two Banks in Florida Forced to Close Doors

DAYTONA BEACH (Fla.) July 12. (AP)—The Merchants' Bank and Trust Company and the Atlantic Bank and Trust Company here closed today.

Runs also were made on the Daytona Beach Bank and Trust Company and the First National Bank, the other two financial institutions here, but they were able to meet the demands of depositors' withdrawals.

FLYERS PROUD OF LONG RIDE

Mendell Expresses Thanks for Encouragement

Says Messages of Good Cheer Helped

Generous Credit Given to Assisting Crews

After two hours spent in telephoning his friends, receiving congratulations and posing for photographers, Loren Mendell, "spokesman" for the endurance record flyers, issued the following statement:

"We are awfully proud of having the honor to hold the endurance record for refueling, and we wish to take this opportunity to express our thanks and appreciation for all the help and encouragement rendered us. If it had not been for the many friendly acts shown toward us it would have been impossible for us to have made this flight. In setting this record, we have set it as high as possible.

MESSAGES HELPED

"It was our intention to make 300 hours, but due to debris that had collected on the stabilizer and due to a hatch blowing off and cutting a hole in the stabilizer of the Buhl, which caused excessive vibration, we are forced to land fifty-three hours short of our goal, but we are very happy that we have won all records by more than seventy-two hours, and I desire at this time to thank the thousands of people all over the United States who have sent telegrams and letters of encouragement during the flight.

"They will never know how these messages helped us to win the fight, how they kept our spirits up and kept us determined to push on to the fullest extent within our power.

"Too much credit cannot be given to the refueling crew of this flight—Paul Whittier and Slade Hulbert. Their work was marvelous, their timing very accurate and there never was any doubt as to whether we would receive provisions, gasoline and oil as long as we knew that they were in charge of the refueling ship."

CREDITS GROUND CREW

Both Mendell and Reinhart said that much credit was also due to the ground crew at the air port, which kept the refueling ship in shape, prepared their food, took care of all other business and all other requirements that were necessary on the ground.

Mendell continued with his statement and said: "As to the flight, it was a long, gruelling grind, but we feel as though it was well worth every effort that we put forth and we are not disappointed a bit in the interest which the people have shown toward us."

ITALY GIVES DECORATION TO FLYERS

Fascist Crowds Go Wild as Williams and Yancey Kiss Flags of Two Nations

ROME, July 12. (AP)—Italy's gold medal for aeronautics was pinned this evening on the breasts of Capt. Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams who flew the Pathfinder from Old Orchard, Me., to the Eternal City. The presentation was made by Gen. Italo Balbo, Undersecretary of Aviation, and it took place to the accompaniment of roaring cheers from a large crowd of black-shirted Fascists who gathered in the Piazza Colonna to do honor to the Americans.

The reception accorded the flyers was deafening.

Prince Boncompagni, Governor of Rome, spoke briefly in tribute to the flyers and then embraced them, they returning the salute. Then Yancey and Williams gave the Fascist salute with upraised right hands, whereupon the crowd again went wild with applause. Gen. Balbo spoke and again the flyers exchanged Italian embraces with him.

Yancey and Williams gathered the American and Italian flags draped beneath them into their arms and kissed them.

They probably will fly the Pathfinder to San Rossore Monday when they will be received by King Emmanuel.

The aviators plan to go to England next week and take a steamer home from Southampton. They will ship the Pathfinder on the same boat.

FLYING BOAT TRIP TO HOMELAND HINTED

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—The American Aeronautical Corporation announced today that a cable has been received from Italy stating that Roger Q. Williams and Capt. Lewis Yancey are contemplating a return flight to the United States in a flying boat.

The message was from the Swvsia Merchetti Company of Milan, manufacturers of flying boats in Italy.

Steamer Sinks in Fog Crash

LONDON, July 12. (AP) — Lloyd's Land's End wireless station received a message from the Spanish steamer Cristina today stating that she collided with and sank the British steamer Beaforth, 349 tons, during a fog near the Bristol Channel.

The Seaforth's crew was saved.

OAKLAND LIQUOR-CASE JUROR URGES SPEED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Clarence G. Smith of Oakland set a precedent in local Federal courts today when he rose from his seat in the jury box during the tenth day of the so-called Oakland beer-graft trials and registered a formal protest against "needless delay" in the taking of testimony. Smith's protest followed one of a series of lengthy arguments between opposing counsel. He was assured by the court the trial was moving as rapidly as was consistent with legal safety.

AIR PAIR'S HISTORIES VARY

Mendell Has Flown Most of His Life While Reinhart Had Only Ten Hours Solo Before This Hop

Loren W. Mendell is 30 years of age, was born in Bronson, Kan., and has flown airplanes most of his life, while his endurance-record partner, R. B. (Pete) Reinhart, 29, can be considered a "home town" boy who had only ten hours of solo flying to his credit before he went aloft in the Angeleno to help keep its nose pointed always on the horizon or fly it "blind."

Reinhart is a native of Santa Monica and received his early education in the Bay District. He attended the University of Oregon, where two brothers now are athletic coaches.

Service in the United States Navy during the World War ended when Pete went ashore at Seattle, Wash., and crossed over to Vancouver, B. C., where he took a few flying lessons.

Later he rode a motorcycle as speed patrolman on the Portland (Or.) police force.

His knowledge of motors and other working parts of airplanes, however, made him too valuable a man on the ground and he was considered one of the best airplane mechanics in the Northwest before he left Vancouver for Dallas, Tex., to work on motors.

There he met Mendell while the latter was managing the Barron Airport at Fort Worth.

DARE-DEVIL FLYER

Mendell has led a life of daredevil flying since he left a farm at Bronson, where he spent his boyhood, to enlist in April, 1917, in the United States Air Service.

He was transferred to the Balloon Corps and was one of the youngest commissioned officers in the Army.

After the war Mendell made an airplane his home and toured the country for two years with the Kinched Flying Circus, an outfit that swooped down on small towns to take the breath from the inhabitants with their aerial acrobatics and to make a living by taking up passengers.

When aerial barnstorming lost its attraction Mendell joined the United States Treasury Department's liquor-smuggling patrol as chief pilot. He eyed the Florida Everglades, scouting out rum runners and stills until he was transferred to the Pacific Coast on a similar mission.

FLIGHT AGREED ON

His 3500 hours in the air, however, offered him greater opportunities in commercial flying and he resigned from the Federal service last March to go to Texas.

Mendell and Reinhart agreed on the flight with Paul Whittier and Slade Hulbert, pilots of the refueling plane, while they piloted two Carrier Pigeon planes here from Dallas a short time ago.

Despite his holding only a private pilot's license with ten hours solo, Reinhart was selected as Mendell's co-pilot because of his way with motors.

The combination proved to be perfect and Reinhart now has enough credited hours to apply to the Department of Commerce for a limited commercial pilot's license as he has met easily the requirement of fifty hours at the controls of a plane.

FLOOD CREST SWEEPING ON

Hill River began receding this afternoon.

In Northern Rice county, Cow Creek was reported receding, but is carrying a great sheet of water toward Hutchinson, where residents are preparing for the highest water from the stream in history. Ben Lee, city engineer, predicted that North Hutchinson will be under water by morning.

VILLAGE MAROONED

Cow Creek late today engulfed the village of Saxman, ten miles southeast of Lyons, marooning its inhabitants for the greater part of the day and causing loss to grain and live stock. Thirty-five persons living in the bottoms near the village last night took refuge in the town hall, and were joined by 100 more this morning.

The water rose to a depth of from three to four feet. Marooned inhabitants were rescued late today by Rice county officers, who used boats to take families to a hill north of Saxman.

Washouts and derailments near Lyons has left the city without mail for the past two days. The Smoky Hill River at Lindsborg is at a standstill late this afternoon, failing to reach the May flood peak by two feet.

The Little Arkansas River, after falling 2.2 feet at Sedgwick late today, is carrying its crest toward Wichita, inundating several points in the northern suburban district. No flooding is anticipated in the stockyards district. The Big Arkansas River reached a stage of eight feet in Wichita and is rising slowly.

SALINA RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT INUNDATED

SALINA (Kan.) July 12. (AP)—The waters of Dry Creek broke over the Missouri Pacific tracks in the west part of Salina tonight and are beginning to pour into many residence streets near the Union station.

City officials believe a considerable portion of the northwest section of the city will be flooded.

Personal Estate of Mrs. Thaw $3,127,772.18

PITTSBURGH, July 12. (AP)—Personal property of the late Mrs. Copley Thaw, philanthropist and mother of Harry K. Thaw, is valued at $3,127,772.18 in an inventory filed in the office of the Register of Wills today.

Dress Reform Togs Tried Out

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Dr. Thomas Darlington, a Presbyterian elder, a member of Tammany and formerly City Health Commissioner, is practicing dress reform for men in hot weather.

He appeared at a Rotary lunch without shirt or collar. He wore a cotton union suit, socks, shoes, trousers with suspenders and a thin coat with a detachable, washable collar.

Woman Cleared in Boy's Death

POINT PLEASANT (N. J.) July 12. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Goldman of Santa Monica, Cal., was exonerated by a Coroner's jury today in the death of Edgar Risden, 11 years of age, who was struck yesterday by Mrs. Goldman's car while he was riding a bicycle.

RAIL LINE MAY CEASE

NOGALES (Ariz.) July 12. (AP)—Abandonment of the Southern Pacific Railroad branch between Cabalasas and Patagonia, a stretch of 77.75 miles, is being planned by the railroad company, according to reports in Nogales.

MAGRUDER GETS POST ON COAST

Rear-Admiral Magruder should have been placed on furlough, President Hoover took the position that the rear-admiral should be reassigned to duty.

The fact that the Congressional pressure to have the Magruder case finally disposed of has been growing in recent months is regarded as one of the major factors in removing the rear-admiral from the waiting list. It also is understood that President Hoover was opposed to keeping the admiral inactive on economy grounds. Rear-Admiral Magruder drew more than $10,000 from the government during his vacation and received also other sums for magazine articles on naval subjects.

A World War hero and one of the highest ranking officers of the Navy, Admiral Magruder startled his associates and the high naval command two years ago with a series of published magazine articles in which he raked the administration up the back for wasting the taxpayers' money. Magruder charged that the country was spending $300,000,000 for a $200,000,000 navy, was maintaining superfluous navy bases and in addition was overorganized and tangled up in red tape.

CHARGES AMPLIFIED

Secretary Wilbur took exception to the charges of administration extravagance and demanded an explanation. Magruder not only refused to retract his charges, which he asserted were true, but amplified them. A mass of correspondence developed as the rear admiral sought to justify his charges.

Secretary Wilbur finally ended the argument by shearing the rear admiral of his command and placing him on the waiting-order list for an indefinite stay.

Rear-Admiral Magruder still has more than two years to serve before he retires for age. He will succeed Rear-Admiral S. E. W. Kittelle, the officer next below him on the navy list.

MANCHURIANS NEAR FRONTIER

proceed to Harbin to seek a diplomatic settlement of the problem. He is stated to have left Moscow for Manchuria today.

Advices from Changchun tate that the Chinese have completed taking over the railway works there and have arrested several soviet officials, sending them to Harbin.

Soviet reservists in the Chinese Eastern Railway zone are reported to have received orders to join the forces in Siberia.

A Manchuli dispatch, describing the crossing of the border by the first Russian deported, quotes ranking officials as threatening: "We are leaving empty handed, but will return with rifles."

According to Japanese military intelligence, soviet Russia has an equivalent of six divisions along the Siberian Railway between Lake Baikal and Vladivostok, including cavalry, artillery, tanks, aircraft and railway engineers. Chinese troops in Manchuria are estimated to be an equivalent of fifteen divisions.

Japanese government officials expressed the opinion that soviet Russia is not likely to resort to arms to regain her position in North Manchuria. Nevertheless, both the Cabinet and the general staff today considered the Manchurian question. Their decisions were not divulged but it is thought significant that after a lengthy Cabinet meeting Premier Hamaguchi retained Foreign Minister Shidehara for further discussion.

A government spokesman emphasized that Japan, while maintaining strict neutrality in the Chinese-Russian difficulties even if there should be actual hostilities, will resolutely protect Japanese lives and legitimate interests. It was stated that this protection will not be confined to the South Manchuria railway zone but will be extended to Harbin of necessity since the large Japanese community there has considerable holdings.

nitely until they reached the open sea.

Then if the wind is moderately favorable they probably will strike straight west, but if it is too much against them they intend to take the road on which they pioneered—and failed—last year, flying just north of the Azores and then veering northerly toward Halifax.

At 6:50 a.m., one hour and eighteen minutes after the take-off, the Le Bourget wireless station said Coste had been in wireless communication with the ports of Havre and Cherbourg and had said all was well.

and allay appetite in a harmless manner.

Few comprehensive researches into tobacco smoking have heretofore been made. Dr. Bogen conducted his tests in an effort to establish the physiological cost to individuals of smoking particular brands of cigarettes. Disadvantages and dangers of smoking once determined, then the individual should be his own judge of whether he smokes or not, Dr. Bogen contended.

The American Medical Association, by action at its sessions, joined with the American Psychiatric Association, National Crime Commission and American Bar Association in approving the principle that all charged with murder and as many other prisoners as possible should be given an impartial and routine mental examination in advance of the trial and that contentions and partisan testimony as to sanity be avoided during the trial. This is a blow at so-called expert alienists in murder trials. The physicians believe the question of mental state should not be raised in court but that it should, after conviction, determine treatment given the offender.

PEP LOSS EXPLAINED

Exhaustion, or lack of pep as a new national disease, was presented to America by Dr. C. W. Dowden, Louisville, Ky., who in more than 600 cases found one out of five cases complaining of being continually tired.

The World War, the influenza epidemic, prohibition and automobiles are blamed by Dr. Dowden as the causes of general lowering of bodily resistance. Comparing records before and after the World War, he found a gradual reduction of stomach acids to almost 50 per cent from the previous high level. Combined with carbon monoxide poison from automobile exhausts, poison liquor, after effects of influenza and mental stresses of war and stormy marital and business life, in Dr. Dowden's opinion, explain the national "all-in" feeling.

Bay City Scion En Route Here Hints Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12. (Exclusive)—Young John C. Breckenridge, scion of wealth and society rank here and abroad, disclosed before boarding a train for Los Angeles tonight that he and his wife, the former Mlle. Rosele de Dampierre, daughter of the late Compte de Dampierre and Comtesse de Villeneuve, have separated and a divorce is imminent. They have been married only a year, having been feted extensively on the peninsula on their honeymoon a year ago. Breckenridge is the grandson of Mrs. Fred Sharon of Menlo Park, and the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Biddle of Washington.

There remains a chance of a reconciliation if Mrs. Breckenridge will live in California, the husband said. He will attempt to induce her while in Los Angeles. Meanwhile, he intends to try motion pictures, having had stage experience in England.

The couple have a baby daughter Sally, now with the mother.

WRECKAGE IN EL PASO SURVEYED

Damage From Cloudburst in Texas City Estimated to Be About $250,000

EL PASO (Tex.) July 12. (AP)—El Paso today surveyed wreckage and ruin in the wake of one of the most disastrous cloudbursts in its history that hit an exclusive residential district yesterday. Damage is estimated at $250,000.

Without warning a solid blanket of water was released from clouds over the Franklin Mountains on the edge of town. A wall of water swept into the streets, carrying huge boulders.

The stone foundation of one house was swept from under the building. Parked wagons and automobiles were picked up by the current and smashed into poles and buildings. Chunks of asphalt pavement were torn up and carried away.

Trains were delayed, but service today is normal and clearing away of debris is under way.

Menjou Goes Abroad for Job

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Adolphe Menjou, motion-picture actor, sailed on the liner Paris tonight for France where he said he is going to seek a job in the motion-picture industry.

Menjou, who was accompanied by his wife, the former Katherine Carver, said he has been unable to arrange a satisfactory contract with any American producer since he completed his last picture in May.

Italian Official Under Arrest in Mail Thefts

NAPLES (Italy) July 12. (AP)—Mysterious thefts of money from the mails from America, which have been going on for three years, are believed to have been solved by the arrest today of the director of the subpostoffice here, Cavaliere (Sir) Michael De Lima.

De Lima was taken in custody as he was leaving the postoffice with a valise containing about 100 letters, each containing about $5 sent by immigrants in America to their families here.

THREE ARRESTS IN OPIUM PLOT

Kao, His Wife and Another in Custody at Bay City

Authorities Also Promise Further Round-up

Chinese Envoy Asks Custody of Vice-Consul's Mate

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12. (Exclusive)—Two attaches of the Chinese consulate and the wife of one of them were arrested, and other arrests were promised, as three separate agencies of the United States government moved today to establish the facts of an asserted opium smuggling plot of huge proportions carried on under the supposed security of diplomatic privileges.

Those arrested are Ying Kao, suspended Vice-Consul; Mrs. Susie Ying Kao, his wife, who is the daughter of the Chinese Minister to Cuba, and Suen Foon, Chancellor of the Consulate. The arrests of Ying Kao and Mrs. Kao had been anticipated, but that of Suen came as a surprise. Each was released on the posting of $10,000 bail after pleading not guilty before United States commissioners to charges of conspiring to violate the Jones-Miller Act, the Federal law covering illegal traffic in narcotics.

RESTRAINER REFUSED

The second blow suffered by the defendants was Federal Judge Louderback's refusal to issue a restraining order halting government officers from getting all incriminating evidence possible from the personal effects of Mrs. Kao, which were seized after the discovery of 2300 tins of opium concealed in baggage which she attempted to bring into the country from China last week. The opium is valued at upward of $600,000.

Judge Louderback's only comment in refusing the order was that he sees no merit in the contention of defense counsel that the seizure and search was a violation of the Federal Constitution.

The third blow delivered at Ying Kao and his wife was a continuation of a hands-off policy by Secretary of State Stimson on the request of Chinese Minister Wu at Washington that the pair be turned over to Chinese authorities for prosecution. It is said the matter still is under consideration.

HEAVY PENALTIES

Invoking of the Jones-Miller Act is considered indicative of the seriousness of the purported plot. Narcotic traffic suspects ordinarily are charged here under the Harrison Act, which provides a maximum penalty of $5000 fine or five years in prison or both. The Jones-Miller Act provides a maximum fine of $10,000, a prison sentence of ten years, or both, and if the prisoner is an alien, deportation at completion of the sentence. It was especially drawn to cut down, by severe penalties, the illegal traffic in opium and its derivatives.

Other arrests are anticipated because of information in Mrs. Kao's personal effects which was termed by U. S. Atty. Hatfield as "incriminating" and involving the names of persons high in the business affairs of Chinese in this country and elsewhere and enjoying the confidence of American diplomatic forces.

FOON SURRENDERED

Suen Foon, Consulate Chancellor, left the office as soon as he learned a warrant had been issued for his arrest, beating officers by a few minutes. He was surrendered this afternoon, however, by his attorney as soon as arrangements had been made to supply bail through a professional bondsman. His position in the Consulate is roughly that of secretary to the Consul-General, W. Anvhing-Kung.

Suen denied all knowledge of the asserted opium plot. Ying Kao broke silence for the first time since his wife was accused by saying:

"When the true story is told it will be quite a different matter."

Mrs. Kao, who has said she was bringing presents from friends to other friends and did not know the contents of the confiscated luggage, declared she is not worried about herself but "why do they accuse my husband? He has done nothing at all. If there is any blame to be attached it is to me and to me alone, and not to him."

WU REQUESTS SURRENDER OF WOMAN

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Chinese Minister Wu today requested Secretary Stimson to turn Mrs. Ying Kao, wife of the Chinese Vice-Consul at San Francisco, over to Chinese authorities for trial on charges of opium smuggling.

Secretary Stimson has taken the request under consideration. Unofficial opinion, however, is to the effect that the Secretary will not grant it.

At the Chinese legation it was said that reports that the death penalty might be given Mrs. Ying Kao in the event of her conviction in a Chinese court on charges of opium smuggling, are untrue. Legation members asserted that the maximum penalty on a charge of opium smuggling is five years in prison and a $5000 fine.

DATA ON GRAPE CROP DELAYED

Department of Agriculture Postpones Forecast

Action Taken at Request of California Growers

Figures Will be Published on August 1 Next

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Partially because of the protest of the California Vineyard Association, the United States Department of Commerce grape report issued last Wednesday carried the notation, "No forecasts until August 1."

William F. Callander, chairman of the crop-reporting board, said that the Department of Agriculture had "to that extent" acquiesced to the California grape growers' request for no report until September 1, next, because they represented a preponderance of the industry.

REQUEST GRANTED

"Our business is to help the farmers," he said. "California grows 80 per cent of all the grapes. The California Vineyard Association includes a great majority of the grape growers. We therefore feel we should pay attention to their requests."

Callander was in California when the resolution for later grape reports was passed. He conferred with directors of the association at that time. In June, L. S. Tenny, former chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, now an official of the California Vineyard Association, came to Washington as representative of that organization to press the request, which has been made for several successive years.

LATE IN EAST

"California was not the only consideration," said Callander. "Our department had been considering for some time the question of whether it was good to make a forecast so early in the season. The eastern crop, particularly in New York and Pennsylvania, is so little advanced that little can be said on July 1 as to what the crop will actually be. It is just past the blooming stage.

"The California Vineyardists' Association, in their resolution, asked us to postpone the report until September 1. To this we would positively not agree. But in view of the fact that we already had been considering delaying until August 1, we decided to acquiesce to that extent.

SHORT THIS YEAR

"The California growers contend that the July forecast is too early, that weather conditions in July are the determining factor on the crop, and that in case a large crop is forecast, it is likely to depress the market. But it looks as though they had taken a poor year in which to make their protest, for the crop is the lowest in thirty years, and the effect of the forecast, according to their own arguments, should be to give them a better market price for their crop.

"However, we are not forcing our crop reports on anybody. The Department of Agriculture has made a forecast on the grape crop, but we are not giving it out."

Callander said that the action is not without precedent, as a cranberry forecast had been withheld on request of the Cranberry Growers' Association, which represents the preponderance of that industry. While the grape forecast was not made in tons, it was made in percentage of the normal conditions.

GROCERS IN VERA CRUZ CLOSE DOWN

Five Hundred Stores Shut Doors on Accoiint of Tax Levied in Dry Campaign

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune)

MEXICO CITY, July 12. (Exclusive)—Five hundred grocery and general stores in the State of Vera Cruz today notified the authorities they will close at the end of the present month because of the temperance campaign which Gov. Aldaberto Tejeda has been pushing to the limit in Vera Cruz.

The increased high duty levied by the State on all places selling intoxicating beverages has forced the grocers, most of whom have a saloon attached, out of business. The grocers and keepers of general stores complained in a letter to the Governor today that they cannot pay the high taxes and cannot keep the stores open with a saloon attached. In the port of Vera Cruz alone upward of 100 grocery and general stores have notified the city they must close their doors at the end of the month.

The stores do more than 80 per cent of the general trade in the port and more than a dozen do extensive wholesale trade in the interior towns and villages of the State of Vera Cruz. The closing of 500 stores, some doing an extensive business, will be a heavy drain on the State Treasury which is now attempting to spread the temperance campaign fight.

Mackie Declares State Protected from Fruit Fly

FRESNO, July 12. (Exclusive)—Meeting here today in one of a series of State-wide educational meetings on control of the Mediterranean fruit fly, more than forty horticultural commissioners, farm advisers and quarantine inspectors heard a discussion by D. B. Mackie, senior entomologist of the State Department of Agriculture, on methods of discovery and control of the pest.

He said that California is perhaps better protected against the introduction of the fruit fly than any other State, and that there is no occasion for changing the quarantine laws.

California deciduous fruits probably would suffer greater damage than citrus fruits if the fly were to gain a foothold in the State, Mackie said.

LANDLORD TO PRESENT HOME TO OLD TENANTS

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) July 12. (Exclusive)—Renters may come to South Bend and obtain free rent if they can form a contact with Mathew M. Dinan, owner of fifty houses.

Dinan set a new pace for landlords today by informing Jay Green, tenant for the last twenty-one years, that he may continue to live in his present home for the rest of his life without payment of another cent.

"You have endured me as a landlord for a long time and without a murmur," he informed Green, "and because of your record I am presenting you with a paid-up lease on the home for the balance of your life. There are no strings or red tape involved. Other honest landlords should be able to do the same."

Dinan also announced that when others of his tenants, many of whom have lived in Dinan houses for ten and eleven years, have been with him for twenty-one years they, too, will be treated as he has treated Green.

CENSUS CAUCUS CALLED

Business Representatives to Meet Department Heads in Unemployment-Survey Study

WASHINGTON, July 12. (Exclusive)—Representatives of employers and labor, finance, agriculture, education and other interests concerned in the various aspects of the unemployment situation have been invited by Secretary of Commerce Lamont to come to Washington Monday to discuss the coming census of unemployment with appropriate officials of the Labor and Commerce Departments.

The conference has been called in line with the announced policy of the Department to obtain the co-operation and advice of those immediately involved in making plans for the major features of the next census in order to gain facts and figures of maximum service to all concerned.

Simple and fool-proof questions of a reasonable range which will contribute to the accuracy and reliability of the survey, are the prime objective at this time. During a recent period of somewhat increased unemployment, estimates of the total number of unemployed in the United States varied from 1,500,000 to as many as 8,000,000.

Experts of the Department of Labor and others interested in this problem have pointed out that such statistics will afford a measure of the effects of changes in the technique of production, of the introduction of improved machinery, of movement in the geographic centers, of production, of consolidations, of increased efficiency in management, and of the various phases which represent the progress of American industry as well as of changes in consumer demand, which sometimes seriously affect a whole industry with little warning.

Bank Employee Outwits Bandit to Save Payroll

OAKLAND, July 12. (Exclusive)—E. J. Bigue, assistant manager for a branch bank of the American Trust Company, made up his mind a year ago when the bank was robbed of $1400 that he would not get caught again.

So when a bandit laid an automatic pistol on the cage shelf today while Bigue was counting currency for a pay roll and demanded that Bigue open the door to the cage, he said, "Certainly," and moved toward the door. But he took only two steps and fell prone on a burglar alarm button.

The bandit fled, while Walter Schnitger, manager, who had been so deeply engrossed in his own work a few feet away that he had no inkling of the occurrence, leaped to his feet to find out what the excitement was about.

WAR MINISTER GETS JAIL TERM

Former Finance Official of France Sentenced

Two Years Imposed for His Swindling Operations

Pronouncement Dumfounds Observers in Court

PARIS, July 12. (AP)—Lucien Klotz, Minister of Finance in the Clemenceau war-time Cabinet, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and fined 50 francs ($2) today on the triple charge of swindling, abuse of confidence and issuing checks without funds.

Klotz, who was one of the signers of the Treaty of Versailles and negotiator for the purchase of American war stocks payment in which he played so prominent a part recently, must serve his two years' sentence in a French jail unless the Court of Appeals should reverse today's sentence.

The jail term came as a great shock to the lawyers and officials who frankly had been expecting a suspended sentence of one year. Inasmuch as Klotz now has served nearly seven months awaiting trial, this automatically would have released him since it would be counted double prison time under French law.

COMPETITIVE IDEAL UPHELD

International Chamber for Private Ownership

Resolution Adopted After American's Address

Good Effects of Individual Enterprise Shown

AMSTERDAM, July 12. (Exclusive)—The International Chamber of Commerce today adopted a resolution holding that private initiative and private operation of enterprises constitute the most effective instrument to insure the progress of industry and to increase general prosperity. This action of the conference followed an address by the chamber's American vice-president, Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, Minn., emphasizing the superiority of private ownership. His view was concurred in by a half dozen European economic experts who spoke.

Mr. Barnes began by showing the dependence of all American industry upon its three major servants, transportation, communication and power. He traced how natural resources have to be transported vast distances before they are marketable. Iron is carried 1500 miles to the Pittsburgh steel mills. Copper is moved 2500 miles from the mines to be made useful, grain travels 1000 to 1500 miles to seaboard and oil 1000 to 2000 miles to reach market, while timber often has to go 5000 miles. Referring to transportation, communication and power, Mr. Barnes said:

DECISIONS NEEDED

"These fields on which all industry depends for efficient conduct are the fields in which there is the greatest contrast of conviction and practice between public and private ownership. Moreover, they are the services in which this question of the relation of government must be faced immediately and decided. Each of them inherently must possess monopoly rights in its field, and this monopoly by the exercise of public authority. Manifestly, public authority to condemn rights-of-way over private property could not be exercised to construct duplicated railroad lines that would destroy each other."

Mr. Barnes stated that the problem is how to facilitate the extension of these services to all industry and protect the public.

"Protection of public interest requires that there shall be preserved in these particular fields the same stimulation of individual initiative which will attract the same high degree of energy and directing ability as does other industry," he stated. He added that America is fortunate that its lines of privately owned railways were not deflected for military purposes but were laid out and developed under sound business considerations.

COSTS REDUCED

He cited the extraordinary enterprise in management in cheapening the costs of transportation by almost doubling the tractive power of locomotives, the capacity of freight cars and size of loads.

Turning to the field of communication, which, the speaker called "the lifeblood of business," he found that America with two privately owned telegraph systems and one unified privately owned telephone system, is served with a high degree of efficiency. He related how the telephone service has been expanded despite handicaps:

"There are almost sixteen telephones per 100 population, while telephone conversations per capita annually exceed 210. In New York City, the Bell Telephone laboratory of research employs 4000 persons of whom 2200 are trained scientists.

PRIVATE PLANTS GAINING

"In the field of public utilities, for light and power service, there is the same record of extraordinary efficiency," he said. Municipal ownership of electric light plants, Mr. Barnes stated, is shrinking in popular favor from 3066 plants in 1923 to 2320 in 1927. Municipal ownership lost in four years what it took eight years to gain.

He stressed that throughout all industry there must be a willingness to venture great capital investment, and that capital will be timid unless there is assurance of a fair field and reasonable profits. Individual judgment would be made timid by fear the government entry into any line of industry would extend to other industries.

Mr. Barnes concluded by quoting President Hoover as expressing the underlying philosophy that business progressiveness is dependent on competition, and that government conduct of business would stifle initiative and invention.

FORD PAYS BACK THAT TWO CENTS

Personal Check Sent for Pennies Borrowed to Buy Stamp

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Henry Ford with his personal check has redeemed a 2-cent loan.

When he found he had no money in his pockets to purchase a 2-cent stamp commemorating Thomas A. Edison's invention of the incandescent light, Mr. Ford at the recent jubilee celebration of the light at Atlantic City borrowed two pennies from J. F. Quinlan, secretary of the jubilee committee.

Quinlan has received in payment the first personal check Mr. Ford is said to have signed in five years. But Mr. Ford's check book will be forever out of balance for Quinlan does not intend to cash the check, he said today.

MENINGITIS QUARANTINE RULES MADE

Embarkation from China to United States Limited to Hongkong and Shanghai

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Quarantine regulations providing for the admission of certain persons from meningitis-infected ports of China and the Philippine Islands were issued today by the Public Health Service.

The orders restrict embarkation for the United States to Hongkong and Shanghai in China and Manila in the Philippine Islands.

Steerage passengers, under the provisions, must be limited in number to one for each 400 cubic feet of space available.

In accordance with President Hoover's order shutting off all immigration from meningitis-infected points of the Orient, except under conditions prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, it was announced, the regulations will be enforced immediately.

The regulations specify requirements to be met prior to embarkation, rules to be observed on shipboard, and designate measures to be taken in case vessels arrive with meningitis cases aboard.

Rebel's Seized Money Returned

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Salvador Ateca, wealthy Spaniard and former paymaster for the Mexican rebel army, today received $590,000 for the $770,000 cash and securities which were seized May 4, last, in a raid on Ateca's suite in the Hotel McAlpin.

The wealth was returned on order of Federal Judge Thacher, after extradition to Mexico of Ateca and Antonio Maquero, his secretary, had been refused by United States Commissioner O'Neill. O'Neill held there was no evidence to warrant the extradition, although Mexican government authorities had maintained he was fleeing to Spain with the money, which, they said, had been obtained illegally during the recent Mexican revolution.

HEAVY RAINFALL ENDS HONGKONG'S DROUGHT

HONGKONG, July 12. (AP)—Although the authorities maintain that all danger has not yet passed, Hongkong's water famine, the worst in the history of the colony, was believed virtually ended today by almost five inches of rain during the past twenty-four hours. Reservoirs were rapidly filling up and the public has petitioned the government to permit more generous use of water.

LORD SLASHES PRINTING COST

Old Federal System Caused Enormous Waste

Departments Had Power to Pile Up Charges

New Method in Effect Saved $487,000 Last Year

[This is the seventh of a series of personal reminiscences by Gen. Herbert M. Lord, who retired recently as Director of the United States Budget after seven years' service during which he supervised the expenditure of more than $15,000,000,000 in government funds.]

BY GEN. HERBERT M. LORD, Former Director of the United States Budget,

As Told to William P. Helm, Jr.

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

WASHINGTON, July 12. (Exclusive)—The co-ordinating activities of the government, undertaken through the Budget Bureau, soon extended into many fields. One of the first studies concerned the government's printing, a shining target.

An amazing situation was uncovered a tthe Government Printing Office. This condition, resulting in the annual loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars, was due to nobody's negligence or laxness. On the contrary, the head of the office, George H. Carter, one of the brainiest, most efficient men in Federal service, deplored conditions but was powerless to remedy them.

DO AS ORDERED

Every branch of the government having any printing, and that meant all of them, was absolute boss of this printing. The trained men at the printing office had no say about size of publication, style of type, quality of paper or number of copies. Through years of precedent it had become firmly established that the printing office had only one function, to do printing as ordered.

Waste almost incalculable resulted. Printing jobs ranged in the size of stationary from folders as large as a double newspaper sheet down to a few square inches. Sizes of pamphlets were fixed by their authors and others in the departments wholly without regard to waste incurred in cutting from raw paper. Tens of thousands of bulletins and pamphlets were ordered printed where much smaller editions would have been ample. The excess lay for years on the shelves, unused.

LAZY EDITING

Authors of bulletins and other publications, finding it much easier to correct manuscripts from galley proofs than in original typewritten copies, indulged this lazy habit until authors' corrections alone sometimes cost hundreds of thousands a year. And there were almost as many kinds of letter heads and forms as there were bureaus.

Here was a leak at the bunghole calling for immediate attention. Immediate attention it got. A Permanent Conference on Printing was organized with Mr. Carter its head. It was composed of representatives of every department.

Standard sizes of government publications were prescribed to fit paper stock with least possible waste; authors' corrections were abolished except when made in the original manuscript or under extreme necessity; wasteful issuance of publications was cut and other drastic changes made. The economies gradually made have run into millions.

SAVING OF $487,000

There still is much to do. Authors' corrections continue to cost a great deal even under the new order. My memorandum book shows the cost of this item from 1921 to 1927, inclusive, exceeded $1,500,000. Other items, too, cost more than they should. But not what they used to; a great deal of waste has been eliminated under Mr. Carter's chairmanship. Tangible, measurable savings amounting to more than $487,000 were reported by the Government Printing Office during the fiscal year 1928.

The Permanent Conference on Printing did away with gold leaf for embossing names on bound publications, using a durable, cheaper, substitute. It persuaded Cabinet officials they should have certain publications of wide distribution set in smaller type. One such change, as I recall it, saved more than $100,000 on one year book. The work became standardized an dthe Government Printing Office, is one of the most efficient and most economically administered plants, public or private, in the world.

The example thus set has been worth many dollars to the Treasury in spurring other governmental agencies to do likewise. In the Postoffice Department there has been established a committee of employees who work out economies in the huge number of printed forms used. The Postoffice Department is the greatest user of printed forms in government service. They are many and varied. So were the styles and sizes. But not now.

That committee is on the job. All printing has to clear through it. It constantly revises forms in the interest of economy. A slight revision of the form used in making application for Postoffice money orders was made, and the saving was more than $8000 for the year. The committee has saved the Postoffice Department many thousands of dollars.

Or, to put it another way, the committee has saved the taxpayers many thousands of dollars.

UNIFIED SUPPLIES

Another outgrowth of the coordinating work of the Budget Bureau was the Federal Specifications Board. Before its creation every branch of the government wrote its own specifications on whatever it bought. There was no uniformity in supplies purchased. What one bureau liked and approved another disliked and disapproved. Even the ordinary incandescent bulb was the subject of varying and conflicting specifications. It was inevitable, under such decentralization, that the government should pay more.

The Specifications Board was set up under the chairmanship, of Dr. G. K. Burgess, able head of the Bureau of Standards. Membership composed representatives from the various departments and independent offices. Each member spoke for his own department and served without other pay than he received for his regular work.

WORK STANDARDIZED

The Specifications Board wrote standard specifications for articles generally used through the government service. Its success was immediate and results were gratifying. Buying under standard specifications the government saved perhaps millions of dollars.

Nearly eight years has passed since the Specifications Board was established. It has written approximately 600 specifications, standards for government supplies. Its specifications are recognized as models: many private concerns have adopted them. It would be impossible to estimate the total of the savings to the taxpayers because of the board's hard work. They have been tremendous. The work of the board has not cost the Treasury a single additional dollar.

Mexico Church Regulations Set

MEXICO CITY, July 12. (AP)—The Mexican Treasury Department has issued a list of regulations for the care of the Roman Catholic churches in Mexico. Some sections are considered as rather stringent.

In the preamble the churches are referred to as the property of the nation. This has been one of the chief bones of contention in the Mexican church and State controversy, a phase of which was settled recently.

Repairs Made in Trolley Strike

NEW ORLEANS, July 12. (AP)—Under guard of United States marshals, workmen today began the repair of the street-car tracks and the removal of obstructions placed on the rights of way by strike sympathizers, preparatory to the operation of street cars either tomorrow or Sunday.

The strikers offered no interference to the work and the Federal marshal does not anticipate any disorders when the cars are started under protection of United States deputies and police by authority of the Federal injunction.

MEXICAN EDICT EXCITES BORDER

Persons Working Below Line Must Live There

Ratio Cut on Americans Who Can Be Employed

Card Men and Bartenders to Pose as "Specialists"

BY LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT "Times" Staff Representative

CALEXICO, July 12. (Exclusive) The whole border country is in a great stew over the order of the Mexican government decreeing that after the 20th inst., all persons employed in Mexico must live there. The people on both sides of the line are wondering just how strictly the order will be enforced and what classes, if any, will be exempted.

The edict is aimed primarily at common laborers, Americans and Mexicans, alike, who maintain homes in the United States, but perform their daily work on the other side of the international boundary. The purpose chiefly, is to keeps jobs in Mexico for Mexicans, ease the unemployment on that side of the line and build up the Mexican border towns as centers of merchandising and population.

PERCENTAGE RAISED

One thing the order does is to boost from 50 to 80 per cent the ratio of Mexicans to Americans that must be maintained by industries on the other side of the line. Large employers in the Mexicali area, mostly Americans, say this will be ruinous if carried out.

But the official proclamation issued by the Mexican Secretary of Interior states that "technicians" and "specialists" are to be exceptions. Americans who have money invested below the line hope that this will apply to the majority of American help which they employ, and which they find essential to successful operation of their enterprises. This exception, seemingly, would take in managers, supervisors and office attaches of all kinds.

TROUBLE IN SIGHT

However, there is no assurance as yet, on this score, and much potential trouble is in sight for American concerns operating below the border.

Gov. Rodrigues of Lower California, is due back at Mexicali tomorrow or next day from conferences at San Diego, and it is believed he may have an official and comprehensive interpretation already for issuance upon his return. Almost certain to be affected, under anything but the most liberal interpretation of the order, are some 300 families here at Calexico whose means of livelihood come from across the line—from the saloons, gambling houses and agricultural ranchos. The American bartenders and card dealers at Mexicali are all set to show that they are "technicians" and "specialists," and it remains to be seen what Mexican officials will do about them.

MEXICANS MUST MOVE

One of the situations the order is meant to correct is that of many Mexican government, State and local officials, who draw their pay from their own government but choose for reasons of their own, to make their homes and spend their money on the American side of the border. All these will be compelled to move back into Mexico or lose their jobs.

The Mexicans who live in Calexico and hereabouts do so to take advantage of better stores, cheaper and cleaner living conditions and better schools than are provided in their own country. Inquiry develops they can rent a house here for $35 a month that would cost $50 or $60 in Mexico. Just the same, their government is demanding that they return and spend their money where they get it.

In this employmen order the Mexican government is standing on more plausible ground that when it essayed to stop American trains from crossing the border at night in retaliation for the refusal of the United States to lift the border closing restrictions at Tia Juana.

TRAIN ORDER POSTPONED

Gov. Rodrigues has beat a retreat from this latter decree and has announced that it will be postponed until September 1, next. It originally was supposed to go into effect the 1st inst. No connection is seen between the two Mexican moves. The threat against American trains was spite, while the order barring nonresident common labor may be regarded to some extent at least as a serious economic step designed to correct, in a legitimate manner, a situation obviously important to the welfare of Mexico. Mexican officials may claim, and no doubt will, that they are only doing what the United States is attempting to do on the Canadian border, particularly in the Detroit industrial region where every effort is being made to shut out nonresidents coming over to take jobs that can be filled by American citizens.

CONFUSED ON ORDER

In the absence of an official interpretation of the Mexican government's order from Mexico City by Gov. Rodrigues, or any statement from those sources as to how the ruling is to be applied, people along the border are forced to depend, with only a little over a week to go, upon a purported interpretation issued by the Mexican Immigration office at Mexicali. This erases no doubts, and there is confusion on all sides. The immigration office simply attempted to translate for Americans the instructions received from Mexico City. The statement follows in part:

"The Secretary of the Interior, in circular No. 37, dated the 6th inst., says to this office as follows:

"The purpose of the ruling prohibiting the immigration of foreign employees, which appeared in the issue No. 46 of the diario official (official bulletin) dated April 27, last, would not be completely fulfilled if we try to remedy the present crisis of the Mexican laborer class by applying and ruling solely to the immigrants who come to stay and not to those who immigrate temporarily, and though called "transients' come for the purpose of working.

'As a matter of fact, this is the situation with a great number of foreigners on the border who are affected by the ruling in question, that is, who work in Mexico on salary or day-wages but do not reside in our territory and their interests are located in the towns adjacent to our border towns and in this manner increase the unemployment of Mexicans and do not cooperate to the betterment of local conditions as their salaries or day-wages are spent out of Mexico.'

'We also regret that there are lots of Mexican, (Federal and State) government employees who act in the same way and live in a foreign country and come to Mexico during working hours, and consequently our border towns have become tributaries of the adjacent foreign towns and day by day is lessening their importance as centers of life and work.

MUST LIVE IN MEXICO

'In order to stop this condition and to make effective the ruling in question this secretaryship commands that all immigration offices fix a reasonable time limit in order that all foreign workers who work in our territory but live out of same take steps to establish their real domiciles in Mexico; warning them that if they do not do so their entrance to Mexico will be forbidden and the ruling will be applied to them without exceptions. In regard to the government employees of Mexican nationality who are affected by said ruling, please notify them that they must live in Mexico.

'Also, in order to remedy the bad conditions of the Mexican laborers the immigration offices will try and make the local governments observe the ruling to the effect that in labor centers the proportion of Mexican laborers in relation to foreign laborers must be 80 per cent, as under equal circumstances of ability it is the duty of the concerns who have the protection of our government to co-operate to the relief of the present crisis. In this manner native laborers will be saved from unjust humiliations and the immigration of foreign workmen, which further aggravates the existing competition, will be decreased.

'In complying with the above instructions the immigration offices will make the exceptions mentioned in the said ruling which refer to the technicians and specialist workmen so that the industrial or agricultural production will suffer no damage.'"

VISITORS TO RUSSIA MUST SPEND MORE

Decree Issued Forbidding Tourists to Depart With Purses Still Fat

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune)

RIGA (Latvia) July 12. (Exclusive)—Because tourists and visitors are disinclined to spend money in Russia, a curious decree was issued by the Commissariat of Finance which forbids tourists to leave Russia with more money than is permitted by an agent of the commissariat stationed at the frontier. The agent, continues the decree, must see the control slip which shows the amount of money the tourist had when he entered Russia, and after deducting traveling and living expenses in Russia, the tourist must surrender all cash above the amount the agent figures he should have left from his Russian trip.

Persons visiting relatives and also those living with friends, thus avoiding extraordinary high tariffs charged by hotels maintained expressly for visitors, are hard hit by the decree.

Moscow and Leningrad papers recently published articles concerning the penuriousness of American tourists who, they say, object to the high prices in Russia and are poor bidders at the special souvenir stores opened by the Cheka.

POINCARE GIVEN SPEECH RECESS

Debt Ratification Debate Delayed Till Tuesday

Measure Taken to Conserve Premier's Health

Vote Expected by Friday on Settlements

PARIS, July 12. (AP)—Parliamentary debate on ratification of France's war debts was adjourned tonight until next Tuesday by the Chamber of Deputies out of consideration for the health of Premier Poincare, who did not finish his lengthy plea for unconditional ratification this evening.

The Premier spoke today, after his ten-hour discourse yesterday, apparently without fatigue despite oppressively hot weather, until President Bouisson of the chamber, out of consideration for the Premier's health, requested the chamber to put over the debate until Tuesday, giving M. Poincare three days of rest.

FRIDAY VOTE EXPECTED

Most of the Deputies were glad to be rid of the debate for a while and anxious to visit their constituencies over the week-end for the patriotic and political celebration of the national holiday July 14.

A vote on ratification of the debt settlements is expected by Friday of next week. The chamber will sit morning, afternoon and night beginning Tuesday.

"We must take things as they are," the Premier reminded the Deputies today in asking for unconditional ratification.

"It is not enough to appeal to the noble sentiments of nations. Nations are egotistic collectivities. Men are men.

"Even our financial restoration would be an argument against us."

RUHR OCCUPATION

He cited Article VII of the Mellon-Berenger agreement, which authorized the United States to throw on the market French war obligations yesterday described by him as just as binding as French treasury bonds.

The Premier added that Secretary Mellon had written him the United States had no thought of doing this. In this clause M. Poincare thought France fared as well or better than other countries.

With regard to the Ruhr occupation, the Premier said it had been profitable for France, netting the country 1,500,000,000 francs and assuring the creation and acceptance of the Dawes plan.

NORTHWEST TRIO SLAIN BY INDIAN

Washington Quarter-breed Kills Two Men and His Sweetheart in Row

MT. VERNON (Wash.) July 12. (AP)—Joe Dalley, 35 years of age, quarter-breed Indian, today killed two men and his sweetheart and wounded fatally injured another man.

The dead are Mose Henry, 60, white farmer, at whose home the shooting took place; George Stump, 45, hotel owner of Everett, and Frances Ray, white, of Bellingham. The second woman, believed dying in a Burlington hospital, is Ida Redman, Indian girl of Seattle.

Stump was killed when Dalley struck an ax from beside a kitchen stove and struck him on the head. The Indian then seized a shotgun and killed Henry and the Ray girl. After using the ax, he slashed Miss Ray's throat about the throat, head and shoulders.

After the killings, Dalley sped in his car to Stanwood, where he was said to have confessed to officers.

He attacked Stump, he said, after the latter threatened to kill him if he tried to take Miss Ray, his sweetheart, away with him. The girl had refused to leave the Henry home.

Dalley was held in the Mt. Vernon jail. Officers said he had not been charged.

"They had robbed me of my land and things," Dalley told officers. "I thought I would end the whole business. I should have killed them, too."

As a result of a logging camp accident in which he broke both legs, Dalley is crippled.

The mother of the child, who resides in Los Angeles, has written local authorities that she will come to Reno and take custody of her son.

Roberts was arrested in Los Angeles three years ago for wife beating.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS TO HAVE HOME

Convention of Federated Clubs Pledges $25,000 to National Headquarters

MACKINAC ISLAND (Mich.) July 12. (Exclusive)—Delegates to the tenth national convention of the Federation of Business and Professional Women today pledged $25,000 toward a national home at Washington. A committee of five was authorized to investigate the possibilities of such action and to report back to the 1931 biennial.

One thousand dollars was subscribed by a group in honor of Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, national president; $1000 by Miss Georgia Emery of Detroit; $800 each from Dr. Anna Ranus of Chicago, Miss Alice Engelhardt of Cincinnati, Miss Margaret Stewart of Ogden, Utah, the Michigan federation and the Virginia federation, $350 from the Texas federation, and $200 each from Mrs. W. W. McClench of Detroit and the Detroit club.

Mrs. McClench is the mother of Miss Marion McClench, whose election as national president was announced. Miss McClench, a successful insurance woman of Detroit, had been opposed by Miss Mary L. Johnston of Trenton, N. J., principal of an elementary school.

Mrs. J. K. Bowman of Richmond, W. Va., was re-elected first vice-president; Miss Daisy Leake of Temple, Tex., second vice-president; Miss Margaret Stewart, Utah, treasurer; Miss Earline White of Jackson, Miss., recording secretary, and Mrs. Helen Schluraff of Erie, Pa., corresponding secretary.

Resolutions passed by the gathering at the same session touched widely diverging subjects and reflected the policies of the organization, comprising 55,500 business and professional women in the United States and Canada. They also dispensed with the traditional whereases and "be it resolved," being couched in the form of recommendations rather than resolutions.

Brewers Hard Hit by New Ban on Malt Tonic

MILWAUKEE, July 12. (AP)—The severest blow to the brewing industry since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, according to Milwaukee brewers, was struck today when United States Prohibition Commissioner Doran, without warning, ordered the manufacture of 12 per cent malt tonic stopped immediately.

Milwaukee will be deprived of a $2,000,000-a-year industry by the order, brewers estimated.

The mandate prohibits the manufacture of any malt tonic containing less than 18 per cent of solids derived from malt and more than 2 per cent alcohol by volume.

Brewers declared it would be hard to popularize the 18 per cent brew and predicted the tonics would disappear from the market.

LAFAYETTE, July 12. (AP)—C. A. Clark, 70 years of age, rancher, is dead, and Ernest M. White, 57, his partner, was held in the Contra Costa jail tonight following a fight on their ranch near here.

Officials investigating the case said White and Clark struck each other with heavy picks, and then fought until exhausted with their fists. They made up their differences, it was said, and returned to their house, where Clark died.

THAW ENTERS APPEAL AGAINST TAX DECISION

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Harry K. Thaw today appealed to the United States Board of Tax Appeals from a decision of the Internal Revenue Bureau assessing him $7000 deficiency tax for 1926. Thaw's return for that year showed an income of $80,224, of which the bureau held $55,180 was subject to tax. The disagreement between Thaw and the bureau arose over publication of his book "Traitor," on which he claimed a loss of $32,718, while the bureau allowed a loss of $3690. Thaw published 50,000 copies of the book and still has 45,000 unsold copies.

NAVY SPEEDS UP FLYER TRAINING

Shortage of Pilots Faced as Plane Fleet Grows

Aviator Supply Will Equal Demand by 1933

New Program Covers Three Sources of Men

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Faced with a shortage of pilots to man its growing fleet of airplanes, the Navy is putting into effect a new method of training by which it hopes to speed up the development of capable aviators.

To keep pace with the influx of airplanes into the service under the program designed to give it 1000 useful planes in five years, the department needed 749 pilots on the 1st inst. It was short almost 100 men. At the end of this fiscal year it will need 915 flyers, but expects to have only 787. As the new program of training moves ahead, however, the number of flyers is expected to catch up with the acquisition of planes in 1933.

GAP CLOSED UP

The new plan covers the three sources of supply of Navy pilots and went into full effect this month. Under the program the two-year gap that has existed between the graduation of a prospective officer pilot at the Naval Academy and the commencement of his flying course will be closed. A preliminary training course will be given enlisted men at other stations before they are sent to Pensacola. A wider course of instruction will be given to naval officers and a broader use will be made of these aviators.

Previously graduates of the Naval Academy were sent on a two-year cruise before action was taken on their applications for transfer into the air service. Navy officials expect the closing of this gap between graduation and the beginning of aviation training to increase the number holding to a preference for flying.

A new system of selecting prospective enlisted pilots, meanwhile, is well under way. Candidates still are accepted from the fleet and sixteen recruits in addition are sent each week to Hampton Roads and San Diego at the end of their recruit training for an elimination course in aviation. Those recommended for further training are sent to the Great Lakes station for a ten-week course and then to the Saratoga or Lexington post for further training. After six months there, upon recommendation of their commanding officer, they go to Pensacola for final training.

FEWER WILL FAIL

By this method, it is hoped to reduce the number of those failing to qualify as naval pilots after the Pensacola course. Previously enlisted men were not given the preliminary training, but were sent directly to Pensacola.

The aviation reserve, which is the third source of supply for pilots, draws its applicants from a group of universities and colleges which give a preliminary course. These applicants are given eighteen hours of flying and then are sent to Pensacola for an eight-month course in which they are given 200 hours of flying.

The appropriation to care for the naval reserve flyers was almost doubled for this year to provide for a greater number of training hours in the air and to permit the Navy to make a wider use of them.

MAN'S BOUND BODY FOUND IN FURNACE

Apartment-house Owner Slain, Police Think, But Family Says Suicide

CHICAGO, July 12. (AP)—Theodore Hamel, apartment - building owner, tonight was found dead in the furnace of the building partly burned and bound with wires.

The body had been thrust head first into the furnace. Because of this and the fact that the furnace door was shut when the body was found, police declared the man was slain.

Hamel's family, however, hold to a suicide theory, saying the man had been worried because of financial matters.

Hamel had been missing since 11 a.m. today. His wife tonight asked police to conduct a search for her husband.

Police are holding two persons for questioning, Miss Carmen Hamel, niece of the dead man who found the body, and J. A. Craig, who accompanied her.

The right leg of the dead man had been wrapped in a number of strips of burlap and an electric-light cord was bound about his waist and tied in a bow knot, police said.

W. A. Leet Case Ruling Reversed

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12. (AP)—The District Court of Appeals today ruled that William Allen Leet, once a rich sportsman, automobile dealer and racing driver, would not be forced to go to jail for failing to pay Mrs. Doris Leet, his former wife, $2800 as a property settlement.

The decision reverses the San Francisco Superior Court, which sent Leet to jail for a week last April, and upholds his contention that he has not the $2800 to pay Mrs. Leet.

MATCH LAW TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

SACRAMENTO, July 12. (AP)—Gov. Young today urged motorists to aid in fire-prevention work by observing the law which forbids throwing lighted matches or burning cigarettes from automobiles. He declared he had instructed State traffic officers to enforce that section of the Vehicle Act "to the letter."

"On to a Greater Record with the Neale-Rainbow Beacon" »

A GIANT Neale-Rainbow airplane Beacon was pressed into service at the Culver City Airport where Mendell and Reinhart made history in their marvelous endurance flight.

Several times fog had nearly ended the flight.

Then that danger was eliminated because the Neale-Rainbow Beacon pierces the heaviest fog and is visible for more than fifty miles.

Naturally a Neale-Rainbow Beacon would be used. It was a Rainbow Beacon that lighted Lindbergh on his epoch-making flight to Europe.

And it is Neale-Rainbow who is the pioneer luminous tube sign manufacturer of the West.

Every merchant has the same opportunity to light up his place of business and draw customers with a Neale-Rainbow Luminous Tube sign.

ENGLISH CHURCH DEFIED

Bishops Challenged by Rev. Edward Lyttleton to Define Position on Birth Control

LONDON, July 12. (Exclusive)—To the manifold troubles of the Church of England, whose bishops yesterday defied Parliament by authorizing the use of the new prayerbook, is added a new grief today, which threatens again to split the church asunder.

It is the specter of birth control, and no less a person than Rev. Edward Lyttleton, former head master at Eton and one of Great Britain's leading educators, in an open letter to all bishops today demanded that they come out openly either for or against it.

Dr. Lyttleton's demand was taken up by the daily press today, making it practically certain that the government body of the Church of England now is forced to make a pronouncement on a delicate question which heretofore it has carefully passed over in silence.

Dr. Lyttleton goes boldly to the point and asks bluntly whether the church sanctions or disapproves the principle of restricting the size of a family "put upon us by social and economic conditions," as he puts it.

Phillips Won't Run Three Times

PHOENIX, July 1. (AP) — After the second term, there'll be no more. So said Gov. Phillips in a statement made today with reference to his candidacy for a second term.

"If all goes well, I shall run again, but if I am elected a second time, I shall not be a candidate again," he said.

"I don't believe that a Governor should hold office for more than two consecutive terms."

MOST OF CITY TO DECAMP

Army of 24,000 in America's Second Largest Industrial Plant Begins Vacation Today

CHICAGO, July 12. (AP)—A city of 24,000 decamps tomorrow. The shriek of noonday whistles at the Hawthorne plant of the Western Electric Company will proclaim vacation with pay for two thirds of the employees in America's second largest industrial plant. The shutdown, leaving only an emergency force of 14,000 in the factory with its normal pay roll of 38,000, is regarded as the largest vacation exodus from a single plant in history.

This year's concerted vacation fortnight sets a precedent at the Western Electric works. Observing that vacations for 38,000 employees otherwise would stretch from January 1 to December 31, causing losses in efficiency through the year with attendant "hangovers" at the end of each two weeks vacation period, company officials determined to concentrate all vacations in a single month. When the first contingent of 24,000 returns two weeks hence the rest of the industrial city will evacuate.

An emergency pay roll bureau has been set up to handle the $2,500,000 that will be handed to the vacationers tomorrow.

The Hawthorne plant is second only to the Detroit Ford works in number of employees.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

One by one the other warriors took up the chant and with half-bent, crouching bodies joined the dance. This signified their acceptance of the great white man. The women came, squatting about the circle, beating tom-toms and clapping hands. In the center sat Tarzan-of-the-Apes, now king of the Waziri.

Faster and faster grew the pace of the dancers. Louder and louder, their wild and savage shouts. It was a terrible, primeval sight! Now Tarzan himself sprang to his feet and joined the wild ceremony. Among the glittering black bodies he leaped and roared, shaking his heavy spear in the same mad abandon as his fellow-savages.

The last remnant of his civilization was forgotten. He was a primitive man to the fullest now, gloating in his kingship among those wild blacks. What would his fellow-peers in the House of Lords have thought, had one pointed at this dancing giant and said: "There, my Lords, is John Clayton, Lord Greystoke!"

Or the lovely American girl, now watching the same moon, aboard the Lady Alice, far to the west of Tarzan? Would she still have loved this savage warrior chieftain, dancing naked among his savage, naked subjects? As fate would have it, when the wild dance din rose highest, that beautiful yacht quivered from stem to stern and slowly sank into the Atlantic!

DOCTOR HELD FOR MURDER

Pioneer Long Beach Physician Faces Three Counts of Illegal Operations, One Fatal

LONG BEACH, July 12.—Dr. William A. Lang, 68 years of age, pioneer local physician, was arrested here this afternoon on a warrant charging murder. He is said to have performed a criminal operation upon Mrs. Bertha Rudersdorf, 35 years of age, of 112 Magnolia avenue, which caused her death at Seaside Hospital, July 10. An autopsy performed by Assistant County Autopsy Surgeon Lawrence Parsons disclosed that the woman's death resulted from peritonitis assertedly caused by an illegal operation performed by the elderly physician.

As the result of information secured by Detectives H. E. Lebarron and Ben Wood, of the local police department, two additional counts of performing criminal operations have been placed against Dr. Lang. The warrant was issued by Municipal Judge Charles D. Wallace on a complaint filed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Williams Brayton, in charge of the local branch of the District-Attorney's office. Bail was fixed at $15,000, which was posted by the accused physician an hour after his arrest.

Police were called into the case at the request of the Coroner. They assert that they are prepared to prove that Dr. Lang treate. Mrs. Rudersdorf for two weeks before relatives, becoming alarmed at her condition, called in Dr. J. O. Eller, who ordered the woman to the hospital. She was operated upon the 10th inst. in an effort to save her life but died the same day, it is said.

The two felony counts other than the murder charge contained in the warrant are based on asserted criminal operations upon Mrs. Vera Williamson, 24 years of age, of 1431 Chestnut avenue, and Mrs. May Robson, 34, of 54 Linden avenue. Mrs. Robson for a time was said to have been near death but now is believed by attending physicians to be out of danger.

Psychiatrist Testifies in Suit on Will

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—Mrs. Bertha B. Mitchell, probate of whose $1,300,000 estate is being contested before a jury in Superior Court, was entirely lucid in ordinary business transactions, but bordered on mental disorder in other matters touching her daily life and contacts, Joseph Catton, psychiatrist, testified today. Cross-examination by attorneys representing the estate's executors concerned just where, in the opinion of the witness, the border line lay.

Mrs. Marion M. Peckham, daughter of Mrs. Mitchell and the contestant in the case, was questioned briefly, as was Albert A. Forst. The latter testified to having assisted Mrs. Mitchell in business trasactions, where in he found her perfectly normal. The daughter asserts Mrs. Mitchell was not of sound mind, and attacks some of her mother's bequests. Trial of the case will require several weeks, attorneys estimate.

Dog Was Ill But Not Mad

VENTURA, July 12.—"Mad dog," some one yelled over the telephone to police headquarters this morning, and followed with an address. Officers made haste.

They found the dog, but rabies was the one thing from which it was not suffering. An investigation disclosed that some one had given the animal a bath in lysol and warm water. It had gulped down a considerable quantity of the mixture and became decidedly disturbed inside.

Dr. Harrison, veterinary surgeon, was called and the distressed pup was taken to the Dog and Cat Hospital for treatment.

UNIVERSITY CLUB TO HAVE OUTDOOR FROLIC

VAN NUYS, July 12.—Members of the San Fernando Valley University Club are planning an outdoor midsummer frolic at Memory Gardens, opposite the old San Fernando Mission, according to J. P. Inglis, principal of the Van Nuys High School, in charge of the preliminary program. A steak dinner, a la barbecue, will be the "eats," after which will follow a music program. At a recent meeting Inglis was elected new president of the club, whose membership consists of several hundred college men in the valley. A definite date for the frolic is soon to be decided.

CENTENARIANS SIGHTED

GLENDALE, July 12.—Increase in the life span of the average man and woman to 100 years, within the next two centuries, is seen as a logical result of the child health movement that is being fostered throughout the country today, according to Dr. Robert D. Emery, Los Angeles physician, speaking before the Kiwanis Club here today.

LABORER KILLED ON HIGHWAY

Driver of Machine Says Man Walked Into Roadway Without Warning

VENTURA, July 12.—Antonio Yanquez, Mexican laborer, died today at the Big Sisters' Hospital from injuries suffered when he was struck down on the Rincon Highway near Dulah last night by a car driven by R. H. Hill of Santa Barbara. Details of the accident were being investigated today by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Don Hold.

Hill, after seeing that the injured man was taken to the hospital, made a report to both the city police and the Sheriff's office. He was traveling toward Santa Barbara about 7:30 p.m. with a woman companion when two men suddenly appeared from behind a parked car near the highway and started to walk onto the highway directly in the path of his car, he told officers. He swerved abruptly off the highway in an effort to miss them and in so doing endangered both the life of his companion and his own, he said.

Yanques was struck down and fatally injured, but his companion, Andres Cortez, escaped uninjured.

Jahncke Goes to Bay Region

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—Before leaving for San Francisco via Long Beach today Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant Secretary of the Navy, who has been here all week, sent the following message to Secretary of the Navy Adams:

"Have completed a comprehensive inspection of naval activities ashore and afloat in the Eleventh Naval District, and am proceeding to San Francisco. I found in every activity visited the most commendable spirit of efficiency and initiative, and excellent conditions of cleanliness and upkeep of material."

San Diego had a vision of the future when the city presented to the Navy the sites of the various shore establishments here, Jahncke declared in an address before citizens, Chamber of Commerce representatives and naval officials at a dinner given by the chamber last night. Rear-Admiral Luther Gregory, chief of the bureau of yard and docks, who has been with Jahncke since arriving from Washington, Tuesday, is to leave for the north tomorrow. He will join Jahncke at Oakland on Tuesday.

Machines Pile Up in Street

SANTA MONICA, July 12. — A truck, four automobiles and two police motorcycles tangled up last night at Pico Boulevard and Centinela avenue, in a wreck in two installments, according to a police report. Shortly before midnight the truck, a roadster and a sedan piled up in the center of the intersection, with no human casualties.

O. R. Mills, of 1709 Ninth street, driver of the truck, went for a tow car, leaving Officers Hayden and Smith to unscramble the wreckage. A few minutes later J. B. Taylor, 1085 Concord street, Los Angeles, attempted to pass to the right of the wreckage at the same time another car, driven by Mrs. Sadie J. Ellis, 1716 West Adams street, Los Angeles, nosed between the pile and Taylor's car, pushing it into the motorcycles of the two officers.

Mrs. Ellis's car turned over, slightly injuring a passenger, Goldie Wallace. A man assertedly with Mrs. Ellis's party disappeared after the accident, and his name remains unknown. Officers indicated a charge of reckless driving may be filed against Mrs. Ellis.

MANY MELONS THROWN OUT

Inspectors Reject 45,716 Crates in Imperial; Good Prices Credited to Rigid Inspection

BRAWLEY, July 12.—Rigid inspection of Imperial Valley's melon crop this year has resulted in rejection of 45,716 crates of cantaloupes, according to the report of County Horticultural Commissioner B. A. Harrigan. A greater part of the rejections were due to immature melons although overripe cantaloupes were refused shipment in several instances, Harrigan said.

Harrigan maintains a force of twenty-five field men who make daily visits to all packing sheds and growers attribute the high market price received for their crop during the greater part of the shipping season partly to the strict inspection service.

The season's output passed the 16,000 car record this week and shipments are still exceeding 200 cars daily. In spite of the fact that the harvest was retarded by cool weather in May, the field men predict that the total output will amount to nearly 18,000 cars, establishing a new high record for this valley.

Judge Griffin's Judgment Finally Signed

Opponents of Scheme Unable to Post Bond

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—Work of constructing Mission Bay causeway is to begin Monday morning, Bert Noble, contractor, announced today immediately after Superior Judge Lloyd E. Griffin had formally entered judgment in favor of the improvement. The court's judgment, first made known last month but not signed until today, declares legal the proceedings by which the causeway assessment district was formed.

Fight against the causeway was launched by minority property holders after their protests had been overruled by the City Council. The Council found the majority of property owners desired the improvement, and awarded contract to Noble, of the then firm of Noble & Rhodes on a low bid of approximately $700,000.

AIRPLANE USED

The protesting property owners sought injunction on grounds among others that no permanent right of way across government controlled tidelands had been obtained. C. C. Crouch, one of the district's counsel, flew to Washington and obtained a permanent grant which was accepted by the court.

The protestants then announced that appeal from the local court's ruling would be made. Judge Griffin set their bond at $50,000 as necessary to hold the court's decision in abeyance pending appeal. Failure to post that amount made the order effective at once, regardless of appeal.

Today, after many days of respite since the court's judgment was indicated, counsel for the protestants admitted they did not have a bond.

BITTER DISPUTE

Some difference of opinion existed between the factions as to the merit of the court's findings, and the protestants announced it was on this that appeal would be based. For instance, the protestants held that the findings were "misleading" for failure to show "what portion of the causeway would cross navigable waters" of Mission Bay. Judge Griffin ruled that the number of feet of the causeway crossing such waters would be immaterial to the case, yet pointed out that the evidence showed 950 feet of earth embankment would be required leading to the causeway from both sides, while the bridge proper would be 750 feet long, with a portion of that over the "navigable waters" of the bay.

The smoldering fires between the two factions of attorneys flamed forth anew at this final Superior Court hearing. Throughout the case the attorneys had indulged in recriminations and asides and the "last chapter" was not without its fireworks.

WILLAMAN SPEAKS TO REALTY GROUP

PROPERTY BROKERS OF BEACH AREA IN ANNUAL BANQUET AT REDONDO BEACH

REDONDO BEACH, July 12.—Pointing out Los Angeles county as the only district in the United States having so large a number of fast-growing communities, Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the California State Real Estate Association, spoke before the realty boards of Hermosa and Redondo at the annual banquet held at the new Masonic Temple last night.

Willaman told of the growth of Los Angeles city as the pivot of this development, from a small community to its present size and importance, within the life time of many of those who were present last night. One - half of the bank resources of the State are available for further real-estate development, Willaman said, presaging unlimited possibilities of further growth.

The importance of the 2200 bills passed by this year's legislative sessions, one-seventh of which were related to the realty profession, were also a part of his subject.

J. E. Forbes, president of the local realty board, presided, introducing among other speakers, Mayor May B. Hopkins of this city, who is a realty dealer, and Sam A. Selvor, vice-president of the State Real Estate Association for this district.

PLOWMAN CAUSES TRAFFIC TIE-UP

VENTURA, July 12.—Leaking gas from a Southern Counties Gas Company pipe caused much speculation and a huge traffic tie-up in the region of upper Telegraph Road and Wells Road yesterday, Capt. Kenneth Murphy reported today. A rancher, plowing near the gas line, struck one of the pipes with the result that travelers in that region were disturbed by gaseous odors. An officer was sent to the scene chiefly to enforce an order against lighting matches or doing anything else that might result in an explosion.

CLUB KNOWN AS EDGEWATER-GABLES

SANTA MONICA, July 12.—Hereafter the Edgewater-Gables will be the name used to designate the beach club on Pico Boulevard and Ocean Front, which for a short time was rechristened the Cascades. Formerly the Edgewater, the name Gables has been added to the title by J. Ward Cohen, founder of the Gables, who has now taken over the Edgewater. Establishment of a regular program of weekly festive events was announced today by Cohen.

BEAN GROWERS IN SESSION

Orange County Will Entertain 1000 Members of State Association at Irvine Park

SANTA ANA, July 12.—Orange county will be host to 1000 lima bean growers from all sections of the State here tomorrow when the California Lima Bean Growers' Association meets for the first time in Orange county at Irvine Park. Return cards had been received today from more than 750 members who will attend and many others are expected. More than 200 growers from the Ventura district are expected.

The meeting will open at 12:30 p.m. with a banquet. W. C. Jerome, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, has been named chairman of the committee to welcome and entertain the visiting growers. Others who will assist him are John Fyle, Smeltzer, H. L. Wakeham, Greenville, and Sterling Price, Garden Grove.

Charles C. Perkins of Camarillo, Ventura county, president of the association, will be in charge of a short business meeting in the afternoon. The only business to come before the meeting at the park will be a report by R. L. Churchill, secretary-manager of the association at Oxnard, who will tell of the results of last year's crops, the outlook for the coming year and the present condition of the association. Talks by various bean growers throughout the State will feature the afternoon program.

ABANDONED LINES MAY RUN AGAIN

Offer to Resume Trolley Service at Santa Barbara Up to City Councilmen

SANTA BARBARA, July 12.—Street car service here can be resumed within two weeks if the City Council tomorrow morning agrees to a proposal submitted by the group of citizens which has taken an option on the equipment. This promise was made to the Council yesterday following a preliminary conference.

The option holders desire waiver of the 3 per cent annual operative tax and wish the city to maintain the pavement between the tracks.

Several Councilmen expressed themselves in favor of the proposal. W. Nelson Whittemore, president of the State Street Property Owners' Association, suggested that the meeting be held tomorrow morning and said that officials of the Edison company, second mortgage bond holders, and the group of citizens which has obtained the option, would attend.

Choate Estate Given Value

REDLANDS, July 12.—Joseph K. Choate, Jr., 234 Summit avenue, will receive $184,009, or one-third of the residuary estate of his father, the late Joseph K. Choate, consulting engineer of New York City, which was appraised today at the office of the New York State Transfer Tax Commission. The estate has a gross valuation of $355,205 and a net of $312,604. Choate, Jr., here, and his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Choate of Washington, are named as co-executors.

Choate, Sr., died in San Francisco, June 19, 1928, while on a visit to California, as a result of a cold followed by pneumonia following a ball game. Joseph K. Choate, Jr., for twenty-five years has been with the Southern Pacific Railway and is assistant general agent with offices in Seattle. He has been here a year and is now a permanent resident, he says, in a home he constructed along his own ideas on Summit avenue.

Choate's father was vice-president for many years of the J. G. White Financial Corporation, world wide in its operations.

New Use Seen for Goldfish

VAN NUYS, July 12.—Chubs, grasshoppers, flies and bugs are bait, familiar to Izaak Waltons all over the world, but two enterprising San Fernando Valley fishermen are probably the first to use live goldfish to entice trout and bass from their lairs, according to F. D. Woodford, owner of water gardens here.

Woodford has received a request for several dozen goldfish of the common variety that would be "about the right size to use for bait."

While the goldfish are much more expensive than any other kind of live bait the fishermen were of the opinion that they would be much more effective because of their color. Woodford said he regarded his fish as pets and expressed reluctance at disposing of them for any other purpose.

LANCASTER EDITORS BUY PALMDALE PAPER

LANCASTER, July 12.—The South Antelope Valley Press has been bought by Cameron & Hubbard, publishers of the Ledger-Gazette, here. The Press has been published for the last two years at Palmdale, near here, by Dr. C. D. Williamson and W. K. Williamson. Under the new ownership, the Press will continue to be printed at Palmdale, under direction of L. W. Lash, formerly of Inglewood. Dr. Williamson will return to lyceum lecture work, while W. K. Williamson, well known for his short-story writing, will renew his magazine work.

REHEARING SOUGHT FOR WATER DISPUTE

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—Petition of Col. Ed Fletcher for rehearing of the City of San Diego's suit for title to paramount rights on the San Diego River, recently decided in favor of the city by the State Supreme Court, today was forwarded to the Supreme Court. The petition was drawn by W. A. Sloane of Sloane and Sloane, local attorneys. The Cuyamaca Water Company, Ed Fletcher and the City of El Cajon are named as joint appellants in the petition.

The president of the organization is Harry Isaacs, general manager of the United States Steel Products Corporation, and Charles Smur, Vernon Development Association official, is the secretary.

Shaw Surveys Sewer System

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, July 12. The problem of installing a sewer system here, a thing which for some time has been of pressing interest, today was partly solved by a letter received from City Engineer John J. Shaw, which was accompanied by a report of the comprehensive preliminary work now under way.

The report shows it will be necessary to build sewers on Denny avenue, between Blix street and Riverside Drive, and on Riverside Drive, between Denny avenue and Cahuenga Boulevard. This will serve the district between Lankershim Boulevard and Denny avenue. Similar sewer lines also will have to be laid on important streets to connect up with other well-populated sections.

The report, in a measure, shows just the number of lateral lines that must be installed to make the system effective when it is joined with the large trunk line that is to be built through here and in a westerly direction toward Van Nuys and other communities in the western part of San Fernando Valley.

The project is one of the largest civic improvements ever attempted by valley citizens and numerous reports and surveys will have to be made and adopted before the comprehensive program begins with actual work.

OWNERS PETITION STREET WIDENING

ANAHEIM, July 12.—A petition asking for the widening of Center street between Los Angeles and Lemon streets and the installation of new ornamental lights was presented to the City Council last night by property owners. The block contains the major business section of the city. The improvement would involve the narrowing of the sidewalks on each side of the street, but would require no moving of store fronts. This work was done several years ago. Merchants in the block complained that traffic is retarded greatly in the narrow street. The petition was referred to the engineering department.

FEED MILL RISES AT BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, July 12.—Erection of a four-story feed mill upon property belonging to the Santa Fe Railway Company directly north of here about a half-mile was begun today by the Pace Milling Company of Los Angeles. This company also announced plans for immediate erection of cattle-feeding yards upon a ten-acre tract just leased from C. L. McComber. Total investment in the project will be about $60,000, officials of the milling company announced. Equipment adequate for the feeding of 3000 cattle will be installed, McComber said.

BODY OF RIVER VICTIM LOCATED

ONTARIO, July 12.—Word was received by Mrs. C. A. Madden, 412 East Ralston street, today that the body of her son Harry J. Reynolds, 21 years of age, has been recovered from the Sacramento River at Stockton where the youth drowned Wednesday while swimming with friends. Reynolds stepped into a deep hole in the river from which he was unable to swim.

HIT-RUNNER ON BIKE HUNTED

No Charges Filed But Chief of Police Would Like to Return Wheel

EL CENTRO, July 12.—Chief of Police Sterling Cowalt is looking for a small boy who is listed on the local police record as a hit-and-run bicycle rider. Yesterday afternoon a patrolman brought in a badly wrecked bicycle and a pair of boy's leggings and reported that he had collided with an unidentified motorist and then ran away leaving his damaged wheel behind.

As the motorist reported nothing more serious than a few scratches on his car, there are no charges against the boy, but the Chief would like to return the bicycle.

Bishop Speaks on St. Cross Anniversary

HERMOSA BEACH, July 12.—About 200 persons attended the anniversary dinner of St. Cross Church here last night, which was one of the features of a week of service celebrating the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the church. Bishop Stevens of Los Angeles was the principal speaker. He complimented the church on its growth from a mission church to an independent parish, an achievement of the past year, and upon the opportunity which is presented to a beach church as to no other organization.

Mrs. Sarah A. Beane, whose modest Sunday-school of twenty pupils opened in the freight room of the Santa Fe here twenty years ago, as the beginning of the work of the church, was especially honored by the assembled churchmen.

Other speakers were Dr. George Swant, historiographer of the diocese; Rev. A. O. Miller of St. James Church in Los Angeles, Rev. W. M. Pearson of Santa Monica, Rev. E. J. Darnielle, Rev. Anton Cedarholm and members of the board of vestrymen of the church.

Ontario Has Cat Surplus

ONTARIO, July 12.—Some one with a cat and kitten complex is making a generous and free distribution to local families whether they want them or not.

A mother cat and three kittens were left by an automobile party at an East G-street home. A mother and about ten kittens were deposited at the Charlemagne Apartments and a kitten was left with Ed Holman's family.

Five dead cats were found in one block on Euclid avenue.

JOHN MUIR MAY GET AUDITORIUM

PASADENA, July 12.—Construction of an auditorium and additional classrooms for the John Muir Technical High School probably will be one of the first uses made of the $317,000, which was allocated to the local school's building fund by the Board of Education yesterday, John A. Sexson, superintendent of schools, announced today. Construction of a student union building for the junior college, although definitely under consideration, will not be among the first projects authorized, Sexson stated. "There is at present no place of assembly for the Muir students," he said, "and an auditorium for that school is one of the first things which the board must consider."

RITES TODAY FOR NONAGENARIAN

PASADENA, July 12.—Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow for John W. Bush, 94 years of age, oldest member of the Calvary Baptist Church, where friends will pay final tribute to his memory. Bush was born in Florida, Mo., but spent most of his life in Minnesota and Wisconsin, where he was known as a pioneer in religious work. He leaves his widow and two step-daughters, Pearl Moon, 161 North Chester avenue, and Minnie Moon. He lived at 55 North Michigan avenue.

SUGAR BEET RUN NEARS

Orange County Harvest Will Start August 3 and Plant Will Start Operations on 6th

SANTA ANA, July 12.—Harvest of Orange county's $1,000,000 sugar beet crop will start here August 3, it was made known today by G. J. Daley, general manager of the Southern California Sugar Company plant south of here, which will open its run about August 6.

More than 75,000 tons of beets are expected to be handled at the big plant, which will employ more than 250 men this summer. The factory will be in operation about eighty days and during that time will turn out more than 25,000,000 pounds of sugar, according to Daley.

The factory here will be the only one in operation in Orange county this year. Beets will be brought in from various other sections, it is said. The exact acreage which the plant will serve has not yet been determined and an estimate of the value of the crop to the growers has not been made as it is too early in the season to determine prices, Daley said.

Sugar content of beets in Orange county this year is exceptionally high, preliminary tests have shown. The big plant at Dyer has been completely remodeled and extensive repairs have been made during the past winter to place the factory in first-class condition. A crew of more than eighty men has been at work there during the winter.

The sugar to be turned out by the plant this season, if valued at today's retail prices, would amount to more than $1,180,000, it was pointed out.

APRICOT MEN SEE MILLIONS

Ventura County Growers to Reap Large Harvest

Shortage of Other Fruits Boosts Price Scale

Highest Quality in Several Years Found in Crop

SANTA PAULA, July 12.—Prospects are said to be bright for a $5,000,000 return to apricot growers in Ventura county this season. With the largest crop in many years, and with a shortage of apricots in other sections of the State, as well as other fruits, apricots will command a good price. Indications are that there will be 20,000 tons of green fruit in the county this season. It is estimated that 4000 tons will go to the cannery, and the balance will be dried.

Shipments out of here now are increasing daily and already 100 carloads have been shipped out of the county to canneries at San Jose, San Leandro, San Fernando and other places. On one day this week seventeen cars of apricots moved out of here. If dried apricots are worth the same price as last year, the 16,000 tons of dried fruit will bring a total of $4,800,000 based on a price of 15 cents that was an average last season.

The 4000 tons of green apricots that are being shipped to canneries this year will bring about $80 a ton, or an additional $200,000. Pits will also bring an additional sum.

The fruit this year is of good quality, both for size and firmness, as well as flavor. Inasmuch as practically no frost damage resulted in this county, growers have nearly a full crop.

Apricot men of Ventura county are also fortunate this year in the fact that most of the canneries are glad to get apricots as few peaches are available this season due to the heavy frost in the spring. Hundreds of drying trays can now be seen covering the fields in the groves of this county.

Mountain Fire Under Control

MENTONE, July 12.—The lookout at Keller Peak discovered a fire near Seven Oaks this morning and reported it to Ranger Sharman.

The Glass resort at Seven Oaks furnished men and within an hour after the fire had been discovered it was under control. Little damage was done by the fire which had evidently been smoldering in big logs for several days and flared up with a breeze.

BANDIT FOILED BY NERVY WOMAN

GLENDALE, July 12.—Two bandits, whose descriptions tally except for the color of their hair, are sought by police following two holdups on Glen Oaks Boulevard late yesterday, one of which was successful. The first robbery occurred at the C. H. Heniey Grocery at 1915 West Glen Oaks Boulevard, where the bandit obtained $17, and the second a short time later at the store of J. C. Hensen, 1612 East Glen Oaks, failed when Mrs. Hensen refused to open the cash register although menaced with a gun in the hands of the bandit. The robber, Mrs. Hensen told police, first entered the store and made a purchase, returning a few minutes later wearing dark glasses and covering her with a revolver, ordering her to empty the cash register. Mrs. Hensen stepped back into the bakery and the bandit fled as two girls entered the front of the store.

NEW MOTOR VITAL NEED OF AVIATION

GLENDALE, July 12. — Military strategy and tactics of the present day will shortly be made obsolete by the development of aeronautics, that will permit a handful of aviators to rain death and destruction on the country of their foes, and to wipe out millions of lives in a few hours, Roger J. Adams, Los Angeles aviator and inventor, declared in an address before the Verdugo Woodlands Breakfast Club today. Victory in future wars, he said, will rest with the nation that has trained in times of peace the largest number of men like Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Commander Byrd. Adams discussed the future of commercial aviation and asserted that its success will be dependent on the development of a new motive power that will replace the engines of the present time.

FINAL CHAPTER IN JASPER BARRY CASE

VENTURA, July 12.—Judgments were filed today in the Clerk's office to close the Ventura county-Jasper Barry personal tax commission litigation by the payment of $4855.35 to Barry and $57,578.13 to the county treasury as a result of the compromise made recently by the Board of Supervisors and Robert M. Clarke, attorney for Barry. Dist.-Atty. Hollingsworth went to Los Angeles yesterday to get Judge Edward Henderson's signature on the judgment. Payment of moneys is to follow within a day or two.

TIBBETT CASE DELAYED

SANTA MONICA, July 12.—Hearing of a reckless-driving charge against Lawrence Tibbett, Metropolitan Opera company star, was set over today in Police Court, here, which had a crowded calendar. No date for Tibbett's appearance was fixed, and the Auto Club of Southern California was said to be representing the singer. Bail has been fixed at $200, according to Lieut. Randall.

INDEPENDENCE (Kan.) July 12. (AP)—Miss Carolyn Swartz of San Francisco, fifteenth ranking net woman in the United States, today added the Kansas open tennis crown to her string of laurels by defeating Miss Mae Carvourst, Wichita, defending champion. The score was 4-6, 6-1, 7-5. The Kansas champion had the match point on her opponent, but the hard-driving Californian rallied to triumph. Tournament officials said it was the best women's championship contest ever played in the fourteen years of the tournament's history.

SERAPHS DROP HURLING DUEL

Senators Finish Strong to Win in Eleventh, 4-3

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—With Jack Lelivelt, the new Angel manager, directing the club, Los Angeles lost a heartbreaking ball game to Sacramento today, 4 to 3, in eleven innings.

AUGIE WALSH

At least, it was heartbreaking to Augie Walsh, who had the Senators whipped until two were out in the ninth inning. With the bases empty, and the Angels two runs out in from Hoag hit a home run over the left field fence, following which Walsh issued a pass to French and Monroe doubled, to score the tieing run.

Walsh was relieved by Baecht in the tenth inning after Osborne had beat out a bunt and Camilli had doubled. Baecht purposely walked Koehler and then struck out Hoag and Vinci.

Sacramento captured the ball game when Monroe tripled off the right-field fence and Koehler singled after McLaughlin and Osborne had been purposely walked to fill the bases.

Aside from the early inning pitching of Walsh the feature of the

Graham and Sahlberg Prove Easy for Vitt Crew

Bill Rumler Raps Out Pair of Timely Home Runs

BY BOB RAY

When Seattle wins a ball game it's news, so there was no news yesterday out at Wrigley Field. Yep, Hollywood Stars won again, turning in their fourth straight victory over the terrible Tribe, 11 to 6, and climbing into second place because the Angels lost to Sacramento.

BILL RUMLER.

Buzz Wetzel, although he pitched ragged ball and was touched for twelve hits, staggered through to finish simply because the Sheiks made their customary copious quota of runs off Kyle Graham and Ted Sahlberg.

Graham, who departed last night for Detroit in exchange for Pitcher George Smith, made his farewell appearance on the mound for Seattle and took quite a pasting. Graham yielded ten hits and eight runs, while the remaining Stars' markers and safeties were collected off Sahlberg, the former U.S.C. shot putter and pitcher.

Big Bill Rumler played the major role in the Sheik victory. Rumler clicked out a pair of homers and a single, driving in or scoring six Hollywood runs. Big Bill has been hitting the ball at a terrific clip this series, having no less than eleven safeties to his credit for the first four games.

Rumler wasn't the only athlete to hit for the circuit, Red Rollings, Charley Wade and Oscar Eckhardt also clicking out home runs.

The Indians played their customary bad ball, being charged with no less than four errors, Chick Elsworth making two of them at short.

There will be a double-header between the Indians and Stars today, one of them being a postponed game from the first half that will not count in the second half standings. George Hollerson and Lefty Johns will pitch for Hollywood, while Ernie Johnson will probably use Lamanski and Kallio.

Seattle started out in front, Allington's single and Wade's third homer of the series producing a couple of Indian counters.

The Stars, however, got those two runs and one more back in their half of the first. Rollings's homer naturally advantageous to the athletes of the United States, but at the same time offers no distressing changes that will affect foreign contenders. The countries across the pond are more interested in sending their athletes to Los Angeles than if the Games had been awarded to some city on the Atlantic Coast. I noted this trend when I visited Europe a few months ago.

"(2.) There is no resentment in the East over the awarding of the games to this city. Naturally there are some cities that had an eye to the award which feel slightly crestfallen, but these are isolated cases, and I am sure you will find there is absolutely no friction between East and West when it comes to the actual staging of the Games.

"(3.) We should have a better track-and-field team in 1932 than the one which represented the United States at Amsterdam last year. The setbacks our boys suffered there will act as a tonic to them and they will be itching to redeem themselves. Only one victory for America in the flat races at Amsterdam is bound to react on the athletes in 1932.

"(4.) The distance of foreign countries from Los Angeles is not going to affect their representation except, perhaps, in the size of the teams. They will send their best men and Germany, I believe, will bring the most formidable team. My tours over there have taught me that the Germans have adopted the American idea of specialization and gone in for good coaching. They had a delegation in this country a few months ago studying our athletic situation, and are bound to make a serious ef-

Dummy Mahan, Windy Winsor's mute mittset, made short work of Paul DeHate, the Compton slugger, last night in the main event of the Hollywood American Legion fights. Mahan won on a technical knockout in the second round.

A series of hard rights to the chin put an end to DeHate. The first time Mahan sent DeHate through the ropes, the Compton fighter hanging limply through the strands. He righted himself only to be hit again with the same hand, this time spreading himself all over the canvas. At the count of nine DeHate got up and the Dummy put over a terrific left hook, which again flattened the Compton lad. At this stage, Referee Harry Lee stepped in and stopped it, although DeHate was out cold as a cucumber.

Erwin Bige landed too many blows to the stomach for Charley Cobb and walked off with the decision in the six-round semi-wind-up.

Matt Codan took a six-round decision over Vearle Whitehead in the special event. Whitehead took the last round but Codan had too heavy a lead piled up in the early rounds. Jess Gabucco won on a technical knockout in the first round over Tony Moreno. Tony took a seven count, got up, went down without being hit and the referee stopped it. Sport Bayudo took the four-round opener from Johnny Gabucco.

MOE ENTERS FINALS

Meets Carder Today in Final Match for Western Amateur Golfing Championship

BY J. H. ANDERSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

MISSION HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, KANSAS CITY, July 12. (AP)—Don Moe, Portland, Or., and Gilbert Carter, Nevada, Mo. This afternoon became finalists in the thirtieth annual western amateur golf tournament with 3 and 2 victories over their semifinals opponents.

Moe conquered John Lehman, Gary, Ind., after the 1928 Big Ten champion from Purdue had made a courageous rally from the seemingly hopeless position of 7 down at the end of 27 holes.

Carter turned back Arthur Sweet, Chicago, after a see-saw match which produced little golf of championship caliber. Tomorrow's final match will be over 36 holes.

The surprise of the afternoon was the slump of the apparently imperturable Moe on the last holes of his match after he apparently had Lehman hopelessly beaten. Galleries could find no explanation for his errors except that he eased up with an eight-hole advantage at the end of 26 holes and then found it hard to recover his

IN CONSIDERING the most promising baseball recruits of 1929, don't overlook John H. Frederick of Memphis, Tenn., late of Hollywood, center fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers and a hittin' fool, if there ever was one. This Frederick is one of the finds of the year, but at the training camp was looked upon as the third best center fielder in the Dodgers' camp. The two other boys counted on to outslug him failed to make the grade, and Frederick proved not only a fine fielder but a good slugger as well.

In seventeen consecutive games in May and June, our Johnny hit safely, and included seven homers, eleven doubles, and a triple in his bingles. He batted .486 during that stretch, and, after being stopped by Cvengros and Carlson of the Cubs on June 5, started right off again the next day with two singles. And his hit in his seventeenth consecutive game was off none other than Grover Cleveland Alexander, the first time that the rookie had ever faced that grand old right-hander.

When asked to what he ascribed his truly remarkable batting, the 24-year-old Southern rookie replied, "Good luck," and pointed out how, in the early part of the season, most of his drives traveled right at the fielders, while later his socks went beyond their reach. He does not expect to win the National League batting championship this year, but he does expect to finish with an average well over .300. In the latest averages released he was hitting .321.

Johnny is six feet tall, weighs 160 pounds, is 24 years of age, and hit .359 for Memphis in 1928.

PIEPER UPSETS COMBS IN JUNIOR GOLF FINALS

DEL MONTE, July 12. (AP)—Ernest Pieper, 17-year-old San Jose lad, surprised the gallery at Del Monte today, by fighting his way from behind to win the California junior golf title from the defending champion, Ernest P. Combs, 16, of Long Beach.

It was a colorful match that went the entire thirty-six-hole route before Pieper emerged the victor, 1 up. Combs was 1 up at the end of the morning round, which both finished 4 strokes over par.

Pieper started off with a birdie and a par to win the first two afternoon holes. The third was halved in part. Then the San Jose youth won the fourth and halved the next three, leaving him 2 up. Combs birdied the eighth and halved the ninth in par. Pieper was 1 up at the turn with a par 37 to his credit against Combs's 39.

Combs squared the match on the tenth, lost the eleventh and halved the twelfth. He eluded a stymie on the long thirteenth and sank his putt for a birdie 4 to square the match. The short fourteenth was halved in par, and Combs went into the lead by winning the fifteenth. Pieper parred the sixteenth to square the match and halved the seventeenth.

On the eighteenth, Pieper drove

GERMAN NET STARS UPSET BRITISH DAVIS CUP TEAM

BERLIN, July 12. (AP)—Germany's tennis stars, springing a sensational upset, routed the British forces today in the opening two singles matches of the European zone Davis Cup matches. Hans Moldenhauer defeated the English ace, H. W. (Bunny) Austin, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, after Dr. H. Prenn had disposed of J. C. Gregory in equally decisive fashion, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

The straight-set character of the Germans' victories was even more surprising than the double defeat of the British, who went into the final round favored to win.

Germany now needs only one more victory, either in the doubles tomorrow or in the closing singles matches Sunday, to win the European zone competition and play the United States for the right to challenge France for the classic Davis Cup.

Last year Great Britain put out Germany in the third round.

KNOCKOUT STAR ON MAIN STREET CARD

Bobby Swin, Salt Lake City 130-pounder who has scored four knockouts in his four "pro" starts, makes his Los Angeles ring debut when he faces Joe Borola, Mexican phantom, tonight at the Main Street Athletic Club. Borola gained local fame a few weeks ago when he beat Kano Nakamura of San Francisco, flooring the Japanese twice. Borola has lost three decisions in forty-three bouts and has yet to be knocked down.

Frank Malcewicz, 170-pound "kid" brother of Joe Malcewicz of wrestling fame, makes his show as a professional boxer in tonight's semi-wind-up, against the Mexican kayo star, Ray Ortega. Four other bouts complete the program.

ST LOUIS, July 12. (AP)—The Athletics jumped farther out ahead of the American League pack by defeating the Browns in both games of a double-header here today, 10 to 0, and 8 to 2.

Grove pitched a five-hit game in the first and Earnshaw was touched for only seven when he was retired because of wildness after two were out in the seventh inning of the second game.

Simmons hit his twentieth homer of the season in the opener and his twenty-first in the nightcap. Foxx slammed a circuit drive in the afterpiece. The scores:

YANKS TRIUMPH

CHICAGO, July 12. (AP)—The Yankees backed Herb Pennock's fine pitching with fifteen hits here today, and won 12 to 2. It was Pennock's fifth straight victory. Ted Lyons was blown from the box by a 7-to-0 Yankee lead in less than four innings.

The Sox saved themselves from a shutout in the eighth when hits were bunched for the first time against Pennock, who allowed a total of only nine safeties. The Yankee attack was featured by homers by Bob Meusel and Sammy Byrd. The score:

DETROIT, July 12. (AP)—By scoring four runs in the ninth inning, the Tigers defeated the Boston Red Sox today, 13 to 12. The decisive run was pushed across when Ray Dobens hit Charlie Gehringer with a pitched ball with the bases loaded.

Each team got fifteen hits, Bucky Harris using five pitchers, and Bill Carrigan, three. The victory was credited to George Smith and the defeat charged to Danny MacFayden. The game was the longest here this year, taking 2h. 54m. The score:

INDIANS COP

CLEVELAND, July 12. (AP)—The Indians bunched hits off Myles Thomas, former Yankee pitcher in three innings today to push across three runs that enabled them to win from Washingt on, 3 to 2.

Through the Nats got to Joe Shaute for twelve hits, they could score in only one inning and then only with the aid of two errors by the Indian hurler. The score:

STARS CAPTURE FOUR STRAIGHT

over the screen accounted for the first tally, while Carlyle's double and Rumler's first circuit clout did the remaining damage.

The Sheiks got a gift run in the third on Rollings's walk, Falk's fumble of Carlyle's grounder, Rumler's bunt and Funk's sacrifice fly to Almada.

The Indians tied it up in the fourth on doubles by Eckhardt and Falk and Borreani's single.

Allington's single and Wade's triple off the left-field fence put the Tribe ahead in the fifth.

Being behind Seattle constitutes an insult to the Stars, who promptly slugged out four more runs in their half of the fifth to again assume the lead. Ellsworth's wide throw on Carlyle's grounder, singles by Rumler and Funk, a walk to Heath and Burkett's double off the left-field fence produced the markers. Heath was purposely walked to fill the bases, but Burkett ruined the Seattle strategy with a solid swat that caromed off the brick barrier.

Eckhardt hit his homer over the left-field fence in the eighth and that served as a signal for the Stars to again put on a scoring demonstration.

Sahlberg was pitching when the Hollywood half of the eighth started and the Sheiks gave the former Trojan quite a welcome. Rollings singled to right, Carlyle singled infield to Fall and then Rumler rammed one over the left center-field fence to bring in three runs before the round really got under way.

Wethal mowed down the Indians in order in the ninth to clinch the victory. The score:

SERAPHS DROP HURLING DUEL

game was the base running of Haney. During the afternoon Haney stole three bases and then capped the afternoon by scoring from second base with the Angels' third run on an infield hit to shortstop. When Haney saw French throw to first base in an attempt to nip Schulmerich, he kept right on coming home and beat Camilli's throw in. Such baserunning is not often seen in the Pacific Coast League.

Los Angeles scored one run in the third inning off Vinci and for a long time that was the only run of the ball game. That run was scored when Haney singled to left field, stole both second and third bases and sauntered in on Statz's three-base hit.

The Angels scored again in the eighth inning on Berger's single, followed by French's error of Tolson's grounder, although Berger's efforts were nullified when he was picked off second base. Jacobs and Dittmar then singled to put Tolson over the plate.

Sacramento got one of these back in the same inning. Vinci singled and so did Monroe and McLaughline, scoring Vinci. Haney muffed Osborne's grounder, filling the bases with one out but Sacramento got no further at that time. Los Angeles added a third run in the ninth when Haney beat out a bunt, stole second and scored on Schulmerich's infield hit.

And then followed the Senators' tieing rally.

Grimes Pitches Fifteenth Victory as Bucs Win

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—The Giants nosed out the Cubs by 4 to 3 in a hard-fought, ten-inning game here today when Travis Jackson, first batter in the final frame, hit into the lower left-field seats for a home run. Jackson landed on Pat Malone's first pitch in the tenth.

The Giants tied the score on Malone in the ninth after two were out. Lindstrom singled and crossed the plate on Ott's triple. If Malone had been able to retire Lindstrom, the victory would have been credited to Guy Bush who relieved Charlie Root with the Cubs trailing and held the Giants safe while the Bruins forged ahead on one run in each of the last three regular innings.

Larry Benton held the Cubs to eight blows in all, and was headed toward a shutout until Stephenson hit a home run in the seventh. Fullis hit a homer for the Giants in the third.

The New York victory evened the series at two games each with one more to go. Score:

CANADIAN STAR WINS HUNDRED

when he placed third in the second heat which was won by the rangy negro, Wesley Foster, of Washington State College. Frank Wykoff, the Californian, ran second.

Vic Pickard, the Canadian Olympic star, and Ben Herron, Washington State College, eliminated all local competitors in the pole vault and when darkness drove the athletes from the field they were jumping at 13ft. 1in. They will continue this competition tomorrow. The summary:

Williams had been entered in the 220-yard qualifying heats, but decided at the last minute to withdraw to save himself for the 100-yard classic tomorrow.

The first 220-yard heat was won by R. F. Bowen of Pittsburgh with H. Cumming of the Newark A. C. second, and Eddie Tolan third. Tolan also loafed through this event barely to qualify for tomorrow's finals. Bowen's time was 22s flat.

Wesley Foster, negro runner of Washington State College, copped the second heat in the same time, with Frank Wykoff second, and John Fitzpatrick third. Wykoff didn't seem to press himself in this event.

Cumming and Art Massey were eliminated in the first 100-yard heat, while Crosby Pendleton of the University of Washington and W. Scott of Vancouver, fell by the wayside in the second flight.

In the day's feature event—the first 100-yard heat—Williams and Wykoff blasted out of their toe holes with the gun. They raced neck and neck for about twenty yards and then the dark-haired Olympic champion began to creep away. As they neared the tape Wykoff put everything he had into a last effort to catch the flying youth, but it was in vain. Percy flashed across the finish mark just one yard ahead of the California hope.

In an effort to establish a new world's record in the 440-yard relay, two special combinations of world-famous athletes were brought together. One team was composed of American speed artists and the other of Canadian and American stars. The all-American quartet composed of Milton Maurer, R. F. Bowen, Eddie Tolan and Frank Wykoff easily conquered the other combination led by brilliant Percy Williams, and lacked only one-fifth of a second of tieing the world mark. The winning time was 41 1-5s. Claude Bracey, John Fitzpatrick and Henry Cumming ran with Williams.

Williams, running anchor, had a big handicap when he received the baton ten yards behind Wykoff but made a gallant effort to catch the flying Glendale youth. Wykoff, however, matched the Olympic champion's speed and held the advantage to win the relay. Summary:

80 yards (women) first heat—Won by Myrtle Cook, Montreal; Mary Prissell, Vancouver, second; Madge Gurney, Vancouver, third. Time, 9 3-5s.

80 yards (women) second heat—Won by Florence Bell, Toronto; Betty Thompson, Toronto, second; Frances Davies, Vancouver, third. Time 9 2-5s.

80 yards (women) third heat—Won by Ethel Hogarth (Mrs. Smith,) Toronto; Lillian Hammer, Vancouver, second; E. Nicholson, Vancouver, third. No time taken.

Three mile, final—Won by C. Halstead, Los Angeles; T. Herd, Vancouver, second; A. Purvis, Los Angeles, third. Time 15m. 11 1-5s.

100 yards (women) first heat—Won by Myrtle Cook, Montreal; Lillian Palmer, Vancouver, second; Jean Thompson, Toronto, third. Time 11 3-5s.

100 yards (women) second heat—Won by Ethel Hogarth, Toronto; Florence Bell, Toronto, second; Mary Prissell, Vancouver, third. Time 12s. flat.

100 yard heat (men)—Won by Percy Williams, Vancouver; Frank Wykoff, Los Angeles, second; Johnny Fitzpatrick, Hamilton, third. Time 10 3-5s.

220 yards first heat—Won by R. F. Bowen, University of Pittsburgh; H. Cumming, Newark A. C., second; Eddie Tolan, third. Time 22s flat.

SHARP AND MAY DOPED FAVORITES

Pair Vie With Others in Auto Races Tonight at Legion Speedway

While youthful Jimmy Sharp continues to be the most popular driver on the race track, Walt May is going to get the attention of a lot of fans at the American Legion Speedway tonight. The regular weekly card of dirt-track battles, which tonight includes the Elks' sweepstakes of twenty-four laps, promises enough thrills to last the speed bugs for some time to come.

Last week May provided some of the most spectacular driving ever seen on the local track. While battling it out with Sharp for the lead in the feature event, May went into a skid on the north turn, his mount turning around completely twice. He finally pulled it into a straight line, and found himself in eighth place. Thereupon began one of the most sensational drives the fans ever had looked upon. Pressing a heavy foot on the throttle, he took chance after chance on the bumpy south curve, passed car after car, and then, climaxing it all, soared by Mel Kenealy coming out of the north curve on the last lap, and took second honors.

"Wild Bill" Heisler has his mount back in shape for anther thrilling appearance. Heisler spun around on the south curve and crashed into the fence. His car was demolished, but he crawled out intact, and has his mount ready for the fray again. Kenealy went into a spin on the north turn in one of the shorter events, straightened out, hit the south curve too fast, and spun around again. He retired from that race, but came back in the next to win handily, exhibiting plenty of nerve and driving skill.

HULBURT LAUDS SITE OF GAMES

fort to unseat the United States on its home grounds in 1932. They will have other men like Emil Hirshfeld, the giant shot putter, who unofficially has broken John Kuck's world's record, on the field in 1932.

"(5.) The attendance here in 1932 will be greater than at any other Games in history, because, in addition to your own large population, you will draw heavily from South America—Brazil, Chile, Argentina, etc. Those countries are deeply interested in athletics, and the Argentinians consider themselves the Americans of the West.

"(6.) I have been asked who will run the Olympic Games in Los Angeles. This authority falls to the lot of the American Olympic Committee, which is appointed by the American Olympic Association, the parent body. This committee has not yet been chosen, but it soon will be, and on this committee it is my idea that the personnel should be composed largely, if not principally, of Californians. In other words, the Games should be run by men who are on the job months previous to the actual staging of the events, and can give of their services in the fullest measure."

The American Olympic Association, of which Mr. Hulbert is vice-president, is headed by Col. Graeme M. Hammond, a New York lawyer, and the former Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks says the organization will meet within a few weeks to name the Olympic committee.

To this committee in turn is entrusted the technical job of raising money and making general preparations for the Games, while the actual running off of the track-and-field events comes under the jurisdiction of the International A.A.U. Federation, which has a membership of forty-two countries.

The interlocking committees make the matter all very involved to the average layman, but Mr. Hulbert says everything will come out in the wash, and he points with pride to the fact that the Elks in their national conclave the other day voted to manifest their interest in the Olympic Games in Los Angeles in 1932 by taking a membership in the American Olympic Association.

Seventy-two sport bodies now belong to the Olympic Association. These bodies choose fifteen governors to act with the officers of the organization as an executive committee, and they in turn select the Olympic committee.

There were fifteen on the Olympic committee for the 1928 Games at Amsterdam, but Mr. Hulbert says there probably will be fifty or sixty for 1932.

He mentioned some of the probable local members—Leslie A. Henry, Kinter Hamilton, Bob Weaver—and spoke of Bill Humphrey of San Francisco and Chester Gannon of Sacramento as other likely appointees.

Mr. Hulbert left for San Francisco last night, and from there takes a steamer for his home in New York.

BUNION DERBY RUNNERS IN RACE AT SPEEDWAY

Six-day foot racing gets its premiere tonight in this section at the American Legion Speedway, when ten teams of "Bunion Derby" runners, headed by Johnny Salo, Sam Richman and Guisto Umek start on the endurance grind at the Alhambra Boulevard oval. The event will begin immediately following the program of auto races to be staged tonight by the American Legion.

Jim Thorpe, the famous Carlisle Indian athlete who accompanied C. C. Pyle's troupe to Los Angeles from the East, is heading the ankle amble here. The principal object of the race, aside from the monetary ambitions of the runners, is to break a record of 723 miles, which was established by two Frenchmen in New Orleans twenty-five years ago, it is said. In all, the local event will encompass 144 hours if the contestants hold out.

The runners will be grouped in two-man teams with ten of such teams entered. They will run all night and day, one man being allowed to rest while his partner continues on the move. A track mapped out in front of the grand stand, one-sixth of a mile in length, will be used by the pavement pounders. Lights will be kept burning all night and fans will be allowed to enter at all times.

CITIZENS BANK CHOOSES CHIEF

H. D. Ivey Made Successor to Late J. Dabney Day

New President Joined Staff as Messenger Boy

Other Changes Announced in Official Personnel

Herbert D. Ivey, who has served more than a quarter of a century with the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank was yesterday elected president of the institution to succeed the late J. Dabney Day. Mr. Ivey is an outstanding Los Angeles banker, having actively sponsored the American Institute of Banking and having served with distinction on executive bodies of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association for a number of years. He joined the bank as a messenger.

M. J. Connell, chairman of the bank, who made the announcement also announced the election of C. Sumner James to the position of executive vice-president, and the election to the senior vice-presidency of E. T. Pettingrew and L. D. Ivey. E. Clem Wilson also was elected a member of the executive committee.

The new president was born near San Antonio, Tex., in 1886, and came to Los Angeles in 1902. On January 2, 1903, he secured his first position with the Citizens' National Bank as messenger. During the intervening years he had filled practically every position in the bank, and is often in demand as a speaker on the various problems arising in banking and finance. He is the author of a textbook on bank operation, and has been a frequent contributor to banking publications.

He first received official promotion in October, 1911, as assistant cashier, and in 1918 became cashier. The ensuing years following the war brought many banking problems and the exceptional skill shown by Mr. Ivey in meeting them, while maintaining the rapid growth of the institution was recognized by the directors by his promotion to a vice-presidency in 1922.

C. Sumner James became assistant trust officer of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, in 1919, then trust officer, and in 1921 was elected vice-president. In 1926 he became executive vice-president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, which was consolidated with the Citizens' National Bank last year.

E. T. Pettingrew has been with the Citizens' bank since 1901. He was elected assistant cashier in 1909, cashier in 1912, and vice-president in 1918.

L. D. Ivey, a brother of the newly elected president, entered its service in 1903 and has been for many years in charge of commercial loans. He was elected vice-president in 1923. A third brother, T. E. Ivey, is also prominent in Los Angeles banking, being vice-president of California Bank.

Mr. Wilson of Wilson Willard Manufacturing Company, who has been elected to the executive committee of the bank, is well known in Los Angeles business circles and has been a director of the bank for a number of years.

SIGNAL OIL OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Unofficial Estimates for First Half Year Place Earnings Slightly Up Over 1928

BY DOUGLAS A. McKAY

While first-quarter earnings of the Signal Oil and Gas Company were believed to be somewhat disappointing due to the low prices for casinghead gasoline, unofficial estimates, recognizing the higher prices following the gasoline war and a substantially increased volume of sales during the second quarter, place earnings for the first half slightly higher than for the same six months of 1928. It is reported that May profits were 40 per cent higher than last year's average month.

Based on the production of its plants, recent completions, drilling activity in various sections where contracts for gas are held, and completion soon of a new absorption plant in the Mariposa Flats field, the company's gasoline earnings for the year are expected to equal the total earnings of the company for 1928. This was $1,267,-979 or $6.11 a share.

Signal's crude-oil production, however, which has made some gains in the past year, is becoming more and more a factor to be taken into consideration. The company is reputed to hold a total patential production of 4800 barrels per day, of which 2000 are shut in. Two more wells are drilling. Some estimates place 1929 earnings derived from casing-head gasoline and crude-oil production, in the neighborhood of $1,800,000 or $8.70 a share.

Signal Royalties Company, formed a short while ago by Signal Oil and Gas and in which it retains a 25 per cent interest, is said to be earning much more than officials expected for such a short period. Recent completions are held responsible. Stock of the royalty company offered Signal Oil shareholders at $10 a share was bid over the counter yesterday at $34.

Current dividends of the Signal Oil and Gas Company are at the annual rate of $1.75 a share and while profit estimates run three and one-half times this figure, it is pointed out that surplus earnings have thus far gone into new plant and property. In addition to the valuable rights offered its stockholders to subscribe to Signal Royalties last April, the company paid a 50-cent extra dividend in December, 1928.

In Texas the company has a contract with the Texon Oil and Land Company (lately combined with Marland) for all the gas produced from that company's wells. The Texon brought in the world's deepest well some time ago with a flow of 20,000,00 cubic feet of gas per day. Drilling of three additional wells is now under way.

Signal's largest plants are located at Signal Hill where contracts for 25 per cent of all the gas produced are held. New production from the deep-sand operations here is expected to be of considerable value to the company.

TRADING ON WOOL MART MODERATE

Survey Reports Medium Grades Ruling Stronger and Fines Unsettled

BOSTON, July 12. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

Wool moves moderately. Medium wools are somewhat stronger, on the whole, while the price of fine, wools still is unsettled, although they are lower than competing grades at London. Western operations have lessened distinctly, Montana being the only State to report much activity, with prices there a bit dearer than expected.

"Foreign markets, except London, are quiet. London is firm for crossbreds but barely firm on opening rates for merinos.

The manufacturing situation is hardly changed; manufacturers are preparing for opening lightweight goods and seem inclined to let wool settle to its lowest point.

Mohair is slow but steady.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to July 11, 1929, inclusive, were 94,897,000 pounds against 87,941,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1929, to July 11, 1929, inclusive, were 168,238,285 pounds against 197,-845,500 pounds for the same period last year.

Wheat Futures Up Sharply on Canada Report

CHICAGO, July 12. (AP)—Reports indicating that huge sections of the Canadian and American Northwest are verging on actual crop disaster, gave another decided lift to wheat prices today. In this connection, a statement from the Canadian growers' pool late today placed the condition of the wheat crop in the Canadian prairie provinces at only 53.8 to 69.1 per cent, compared with 76.2 to 94.2 per cent the last of June. Earlier today an unofficial estimate from a trade leader here put North Dakota's wheat condition now at barely 52 per cent, against 74 per cent on the 1st inst., with South Dakota at 60, against 75, and Montana down to 55 per cent, against 100.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 1¼@1¾c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼@⅜c net lower, oats ⅛@1c up and provisions varying from 30c decline to an equal gain.

Considering the radically adverse character of today's crop advices, the wheat market, although scoring a substantial fresh advance, made a somewhat lame response to the news. Big profit-taking sales and hedging pressure from the domestic harvest region southwest acted as a good deal of a counterbalance, and held wheat values back. Besides buying power had already extended itself to a remarkable degree on crop damage reports, total purchases yesterday of wheat future deliveries here having been $7,750,000 bushels, the largest amount for any single day since May 1, last. Nevertheless, the upward trend of the market most of the time today was of unmistakeable force and prices soared to about the topmost level reached since early last April.

High temperatures northwest and prospects of continued injury from drought allowed only fractional setbacks from the day's top prices for wheat. Advices were meanwhile at hand that drought persists in Argentina and Australia. Bullish incentives were also found in reports telling of heavy damage which torrential rains and floods had done to domestic wheat in the harvest section southwest, where additional moisture tonight also was predicted. A good size volume of export business in hard winter wheat by way of the Gulf of Mexico was moreover said to be in progress.

Corn prices turned downward owing largely to favorable weather for corn growth. Oats followed wheat rather than corn.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to an upturn in the value of hogs.

CANADA WHEAT CROP FAR BELOW NORMAL

WINNIPEG, July 12. (AP)—A crop statement issued today by the Canadian wheat pool said Western Canada's wheat crop is only 65 per cent of normal, due to excessive drought in all three prairie provinces. In the Peace River district of Alberta, where reports had previously been promising, crops have "deteriorated appreciably during the past two weeks," the report said.

FINANCE HOUSES JOIN RESOURCES

Hunter-Dulin, Bond-Goodwin & Tucker Combine

Joint Announcement Issued at Los Angeles Office

Deal Creates Organization of $12,000,000 Magnitude

Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., and Hunter, Dulin & Co., pioneer investment banking houses of the Pacific Coast, having combined capital and resources in excess of $12,-000,000, have consolidated and will continue their investment banking business under the name of Tucker, Hunter, Dulin & Co.

Formal announcement of the merger was made yesterday in a joint statement from offices of both concerns in Los Angeles and San Francisco. The new institution has branch offices in every principal city from Seattle to San Diego.

The active interests in the two houses will comprise the official personnel of the new organization.

Bond & Goodwin & Tucker was incorporated in 1921 to take over the Pacific Coast business of Bond & Goodwin, which was established in Boston in 1894, and had operated on the West Coast since 1907. The head office is in San Francisco.

Hunter, Dulin & Co., was founded in Los Angeles in 1914 under the name of Blankenhorn, Hunter & Co., the name being changed to Hunter, Dulin & Co., in 1919. It operates ten branch offices in California.

It is understood that a number of branch offices of the two organizations will be consolidated. A committee has been formed to work out details. Present offices of the combined institutions, however, are now operated in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, San Diego, Spokane, Tacoma, Sacramento, Oakland, Stockton, Riverside, Long Beach, Pomona, Pasadena, Fresno, Eugene, Santa Ana, Santa Monica and Hollywood.

"It has long been felt that centralization of capital is no less important in the investment banking field than in commercial banking," officials stated. "Two organizations whose declared policy has been to confine their distributing operations to the Pacific Coast can best serve that territory by combining both capital and personnel for the underwriting of Pacific Coast enterprises, while participating in the underwriting and distribution of national and international issues."

Earnings Gain Forecast for Tile Concern

Gladding, McBean & Co. for the first half of 1929 will show net profits in excess of $500,000, according to information received yesterday from sources close to the company. These earnings would be equal to about $2.30 a share on 218,-167 shares of capital stock outstanding.

Orders on hand were reported to total more than $2,000,000 and business was said to be the best in the company's history. While the company has figured in recent merger rumors, all of them have met with official denial and there is no deal under consideration at the present time, it was stated.

For the full year 1928, the company reported an increase in surplus of $421,961. Current assets as of December 31, last, were in excess of seven times current liabilities.

District Bond Tells Proits for Half Year

District Bond Company for the first half of 1929 yesterday reported net earnings of $236,956.41, after operating expenses and interest charges, but before Federal tax, equal to $4.50 a share on the common stock outstanding. For the entire year of 1928 the net earnings after all prior charges were $256,111.

Officials of the company estimated that earnings for the full year of 1929 will be in excess of $6 a share, as they do not anticipate that the rate established in the first half of the year will continue throughout the next six months.

If earnings are maintained for the balance of the year, it is probable that action will be taken on the establishment of a higher dividend rate or the payment of an extra disbursement, it was stated.

Net income for the first six months was $413,476, or $1.82 a share on the common stock issued as against $268,641, or $1.11 a share in the 1928 period.

POINCARE SOUNDS WARNING

Ratification of Debt Pact Urged as Only Means of Escape from Present Dilemma

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—"We can no longer delay ratification." These are the words used yesterday by Premier Poincare of France in advocating ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt-funding agreement between France and the United States, signed by representatives of the two countries in April, 1926, approved by the United States government, but never before this week placed officially before the French Chamber of Deputies.

France, after eleven years' delay, is in a dilemma. If she doesn't agree to the settlement, she will be forced to pay $407,000,000 in cash in the next two weeks to the United States government for war supplies bought immediately after the war.

Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, steps forth and says that if France pays this amount to the United States on August 1, Great Britain will demand a like amount be paid to England on the war debts which France owes to her. So there you are! France is in a quandary. Will she or will she not? She has held off for years. She feels rather bitterly. Her war veterans have held parades, protesting the settlement. She has asked for more delay.

But the United States says, "No! Sign the agreement, which gives you plenty of time to pay your debts, including the amount due August 1."

American tourist trade alone this year far exceeds the total which France must pay under the Mellon-Berenger agreement.

France is in an excellent financial shape. She has piled up huge credits both in England and in the United States. She has set her financial house in order in recent years. She is not hard up. And the French government sees the handwriting on the wall.

The President of France may sign a decree ratifying the debt agreements with the United States and Great Britain even before the Chamber of Deputies has finished its discussion.

Yes, France will ratify the Mellon-Berenger agreement.

Ramsay MacDonald, in making two big business leaders members of the House of Lords instead of selecting leaders from his own supporters in the British House of Commons, has caused a lot of discussion.

One of these leaders is Sir George Croyden Marks, 71 years of age, well-known British engineer, patent solicitor and now chairman of the Columbia Gramaphone Company. He is a frequent visitor to both Canada and the United States.

In addition, Sir George is also a writer on engineering subjects, a patent lecturer in British universities, a publisher and a former Liberal member of the House of Commons.

But the Columbia Gramaphone Company, of which Sir George is chairman, is really managed by a young American, who was born and raised in New York's East Side. His name is Louis Sterling.

The J. P. Morgan organization is largely interested in the Columbia Gramaphone Company. One business man, speaking of the matter yesterday, referred to young Sterling as the "pet" of the Morgan house.

The phonograph has taken on new life since the Bell laboratory of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company placed on the market the new tone amplifier. In America the radio has taken the lead, but in the rest of the world the phonograph has the lead, and the Columbia in this field, backed up by the Morgan house, is the world leader.

When Sir George Marks takes his place in the House of Lords to represent the Labor party, no change in the policy of this gigantic phonograph organization is expected. For Louis Sterling will still be at the helm.

THEATER SUPPLY UNIT TO EXCHANGE STOCK

NEW YORK, July 12. (Exclusive) General Theaters Equipment, Inc., today announced that it will exchange one share of common stock voting trust certificates for each share of International Projector Corporation common stock and three-fourths of a share for each share of National Theater Supply Company common stock. It will also pay cash for all preferred stock of International Projector Corporation and for the notes and preferred stock of National Theater Supply Company, allowing the call price in each instance.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, July 12. (Exclusive)—Publication of crude rubber consumption figures for June, which did not come up to the expectations of many interests in the rubber industry brought out selling of futures at the local rubber exchange today and resulted in losses of from 10 to 15 points.

On the other hand information from reliable exporters was that the rubber trade in general is in a sound position and that dullness which may upset prices will be followed by higher prices. The representative of an important unit made attempts during the day to support the market. The latter was barely steady after a turnover of 704 contracts, or 1910 long tons.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, July 12. (AP)—Moderate quantities of 56-60s and 48-50s wools sold today, although the finer grades composed the bulk of the business, which in the aggregate was fairly good. Most sales of territory 56-60s strictly combing were in the range of 86 to 90c, scoured basis, and 48-50s strictly combing in the range of 78 to 80c, scoured basis, with prices on the best offerings tending to the maximum figures. Bright 56-58s strictly combing fleeces were firmer at 44 to 45c in the grease, while 48-50s strictly combing bright fleeces sold more readily at 42 and 43c in the grease.

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—The offerings at the wool sales today amounted to 6606 bales. There was a good attendance and greasy cross-breds were in fair demand at unchanged prices. Merinos were dull and were frequently withdrawn. Slipes sold better. Cape of Good Hope and Natal grades were in poor request and in buyers' favor.

Weekly Survey Reports Trade as Holding Up

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Trade is of more than full seasonal volume with industry maintaining its prominence as the most active of the three trade divisions. This latter, despite a tendency to restrict building, with consequent effect upon sales of materials at some of the later cities. Collections show some slowing down, but crop reports, on the whole, are more cheerful, especially at the South, in the spring wheat Northwest and on the Pacific Coast.

Dry, growing weather is the source of the better southern crops reports, this especially west of the Mississippi River, while rains in the Northwest have rendered the spring wheat situation less acute, although a full normal supply of moisture is needed to make for average yields.

On the Pacific Coast, warmer weather has benefited trade and crops. All in all, the trade trends seem fully as cheerful as a while ago, and, although a tapering off of activities is either visible or predicted, the feeling grows that the summer let-down in activity, this more particularly in industry, will not be as great as usual.

Weekly bank clearings, $14,108,-980,000, an increase of 30.7 per cent over a year ago.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—The cotton market was rather nervous and irregular today. Some further selling was reported on a favorable view of the weather news and talk of improving crop conditions, but it was absorbed on covering on scattered buying on relatively steady Liverpool cables on expectations of week-end rallies after the recent decline.

The middle-of-the-month market was quiet, but fairly steady at net advances of about 6 to 8 points.

Allis Chalmers mounted 11 points and Auburn Auto 10.

In the rails, Union Pacific advanced over 6 points to a peak above 232, while Chesapeake and Ohio, Alleghany Corporation and Great Northern preferred also recorded new peaks.

Chrysler was again a soft spot, dropping more than 2 points to 71, but 3 points above the year's low, and Greene Cananea, Coty, National Biscuit, Liquid Carbonic and advance Rumley fell back 2 or 3 points.

Commodities moved in fairly narrow price ranges, wheat mounting 1⅞ cents and more a bushel on bullish Canadian advices and reports of damage in Kansas. Corn, however, sagged fractionally on bearish weather. Cotton closed fairly firm in sympathy with Liverpool and raw sugar improved, reflecting a firm tone in the London market.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to heaviness, sterling cables getting down to 4.86 again, near the point at which gold imports from London would be profitable.

WISCONSIN INDIANS IN POOR WAY

That's Opinion Expressed by Senatorial Investigators After Four-Day Study

HAYWARD (Wis.) July 12. (AP)—The Wisconsin Indian, in the opinion of the United States Senate subcommittee on Indian affairs, is in a poor way, physically and economically. The committee has just completed a four-day investigation here.

"Political dilly-dallying" was charged yesterday by witnesses questioned concerning conditions at the Goudery Reservation near here. Previous testimony had dealt with conditions at the Menominee Reservation, the Tomah School and among the wandering Winnebagos.

Prevalence of tuberculosis among the Indians is one of the matters witnesses emphasized to the subcommittee—Senators Frazier, North Dakota; Lafollette, Wisconsin, and Wheeler, Montana. The percentage of the disease among the Indians is estimated as high as 40 per cent. Trachoma, an eye ailment, is said to be nearly as prevalent.

Witnesses testified that liquor flows freely on every reservation.

Pilot Friend of Presidents and Kings Dies

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—Capt. Bill Luckett, who began life as William Edward Luckett and became the grand old man of the Potomac, is dead at the age of 74 years.

In his career of more than fifty years as a river pilot, he knew intimately a long line of Presidents and other government dignitaries, visiting kings, princesses, generals and statesmen, and the youngsters of many celebrated families.

As the civilian pilot of the Mayflower from the time it was put into service as the yacht of the Presidents until it was ordered decommissioned recently, his was the responsibility for their safety and that of their guests on all of its trips.

Firemen Huffed at Critics, Let Them Fight Fire

MONTICELLO (N. Y.) July 12. (Exclusive)—After traveling three miles to a fire today the volunteer fire department of Monticello was criticised for being late. Whereupon Chief Engineer Robert York told the critics they could put out the fire for themselves.

"Don't turn on the water," he commanded, "if that's the way they feel about it they can put out their own fire."

Water brought from a near-by pond on buckets quenched the blaze in a small old shack inclosing an electric pump. No other buildings were in danger. The firemen were delayed by having to get permission from municipal authorities in order to go outside the city limits.

Irish Celebrate Battle of Boyne

BELFAST (Northern Ireland) July 12. (AP)—The six northern counties today celebrated the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne with customary fervor. There were many public meetings at which resolutions were adopted expressing joy over the King's recovery.

The battle of the Boyne was fought in 1690 on the banks of the Boyne River, the armies of William III of Orange defeating a smaller force of James II, last of the Stuart kings. The victory, preceding the massacre of Glencoe, established William, a milder monarch than his father-in-law, James II, on the British throne.

FISH FIRST FARM BOARD BENEFITERS

President Foregoes Trip to Trout Streams to Meet Arriving Appointees

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Abandoning his week-end trip to the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia, President Hoover conferred at length today with Alexander R. Legge, chairman of the new Federal Farm Board, and Carl Williams, one of its members.

They were the first of the appointees to arrive in Washington and the President had planned to take them to his fishing lodge to go over the farm situation with them. Bad weather and pressing affairs intervened, however.

Meanwhile, it was announced at the White House that Charles S. Wilson, former New York State Commissioner of Agriculture, had been appointed to the board, leaving but one vacancy to be filled. Unlike the other members, Wilson will represent no particular branch of the agricultural industry. He is a practical, general farmer, and in addition has been in close association with the fruit and dairying industries of the Northeast.

The White House said today that it had been impossible to take the geographical distribution of the members into consideration in making appointments because of the necessity of selecting men qualified to represent the various phases of farming. It was emphasized, too, that all of the appointees had been born and reared on farms and, with the exception of Legge, have been actively engaged in the agricultural industry over a considerable period.

The remaining place on the board is to be given to a spokesman for the wheat-growing industry, although the President has certain names under consideration for the post, he does not now expect to reach a decision until after the first meeting of the board Monday.

DAVIS LAWYERS SEEKING ERROR

Writ of Appeal Sought for Convicted ex-Official

Two Attorneys Rosenberg and Hayes in Jail Halls

Grand Jury Continues With Its Film-Case Inquiry

In spite of the transcripts in the Ralph L. (Buddy) Davis contempt of court and bribery charges being prepared by Paul D'Orr, chief defense counsel, which began a study of the court records for error which it is hoped will be appeals to the State Supreme Court, Chief Deputy District Attorney Dockweiler announced yesterday from his cell in the County Jail, where he awaits sentence, that Judge Wilson, on Monday morning, directed the district attorney's office to prepare a bill of exceptions. Before this bill is passed, however, one more defense move will come. A motion for a new trial will be made before Judge Wilson in whose court the case was tried. Little hope is held out by the defense counsel that the motion will be granted.

CONSIDERATION DUE

Should the new trial motion run out of time before the work of writing the appeal bill is begun and the entire case can be decided within the next ten days, In the meantime Davis will confer with his attorneys on the question of whether he will begin serving his sentence, in order that the law will be from fourteen years, or remain in the County Jail until his appeal is decided.

Davis remains in the County Jail for the six months required by law on appeal through the court and then loses, none of the time spent here will apply on his sentence. On the other hand if he wins his appeal from the State Supreme Court all of the served time will be cut off, no expression from Davis in regard to his decision on this matter being forthcoming yesterday.

Dockweiler, chief deputy was emphatic in his statements made both publicly on the testimony of Ralph Davis, flaring-street tailor, and his father and fixer, who testified he had paid Davis $7500 in payment of a downtown hotel deal in August, 1927, after an agreement on the prosecutor to "let up" on Ralph E. Blumberg, one of the defendants in the Julian stock-fraud cases.

CASE AGAIN DENIED

Attorney Davis yesterday repeated his assertions made both on the witness stand during the trial following his conviction, that he is not guilty of the offense for which he finally convicted. He said that the matter of his appeal will be pushed with vigor and that he is not expected to escape serving a prison term.

Deputy District Attorneys Dockweiler and guards Hamilton and Hall said that Davis had befriended both Ed Blumberg and Ralph Dale-Attig. Keyes, convicted on similar charges, and asserted that Davis had testified, and that there appeared to be no hard feelings between the two. Their meeting in the hallways of the jail was accidental and their conversation brief, it was reported.

Our Davis has faced Judge Wilson on numerous occasions Monday morning, it is reported that his attorneys will confer with the court on the question of where he will remain while the appeal is being made. No application for bail will be made at this time, it is learned yesterday.

INVESTIGATION UNCOMPLETED

The investigation of the asserted kidnaping and arrest of Milton Hall, a specialist of Harold L. Davis, who has been under way for several days was incomplete when the grand jury adjourned last night, according to Foreman De Lay.

Further inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the detention of Hall, who was to have been a witness against Davis at the latter's trial, will be taken up by the grand jury at its next session. At that time the grand jury may be presented with a statement made by Hall, a Pasadena, who acted as an intermediary between Davis and Richard Stewart. The statement was made voluntarily to Richard to Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart yesterday and is a reiteration of the statement already presented to the grand jury, Stewart said.

Hall was arrested in a downtown hotel in marked money case. He was accused by Davis of having accepted the money on behalf of an agreement whereby he would give false testimony. He was placed in the County Jail on the complaint of Davis, and a special grand jury investigation was ordered. All charges and his release from custody ordered.

ALL "DUPLICATES" AT THIS PARTY

Birthday Fete Attendance Restricted to Twin Children

Four Sets at Get-Together

ONE of the most select parties ever given in this city was that held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Wallace, 8301 Marmont Lane. To gain admittance one not only had to be a friend of the hostesses or of the guests of honor, but also had to be a twin.

The occasion was the celebration of the second birthday of Margaret and Morris Knudsen, twin children of Prof. Vern O. Knudsen of the University of California at Los Angeles, who live at 907 North Mariposa street, and the hostesses were Ellen and Jane Copple, twins of the same age as their guests, who live with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Copple, at 8050 Selma avenue.

Mrs. Wallace, who is described by her friends as "just crazy about twins," insisted that the party be held at her house. She had a busy afternoon but boasted, after it was all over, that never once did she mistake one twin for another. Others of the guests were Billy and Bobby Lawson, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Lawson of 1049 Westchester Place, and Iris and Ines Standefer, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Standefer of 831 South Harvard Boulevard.

CUDAHY SON AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

Driving While Intoxicated and Fleeing After Crash Charged to Youth

Michael J. P. Cudahy, 21-year-old son of Mrs. John P. Cudahy and heir to the Cudahy packing-house fortune, still was held in the Hollywood Jail last night on suspicion of driving an automobile while intoxicated, a felony, after he is asserted to have crashed into an automobile driven by Charles B. Lang of 5102 Delaware street.

Cudahy was captured by Patrolman Kahler and Martin after he is asserted to have attempted to flee from the scene of the accident at Argyle and Franklin streets.

The youth, who was married a week ago at Riverside to Adele Evansen, an actress, was taken to the Dickey & Cass Hospital in Hollywood, where examining physicians declared he was intoxicated at the time of his arrival there, the arresting officers' report states.

Witnesses to the collision told officers Lang's car was hurled a distance of twenty-five feet. Lang suffered only minor injuries and was taken to his home.

Cudahy is charged with driving at high speed from the scene immediately after the crash and of refusing officers' commands to halt until they forced his car into the curb.

Detective Lieutenants Taylor and Evans of Hollywood division have been assigned to investigate.

When Cudahy was booked he gave his address as 1844 North Vine street, Hollywood, which is the home of his mother. At the time of his marriage he resided at the Hacienda Apartments on North Beachwood Drive, Hollywood.

IMPROVEMENT SOUGHT

A petition asking for the improvement of Burwood street at Highgate avenue was filed with Council yesterday and was referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee.

Woman to Fill Art Board Job

The nomination of Mrs. Jules Kauffman of 234 North Norton avenue to fill the expired term on the Board of Municipal Art Commissioners yesterday was submitted to Council by Mayor Porter. The nomination was referred to the Building and Safety Committee, Councilman McAllister, chairman.

Mrs. Kauffman is a member of the Friday Morning Club and is said to be a student of architecture. She succeeds Harold Swartz, sculptor.

COUNTRY CLUB NAMED IN BANKRUPTCY PLEA

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in United States District Court against the Shoreacres Country Club. It is asserted by creditors that it has debts in excess of $1000. The Coast Electric Company filed a claim for $482 and the Ingle Manufacturing Company a claim for $1152.

DEMOCRACY ACCUSED OF BACKSLIDING

Political Science Session Hears United States and France Are "Imperialistic"

The great democracies of the earth, particularly France and the United States, are accused of fostering imperialism and of existing under an "hypocrisy of imperialism" in a lecture by Dr. Luther H. Evans, of the department of political science of Dartmouth College, delivered at the summer meeting of the Los Angeles Center of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The meeting is being held in connection with the summer session of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Speaking on the subject, "France and the White Man's Burden in Syria," Dr. Evans launched into a summary of "French imperialism in Morocco and Syria since the World War." Speaking of the United States government, he said:

"Even the great democracies of the earth have passed down upon the road of imperialism, and have disproved the theory that autocracy is the inevitable associate of imperialism.

"High officials of our government have in recent times maintained that American doctrines of freedom, equality and democracy do not allow us to be guilty of that horrible crime of imperialism; they have intimated that nothing is farther from their hearts and minds than imperialism.

"Yet we are distinctly in the category of imperialistic nations, according to the meaning which we give to the term when we apply it to other nations."

A. K. Martell's Funeral Today

Funeral services for Andrew K. Martell, patent attorney, a resident of Los Angeles for twenty-two years, will be conducted at 10 a.m. today at the Delmar A. Smith mortuary, 731 West Washington street. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Martell, who was 78 years of age, came here from Pittsburgh. He was a graduate of the United States Military Academy. His home was at 3111 Halldale avenue. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Margaret Martell, and three daughters, Mrs. Lillian M. Wells and Mrs. Margaret Herwig of Los Angeles and Mrs. Marie Glasgow of San Francisco.

BUS PETITION'S HEARING ENDS

Four Lines Seek Permits on Roosevelt Highway

Coast Cities Ask for Direct Connections North

State Board Takes Question Under Submission

Hearing on the application of four motor bus companies for a certificate to operate passenger stages over the newly opened Roosevelt Highway from Santa Monica to Oxnard, came to an end yesterday, after sessions that have lasted daily since last Monday.

Examiner Handford, in charge of the hearing, took the respective applications under submission after listening during the week to arguments of attorneys representing the various applicants and examining tariff sheets and bus schedules.

Several witnesses, representing various cities of Southern California affected by the operations of the four stage lines seeking certificates, testified at yesterday's sessions that a well defined need exists for through motor stage service from Long Beach, San Pedro and the harbor district to points as far north as San Francisco.

These included John W. Clark, Hermosa Chamber of Commerce; F. F. Burdette, superintendent of operations, Pickwick Stages System; J. C. Dick, proprietor of a Long Beach hotel; C. L. Sivils, Los Angeles Harbor hotel proprietor, and others.

The stage companies seeking the right to operate passenger busses over the new route are the Pickwick Stages System, the Motor Coach Company, Santa Monica Mountain Coach Lines, and the Pacific Coast Motor Coach Company.

Randall Rants but Colleagues Turn Deaf Ears

Councilman Randall made a fiery speech, accused his colleagues of "log-rolling and trading," denied he ever took part in such legislative activities, and aroused the amused indifference of Council yesterday when the hearing of protests against the paving of Santa Susanna avenue between Marilla and Schoenborn streets was continued until the 22nd, inst.

The protests amount to 66 per cent of the frontage on the artery, and 76 per cent of the area involved in the assessment district. Twelve votes are needed to override such a protest and Mr. Randall, aware that he didn't have them, waved his arms and shouted in full voice, for which he was rewarded by the handclapping of a few constituents back of the rail.

"I could tell you why I can't get the votes," he asserted, darkly.

"Tell 'em! Tell 'em!" retorted Councilman Ingram, amid chuckles. Mr. Randall avoided the challenge and did not enlarge on his accusations.

Air-Rail Lines to Aid Tourist Travel West

Fast transportation schedules now in operation across the continent will be important factors in increasing pleasure travel to Southern California, according to Ben Thomas, executive secretary of the All Year Club, who returned yesterday by air-rail from conferences in the East and Middle West with leaders in the development of tourist business of the nation. He said:

"Now that the new transportation schedules permit travel from coast to coast in forty-eight hours by air-rail, or approximately eighty hours by an all-rail trip, we can look for a larger volume of tourist travel business. With two-thirds of the population of the nation and some 70 per cent of income taxpayers residing east of the Mississippi, Southern California has a long-range tourist selling problem.

"The constantly decreasing travel time, however, is helping materially to divert an ever-increasing percentage of the thousands of eligible pleasure travelers to this section."

"ROLLING STONES" FIND REST BY SEA

Edward and Evelyn Dean

Calling themselves the "Rolling Stones," two honeymooners, Evelyn and Edward Dean, Jr., of Chicago, skated down North Broadway at 5 p.m. yesterday.

"This is the end of the trail and we have, with the exception of a few dirt roads, covered the entire distance from Chicago on skates," explained Edward.

"We were married May 28 and left Chicago June 1 and have enjoyed our honeymoon very much."

The couple came via the southern route. They say they used nine sets each of wheels, but only one pair each of shoes. "Our longest skate was about 135 miles between St. Louis and Kansas City, when we skated all night after a long day with but few pauses in it. We spent about $62 on the trip," said Dean.

The bride is a telephone operator, 19 years of age.

Girl Issues Own License for Marriage

Miss Margaret Furlong, assistant to Miss Rosamond Rice, head of the County Marriage License Bureau, is one of the few residents of California who have issued their own marriage licenses.

Miss Furlong performed that important official act for herself yesterday, when she filled out the papers for herself and Charles G. Scharf, 3218 Sunset Boulevard, a contractor. Miss Furlong has been residing with her mother at 1346 North Coronado street.

The couple will be married tomorrow evening by Rev. Dr. Hugh Walker, Presbyterian minister, and will spend their honeymoon on an automobile trip to Texas, which State was their former home.

POLICE DECISION PROTECTS HOME

New Policy Submitted for Legal Opinion

Residence Defined as Place That Respects Law

Constitution Observance Open-Forum Theme

Strict observance by the police of the United States Constitution and that of the State of California is proposed in a new order submitted to the Police Commission yesterday by Commissioner Thorpe as a substitute for the order of June 18 compelling police to obtain search warrants before entering premises in search of liquor. It was referred to the City Attorney for an opinion as to its legality. The 23rd inst. was set as the date on which the commission will take formal action on the new order.

Thorpe's proposal came at the close of an open forum conducted at a special meeting of the commission to hear arguments for and against the commission's previous order providing for search warrants, now in effect. In addition to the commissioners, fourteen representatives of various civic organizations spoke. The room was filled with members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Anti-Saloon League, Progressives and others. The commission was lauded for conducting the forum on the subject.

At the request of Attorney Saul S. Klein a copy of Thorpe's proposal was tendered to the constitutional rights committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association for analysis, Klein holding that one paragraph appeared to give police officers judiciary powers.

PROPOSED ORDER

The proposed order, addressed to the chief of police, follows:

"The police authorities are to observe the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, which safeguard and make sacred a man's home and prevent its invasion without due process of law.

"Private residences shall not mean any place where any law is being violated.

"A police officer shall not enter a bona fide home except in accordance with law. Any policeman violating this order will be subject to immediate discharge.

"The Chief of Police is hereby instructed to carry in the Police Bulletin this order, which supersedes the order adopted on June 18, 1929."

Thorpe moved and Commissioner Pierce seconded the motion to refer the order to the City Attorney. Acting President Gollum and Commissioner Gilmore voted in favor, making it unanimous.

ALL LAW ALIKE

The forum was opened by Commissioner Thorpe, who, as the party responsible for the order to the police on his motion to prohibit further search for liquor without warrants, insisted on explaining his position. He asserted the order was necessary to comply with the United States Constitution and there was no just reason for reconsidering it, except that the word "premises" should be changed to "homes."

Dr. S. T. Montgomery declared he believes he is as strong as any man for upholding the Constitution, but that all laws should be enforced alike, instead of only the liquor laws. With the change of "premises" to "homes," he thought the antisaloon interests would be satisfied, but that the order should be more specific in order that the police should fully understand it.

Dr. S. H. Briggs, superintendent of the California Anti-Saloon League, said the group he represented did not want to appear as in a controversy with the Police Commission. He also criticised the use of the terms "premises" and "liquor" in the order as being both too broad and too narrow, respectively. He said he had been asked if the Anti-Saloon League justifies searching homes without warrants.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

I DON'T know if anybody else is interested in this threatened war between China and Russia; but I am.

It will either make or break Russia. It will not have very much effect on China if she is licked. It may be the beginning of the last chapter of the white man's domination of the world should she win a pronounced victory.

Ir any event, it is an epochal event—even if it doesn't happen.

RED BADGE OF COURAGE

You hear a great deal of nonsense about the Chinese not being fighters. All people are fighters. Physical courage is a characteristic so common that no account of it is taken in military strategy. All armies are capable of the most incredible heroism. The difference between those who run and those who face the music is discipline. The essence of discipline is the firm knowledge that your comrade will stick right there with you.

FIGHTING HEARTS

In the light of modern military science the Mexican armies during the last revolution were jokes. Yet I saw humble little untrained people do feats of daring that took your breath away. For instance, I saw a funny little cavalryman ride out from a line—galloping straight, and all alone—into a storm of rifle fire; shoot at the long, blazing enemy line; thumb his nose at them and ride whooping back again.

THE MODERN BOY

The Los Angeles boys again swept the field in the Junior Olympics. There's no use saying otherwise; we are building up a new race type in California. And it's pretty fine stuff—both psychologically and physically.

In the noble good old days we hear so much about, boys of what we call "the educated classes" were very snooty about doing manual labor. The other day I saw most of the Berkeley football team, stripped to breechclouts, shoveling ice into fruit cars in Imperial Valley in a heat that, as Mr. Kipling says, "would make your blooming eyebrows crawl."

WHITE-COLLAR JOBS

Boys in these days are too smart and too level-headed to fool around with white-collar jobs when they can get real money by using their beef.

Their flesh was so hard that you couldn't drive a nail into it. Their skin was like satin. They looked like Vikings. And brethren, could the old-time Vikings come to life again with their wassail bowls and their mighty brawn, these boys could stand them on their heads. These football boys could lick the mighty knights of mid-age chivalry by handfuls at a time. This generation is the strongest and mightiest in the history of the world.

PUSH FOR KNIGHTHOOD

This isn't guesswork. Whenever they stage pageants in which armor is used, it is very difficult to find men small enough to squeeze into the tin clothes used by the old-time knights.

KEEP SLIM, LADIES!

While we are on Imperial Valley . . .

The greatest streak of luck ever encountered by California farmers was the flapper fad for boyish figures. Believe me, in this country we ought to be for the slim

BORDER LINE LURES VISITORS

Elk Lodges from East Trek to San Diego for Glimpse of Mexico Before Departing

With two special trains, a fleet of automobiles and various means of water transportation chartered, thousands of Elks last night were preparing to celebrate the last day of their order's sixty-fifth national convention today in San Diego and vicinity.

Two special trains were scheduled to leave the Santa Fe station shortly after 1 a.m. today bearing Eastern delegations to the border city. Included in the party were thirty-eight delegates from Boston, ninety-five from Brooklyn, 102 from the Bronx and ninety-three rom Queensboro.

In San Diego the southern city's local Elks' lodge will entertain the visitors. Automobile trips to Tia Juana and Agua Caliente are included in the itinerary.

THEY SEE CATALINA

Thirty-eight hundred visiting Elks yesterday invaded Catalina Island, making the trip aboard the Wrigley steamers Catalina and Avalon. Officers of the Girard Lodge and all others making the excursion were guests of San Pedro Lodge, No. 766. Secretary Robert Snodgrass acting as master of ceremonies.

Small contingents also visited the various units of the battle fleet lying at anchor in the harbor at San Pedro. The aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington and the battleship Colorado were the main points of interest.

The steamers Avalon and Catalina arrived at Avalon at noon, convoyed by the Goodyear blimp Volunteer and by a myriad of speed craft. At the dock the disembarking Elks were met by the Catalina

SEAWOMAN ADRIFT IN SKIFF TOWED TO SAFETY BY YACHT

Attempting to cross the channel from the mainland to Avalon, Catalina Island, in a fourteen-foot skiff loaded with camp supplies and two fox terriers, Margaret Gillatt, known along the Pacific Coast as able seawoman, was picked up adrift by E. G. Blair on the yacht Norma bound for San Clemente Island late Thursday night. The skiff's tiny three-horse-power outboard motor, with swells washing over the tiny craft's free-board, went dead in midchannel.

Miss Gillatt left San Pedro at 3 a.m. bound for Fourth of July cove on Catalina Island, where she is to take charge of the swimming, boating and hiking activities of the Harbor District Young Women's Christian Association Girls' Camp. She had worked for two weeks building her skiff and getting the equipment for the girls. In order to make camp in time she started out with her load at dawn, believing she could row, if necessary, but the sea was too heavy.

The Norma towed her to Pebbly Beach, from which point, a distance of three miles, Miss Gillatt rowed her craft into Avalon, arriving there at midnight, wet and near exhaustion. Undaunted she remained with her craft, bailed water and started down the Catalina coast at dawn determined to row the twenty-seven-mile stretch if the little motor again should give out.

Miss Gillatt holds a captain's license and has navigated practically every known craft from houseboats to schooner yachts during the past twenty years. During the disaster of the seven naval destroyers which went on the rocks off Point Arguello Island several years ago she figured in heroic rescue work.

GADD GETS PIPE FRANCHISE

Santa Monica Commissioners Sell Right for $5000; Attorney Admits Bell Use Possible

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, July 12.—The bitterly fought franchise to lay a pipeline through this city, asserted by protesting property owners to be mainly an undercover deal for carrying material in solution from the Bell cement deposit, north of Pacific Palisades, to the industrial section at El Segundo, was sold by the City Commissioners today to the Center Securities Company for $5000. The transaction was completed after formal opening of the only bid received, that of the Securities company, Peter Gadd's concern, and following a storm of protests from attorneys representing property owners and taxpayers.

A motion by Commissioner Helton was seconded by Commissioner Morton. Mayor Michel, the third commissioner, presiding over the council, voted "aye" with his two fellow-commissioners and the franchise was sold unanimously. City Attorney Coffin was instructed to draw up the ordinance and Gadd appeared personally to put up bond.

Thorwald Siegfried, one of the leaders in the fight of Pacific Palisades residents against the Bell deal, stated a pipeline laid under such a franchise as the one granted today to Gadd would be a public carrier and that the Bell interests could demand transport of their cement material on a rate established by the State Railroad Commission.

In reply, Moe Fogel, Santa Monica attorney representing Gadd's Center Securities Company, admitted the pipeline would be a public carrier under the franchise terms. This, he said, refuted charges made by the protestants that the franchise was for private gain and not of public benefit. He declared the public would benefit greatly through installation of the Gadd pipeline in that the Bell cement development, if allowed by Los Angeles, would have a means of transport which would save an enormous amount of trucking over the streets.

He added the declaration that "nothing could prevent" the Bell people from trucking their product if no other means of transport were available, if their application for an industrial zoning is granted.

Time limit specified in the franchise is twenty-five years, and the city reserves the right to align the pipeline, designating where it shall be laid. After the meeting Gadd declared he planned to go ahead with the work as soon as possible and that he believed very little of the pipe laying would necessitate tearing up city streets. He said he could transport vast yardage of earth far cheaper through a pipeline than with trucks.

SKY AND SEAS TO BE LINKED

Visiting Shipping Expert Forecasts Future

He Brings First Registry Made of Aircraft

Southern California Praised as Flying Center

Commercial aircraft in the immediate future will be linked definitely with the American merchant marine in world transport, in the opinion of John W. Cantillion, secretary of the American Bureau of Shipping, from New York, who yesterday completed a four-day survey of Southern California's aviation industry.

Mr. Cantillion announced that the American Bureau of Shipping, established since 1862 for registry and classification of the world's merchant fleets, has just completed organization of the American Bureau of Aircraft, to have the same functions for aircraft classification as the parent bureau. Capt. Charles A. McAllister, president of the American Bureau of Shipping, also will serve as executive head of the new organization.

FIRST REGISTRY

Mr. Cantillion brought here with him the first copy of the annual record of the American Bureau of Aircraft, wherein 3240 American licensed and identified aircraft are registered, with complete data as to owners, manufacturers, engines, propellers, capacity and service of the planes registered, together with their Department of Commerce and State numbers and home ports.

The pioneer document has been presented to Harry J. Summers, principal surveyor in Southern California for the American Bureau of Shipping, who has been Mr. Cantillion's host during his Southern California survey.

SOUTHLAND PRAISED

"Southern California is admittedly the white spot of the nation's aviation industry," declared Mr. Cantillion. "So many noteworthy enterprises in design and construction of aircraft have developed here, together with numerous outstanding air performances, that this area is established as the nerve center of the American air industry.

"It may seem strange that the American Bureau of Shipping has allied itself with aviation, but we believe that the air and the sea will be the two chief mediums of transport in the future. By a combination of transcontinental air-rail service, already established, with fast trans-Atlantic ships, one can travel from Los Angeles to Paris in eight days. We think this is only an indication of what the future holds in store for the American transportation industry."

VACATIONISTS VOCIFEROUS

The whole vacation colony of several thousand persons was on hand to greet the antlered herd and so wild was the cheering that the visitors were held for several minutes on the dock before the welcome subsided.

Among the delegations making the Catalina trip were those from the Bronx, Buffalo, Brooklyn, Washington, D. C., Montana, Iowa, Ohio, Alabama, Texas and Nevada.

Luncheon was ignored as cameras were brought into action and focused on pajama suits and multi-colored suspender jeans and sunback bathing suits. Two members of the San Fernando lodge started a near riot on the Avalon boardwalk by playing "East Side, West Side" on their guitars and offering to kiss the prettiest girl on Catalina.

KEY TO CASINO

The key to the new $2,000,000 casino was turned over to the Elks at the order of William Wrigley, Jr., who is a member of the Chicago lodge and a special dance attracted the attention of the wearers of the purple and white and their ladies.

While many of the Elks remained to finish the week's convention program today at San Diego, many eastern delegations entrained for home yesterday and thousands of others left the city in automobiles, many of them to visit various other Pacific Coast cities before returning home.

MOONSTONES FOR MEMBERS

Departing delegates took with them 2500 polished and mounted moonstones from Moonstone Beach, a gift of the Redondo Beach Elks' lodge. The stones, attached to an attractive booklet, were given lodge members who visited Redondo Beach.

Ninety-one members of the Western Slope Boys' Band, which was a feature of the Elks' convention and which won one of the prizes in the band contest, left for their homes last night aboard a special Union Pacific train. The second section of the band, numbering fifty, will remain in Southern California another week.

VERNAND'S FUNERAL TO BE MONDAY

Father of Detective Victim of Automobile Accident; Driver Exonerated

Funeral services for J. L. Vernand, father of Captain of Detectives Charles A. Vernand, attached to University division, will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the undertaking parlors of L. P. Utter 4254 South Broadway. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Memorial Cemetery, a police bulletin issued yesterday announced.

Mr. Vernand, who was 68 years of age, was found by a Coroner's jury at the inquest yesterday to have failed to use sufficient caution when he was crossing the street near the corner of Seventy-seventh street and Avalon Boulevard Wednesday night and Clarence Van Oss, who was held on a suspicion-of-manslaughter charge, after his car struck Mr. Vernand, was exonerated.

Van Oss said he did not see Mr. Vernand in time to stop his car. Van Oss lives at 4406½ Central avenue. Mr. Vernand was starting for his home at 653 East Seventy-seventh street when the accident happened.

Besides Capt. Vernand, Mr. Vernand leaves five other sons, two of whom are members of the fire department, and a daughter.

In answer, he said, he took the position that there should be the strictest enforcement of law in the home and all those who violate the law should be punished.

"With those two words left out of the order," he said, "we have no objection to it whatever. We stand with you squarely against violation of law in enforcement. We hold that where liquor is stored the home becomes a warehouse and where sold it becomes a store."

LEAGUE SATISFIED

Attorney Ben F. Geis, general counsel for the California Anti-Saloon League, explained that if he caught the drift of things there was nothing more for him to say. By changing the word "premises" to "homes" and broadening the scope of the order to cover all laws, he said, the league would be satisfied. He was applauded. He told of his experiences as Assistant District Attorney enforcing prohibition laws and the subterfuge of bootleggers using homes to dispense their products. He quoted from a ruling of United States Judge Dooling that "it is not a home where the law is violated."

"No one will deny," he said, "that the search and seizure law is a general law. We must have general application of the law and apply it to anything. Confining enforcement to liquor laws is unconstitutional. With the change you propose in your order to the police, our thunder is gone. You are then doing what is right under the law. When your officers are sworn in they swear to uphold the Constitution of the United States. If they violate their oaths then bring them up and discharge them. You are better off if you vacate that order entirely and compel your officers to refrain from violating the law."

Attorney Geis declared the California Anti-Saloon League is the most maligned and misunderstood organization in the State. Contrary to general opinion, he said, the organization believes in enforcement of the law, but within the law. He declared the bootlegger the most dangerous criminal the community ever had in its midst because his traffic breaks up homes and debauches the young. Opening the door to bootleggers, he held, was aiding a greater criminal rather than a lesser one.

DEFINE THE HOME

"Define the home," he said, "as the place where the law is not being violated. Give it a definition. Please don't open the door and just leave it open."

Thorpe read the amendment he proposed, copied from a section of the Volstead law, providing that the police authorities must observe the Constitution of the United States and that of the State, which was applauded.

Attorney J. W. Joss, former deputy District Attorney, suggested that the order as amended should provide specifically for confining the actions of the police within the law.

Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, president of the California W.C.T.U., asserted that organization stood absolutely for the Constitution of the United States. She admitted she had opposed the order passed on motion of Thorpe, but that she was back of it now with the changes suggested.

Attorney George W. Scott, for the Hotel and Apartment-House Owners' Association, told of visits to hotels and apartments by officers without warrants, and said the police needed instruction on the proper procedure for enforcing the laws.

State Senator Rochester expressed surprise that Messrs. Briggs and Geis favored the commission's order with its proposed amendments. He asserted that for six years they had fought efforts of the State Legislature to pass measures to the same effect. What they then fought they now advocate, he asserted. He said he was happy to see them in the fold as believing in the enforcement of all the Constitution.

Rochester read a message he had received from the Anti-Saloon League of Washington in which the league opposed entering homes in search for liquor without warrants, on the ground that the Volstead Act itself was passed for the protection of the home, and it would ill become anybody to violate the sanctity of the home in enforcement. He gave a brief review of the efforts to pass two search and seizure bills and took occasion to score Anti-Saloon League heads for placing in the category of "wets" all who opposed them. He urged the need of educating the people to temperance as the best method of getting rid of the bootlegger.

Chief Davis asked him if the commission's order would not enable the bootlegger to operate with impunity. Rochester pointed out that they could be apprehended as felons. The Chief asserted that already since the order had been in effect arrests for liquor violations had dropped 80 per cent.

Saul J. Klein, representing California Progressives, said the public is not interested in suppression of liquor, but all crimes, including the swindlers in the city, who, he asserted are thicker than the bootleggers. He said all progressives are opposed to violation of the law to enforce the law. He lauded the open forum as the means of throwing light on the entire situation and Briggs for approving the commission's order, as it was proposed to amend it.

Lew Head, secretary of the Progressives, indorsed Klein's talk. He was followed by Attorney Leo Gallagher, representing the International Labor Defense, who charged the police with violating the Constitution.

OPPOSES SEARCHING

J. Bruce Goddard, president of the Co-operative Apartment-House and Hotel Association, scored the asserted practice of officers entering rooms and asking couples for marriage licenses. He was opposed to such "searching expeditions" without warrants, he said, but on the other hand, offered co-operation with the police under proper legal procedure to round up all law violators.

Deputy City Attorney Eagan explained that the State laws made it difficult to obtain search warrants because of the necessity of fully describing the premises to be searched and the persons to be arrested.

Attorney Nathan Newby approved the amended order as read by Commissioner Thorpe, providing for discharge of officers violating the Constitution.

Chief Davis questioned Thorpe about the discharge of such officers, asking whether it wouldn't be better first to use disciplinary action. Thorpe agreed. Thorpe then read a section of Oklahoma's laws providing that a home in that State cannot be invaded by an officer for liquor even with a search warrant.

Chief Davis then asked for an appropriation of $5000 for enforcement of the liquor laws, stating that there is no fund for the obtaining of evidence since July 1. He said the department desires to enforce the liquor laws legally, but that it is necessary to get evidence. He declared he wants to eliminate the bootlegger from the city and that Los Angeles would set a mark for the rest of the country.

There were cries from the audience to rid the city of all law violators, as well as the bootleggers.

William F. Edwards, stating he represented the California Protective Research Corporation, spoke in behalf of a drive on bootleggers, declaring that fingerprinting of them had resulted in showing that 99 per cent were wanted for crimes.

Thorpe insisted the whole question was whether the Constitution is to be enforced or ignored.

Mrs. Hattie M. Doughty, president of the Los Angeles Women's Christian Temperance Union, urged that those skilled in interpretation of the laws should be called in to aid with their counsel.

Adjournment was taken until 2 p.m.

DOLLAR A POUND TOO MUCH

Owner of Dogs Gets Assessment Cut

Mrs. Mary Mancusi and Hassan

NO MATTER how long a dog's pedigree is, the dog is not worth $1 a pound, Mrs. Mary Wells Mancusi contended before the Board of Supervisors, sitting as a board of tax equalization yesterday.

Mrs. Mancusi, who lives at 401 South Gramercy Place, took four Great Dane dogs in payment for a debt some time ago. These dogs, being pedigreed, were assessed at $100 each.

That was all right last year. This year, when the deputy assessor called, Mrs. Mancusi was asked:

"Any dogs?"

"Yes," the taxpayer admitted.

"How many?"

"Twelve."

"What kind?"

"Great Danes."

And so the deputy assessor, seeing that Mrs. Mancusi's four Great Danes had been assessed at $100 each last year, concluded that the dog fancier was getting a break if the twelve were listed at $800. But Mrs. Mancusi thought otherwise.

"Eight of those dogs are the smallest kind of puppies," she indignantly told Supervisor Graves. "That is, they are as small as a Great Dane puppy can be. All of my dogs only weigh 800 pounds. And a dollar a pound is too much for dogs."

Supervisor Graves called Supervisor Beaty into conference and an order of the board of equalization was entered, reducing the assessment to $300.

Dog owners and other taxpayers have only one more day—Monday—to get their complaints before the board of equalization.

OFFICIAL OF GOODRICH ON VISIT HERE

Vice-president Graham of Tire Company Pleased With Plant's Progress

T. G. Graham, first vice-president of the B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, O., is at the Biltmore making his first visit to Los Angeles and the company branch plant.

T. G. GRAHAM

"This is the first time I have been west of Denver and naturally I am more than pleased with what I find here, bearing out all the good things I have heard about Los Angeles," he said. "Our plant here is a pronounced success and I hope that developments may cause our company to establish a abric-manufacturing unit here, but no definite provision has been made to that end as yet.

"We are completing a plant in Thomaston, Ga., which will supply 75 per cent of our fabric for tires and represents an investment of $7,500,000.

"Almost the entire output of the local factory is being marketed here on the Pacific Coast and we are employing 1100 men at present, which speaks pretty good for the automobile business here."

Mr. Graham supervises the manufacturing end of the parent company. He left Columbus Wednesday, coming via the Transcontinental Air Transport, arriving here Thursday at 5:30 p.m. He will be here until Thursday.

Story of Knife Wins Divorce

Teasing his wife with a butcher knife was only one of a number of marital irregularities of Emery J. Swartz, according to Mrs. Florence Swartz, who appeared yesterday in Superior Judge Henderson's court seeking a divorce. The judge granted her plea.

Among the things attributed to Swartz by his wife's complaint was the assertion that he would shout, curse, failed to find steady employment, would stealthily enter the house after an absence and on one occasion told her she was the laziest woman he ever saw.

Quarter-Million Tax Lien Filed

An income tax lien of more than $250,000 was filed yesterday in United States District Court by Collector of Internal Revenue Welch against William M. Graham.

It is asserted that Mr. Graham owes $287,691.15 additional taxes for 1919. Graham's address was given as in care of the Good Samaritan Hospital.

COURT SITS IN STORE ON THEFT CASE

Shoplifting Accusation Tried at Asserted Scene; Main Defendant Missing

Superior Judge Fricke yesterday convened court in a downtown department store where the jury could view the scene of an asserted shoplifting episode that resulted in Mrs. Mary Becker and Grace Walker being brought to trial on a charge of grand theft.

The two are accused of stealing $260 worth of merchandise from the store April 24, last. Madelin Mart, a third defendant in the case, failed to appear for trial and a bench warrant was issued for her arrest.

Mrs. Becker and Miss Walker deny any knowledge of the asserted shoplifting and assert they merely went into the store with Mrs. Mart.

Sadie Rogers, a detective for the store, was one of the principal witnesses yesterday for the State. She declared she saw Mrs. Mart take several articles and place them in a "shoplifters' pocket" in her dress.

The case is scheduled to go to the jury today.

Death of Prof. Crandall, who was head of the plant-breeding department of the Illinois educational institution, was not unexpected. He was a member of the University Club, American Association for the Advancement of Science and other scientific societies. He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Toomey, Elizabeth Crandall and Mrs. T. A. Seeley of Bangor, Me.

Ex-Policemen Sentenced in Bribery Case

Orion Elliott and Leslie P. Lemmer, former Los Angeles police officers, yesterday were sentenced by Superior Judge Wood to serve from one to ten years each in San Quentin upon their conviction of two counts of bribery.

Sentence was imposed only on one count, the court granting a new trial on the other charge. It is expected the defendants will appeal from the sentence.

Elliott and Lemmer were accused of asking and receiving a bribe of $20 from Leo Holland, a salesman, to refrain from prosecuting him on a traffic charge. They were convicted at their second trial, the jury in the first case failing to reach an agreement.

Financier Loses Ring to Bandits

Jacob Hertz, a financier living at 2848½ Buckingham Road, was the victim of a daring daylight robbery at his home yesterday, according to a police report. Two men, who held up Hertz at the point of a revolver as he was removing his automobile from the garage at the rear of his residence, escaped with a diamond ring valued at $1100, the victim told police.

The two men, of Italian and German descent, respectively, according to the victim's description, appeared from behind the garage as Hertz backed his machine into the driveway. After taking the ring, they escaped in a small red roadster, according to the report.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR PICNIC OF CANADIANS

With the promise of Mayor Porter to deliver a speech of welcome and good-will, final preparations for the first outdoor midsummer basket picnic and reunion of Canadians, to be held the 20th inst., at Sycamore Grove Park, practically have been completed. The affair, which promises to attract between 3000 to 5000 resident Canadians from within and around Los Angeles, is being held under the direction of the Canadian Club, organized last winter under the auspices of the Canadian Tourists' Society, which organization holds the annual midwinter conclave and outdoor reunion every February in Los Angeles.

Time Granted Bomb Suspect

Preliminary hearing of Perry E. Larson, accused of bombing the Los Angeles Grain Exchange, was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard until the 22nd inst. The delay was granted at the request of M. M. Norcop, defense attorney, who told the court he had just been retained in the case and was not familiar with it.

Larson, according to Dep. Dist. Atty. Burgess, told police after his arrest that he exploded a dynamite bomb in the office to prevent a shortage in his accounts being discovered by auditors.

Samuel W. McNabb, United States District Attorney for Southern California, will leave today for Seattle, where he and his family will spend a month's vacation.

PACT SIGHTED IN ART SUIT

Hole and Ratzkowski May Settle it Out of Court; Princess Sails Today to Testify

Following a conference of several hours yesterday by attorneys, Jules Ratzkowski, Parisian art collector, plaintiff in an action for damages against W. J. Hole, millionaire art connoisseur, and in turn sued by Hole in a cross-complaint, agreed to a continuance of the case until the 19th inst., at which time the principals again will appear before Superior Judge Archbald and the actions of both parties may be dropped, it was intimated.

The conference began soon after the morning session of court, attorneys at that time requesting Judge Archbald to order a thirty-minute recess for the purpose. Re-entering the courtroom late in the afternoon they stipulated to a continuance and other matters which they expect may result in a settlement of the difference between Hole and Ratzkowski.

EXCHANGE POSSIBLE

According to the stipulation made between Attorney Crump for Hole and Attorney Valles for Ratzkowski, the litigants in the meantime will attempt to effect the exchange of certain articles in Hole's possession with which he is not satisfied for certain other pieces of art owned by Ratzkowski.

Coincident with yesterday's developments, Ratzkowski made known that he has received a cablegram from Paris to the effect that his wife is accompanying to Los Angeles the Princess Fernande De Conde, from whom he asserts he purchased the art collection forming the basis of the suit. The Princess and Mrs. Ratzkowski are scheduled to board the steamship Mauretania at Cherbourg today, arriving here on the 22nd inst., Ratzkowski said.

BASIS OF CONFLICT

The art collection, comprising articles asserted by Ratzkowski to have been purchased from Princess De Conde and once to have been a part of an extensive collection in the Chateau de Biarges in France, was purchased by Hole for $50,000 in cash and Riverside ranch land. It was valued by Ratzkowski at $200,000.

The art collector filed suit against Hole for $89,978 damages, declaring the ranch land he received was not worth what it was represented to be worth. A cross-complaint for $150,000 was filed against Ratzkowski by Hole, who asserted the collection was not genuine and not worth more than $50,000.

During the trial the art objects have reposed in Judge Archbald's courtroom.

More Steamers Go on Catalina Run Next Week

Increased steamer service to and from Catalina Island begins Monday, the 15th inst., it was announced yesterday by J. N. Stewart, vice-president of the Santa Catalina Island Company. Tremendous increase of business is stated as the reason, this year so far showing 40,000 more passengers than in last year's first half.

Effective Monday there will be five sailings a day, except Sunday, each way between Wilmington and Avalon. Steamers will leave Wilmington at 9:45 and 10:15 a.m., 12 noon, 5:15 and 6:45 p.m. Returning steamers will leave the island at 7:30 and 9 a.m., 2:45, 4 and 4:30 p.m. On Sundays, boats are to leave Wilmington at 9:45 and 10:15 a.m. and 6 p.m. and from the island at 7:30 a.m., 4, 4:30 and 5:30 p.m.

"By this increased schedule we hope to satisfy the public so that they can go to Catalina any time they take a notion," said Mr. Stewart. He said that July so far had shown a great increase over last July; June showed a 33 per cent increase, and that during the popular vacation month of August they expect to exceed last year's record by 16,000 passengers.

Many new attractions at Catalina are credited with the increase of visitors.

Judge Ballard gave him until the 19th inst. to bring the witnesses here for the forgery hearing.

HUSBAND FLEES

According to Hollywood detectives who were called to the scene by Orel Hayman, a 14-year-old neighbor of the Spinos, the husband ran out of the house after the explosion and was found in the home of a friend at 1430 Gordon street.

Investigation disclosed that the boys were asleep in a bedroom adjoining a bathroom that is said to have contained the still. Mrs. Spino told police a wall of flame swept over the room, as revealed by the family. Spino, police charge, deserted his wife and baby and disappeared from the house and a few seconds after the blast. Scores of neighbors awakened by the explosion had surrounded the house by the time police arrived. A search of the house, the officers revealed, disclosed the barrel which they believe to have been part of a still and a small quantity of liquor.

FLAMES SPREAD

The explosion ignited the liquor and flames spread throughout the house.

Spino was taken to the Hollywood police station and booked on a Wright Act charge and then removed to the receiving hospital, where nurses said his condition is serious.

Meanwhile the man is booked at Hollywood station under the name of Spino, he is held at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital under the name of Angelo D'Augustino, which police say is used at the Van Ness house, but which it is reported by investigators is his wife's maiden name.

The home will have to be rebuilt, building inspectors reported.

Power Produced in South Africa at Same Cost as Here, Says Edison Official

Tremendous electrical power ...ised by the sixty miles of gold mine... along the reef of Rand, South Africa, is being produced at about the same cost as that in Southern California, it was pointed out yesterday by Roy V. Mr. Reppy was in London during England's recent election, and declared that despite the radical change in government to the Labor party there, business is continuing uninterrupted and the outlook is bright. RUNAWAY CAR KILLS ITS OWNER

Motorist Rides to Death While Trying to Halt Wild Trip Down Incline

Leaping on the running-board of his automobile, which had started to roll down a hill from its parking-place at Floral Drive and Hazard street, D. Narens, 46 years of age, of 694 East Thirty-ninth street, rode to his death early yesterday morning when he failed to stop the car's careening flight.

Investigating deputy Sheriffs reported that Narens evidently had parked his car and was leaving it when the brakes slipped and it started to roll down the hill backward. His efforts to stop it were fruitless and he was killed when the car overturned at the foot of the hill.

Investigators also reported the death of Fiore Colombo, who was injured in an automobile accident recently when struck by a car reported to have been driven by Doyle P. Finley of 2636 Juliet street.

Charging another man enticed his wife away from him and their three children after seventeen years of married life, L. B. Harland was in Superior Judge Keetch's court yesterday seeking $75,000 damages from John Mitchell, reputed to be wealthy.

The wife in the case is Mrs. Clyde Harland, and according to the husband, Mitchell promised Mrs. Harland he would obtain a divorce and marry her.

Mitchell was in court prepared to contest the case on his answer, in which he denies Harland's charges.

Trial of the case will be resumed this morning.

Plaintiff Drops Jack Holt Suit

The suit of P. W. Smyley against Charles J. (Jack) Holt, motion-picture cowboy, was dismissed yesterday in United States District Court on motion of attorneys for the plaintiff.

Smyley asserted that he was taken into custody in August, 1927, and subjected to an examination by a Deputy District Attorney but later was released without any charge being filed against him by Holt. After a consultation of attorneys the case was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff, to whom costs were assessed.

JUVENILE HALL ENJOYS EVENING OF GAYETY

Young county charges at Juvenile Hall yesterday gayly discussed the entertainment which livened the institution at 1369 Henry street on the preceding evening. This included two playlets for children, "The Blue Prince" and "Tom Piper and the Pig," presented by Mrs. Alice Todd, dramatic teacher, and her Juvenile Repertory Players. Dancers, violinists, soloists and a whistler furnished music between the acts. The entertainment was arranged by Miss Faith Chevaillier, called "the fairy godmother of the children and aged." In this she had the co-operation of Superintendent Ostrander and Recreation Director Buchanan of Juvenile Hall, where dependent and delinquent children are harbored.

ZIEGFELD LOOKS WESTWARD

New Beauties Picked in Hollywood

AS FURTHER evidence that the most beautiful women now are to be found in Hollywood, Samuel Goldwyn yesterday, at the request of Florenz Ziegfeld, selected four American girls for Ziegfeld's stage show, "Show Girl." Doraine Lee, Evelyn Pierce, Ruth Morgan and Collette Merton will leave Los Angeles within forty-eight hours for New York City.

"Mr. Ziegfeld has been forced to look to Hollywood instead of New York for the most beautiful women in America," said Mr. Goldwyn. "It is a well-known fact that nearly every feminine screen star came originally from a Ziegfeld chorus. But today the tables are turned. The most beautiful women in the world are in Hollywood and Mr. Ziegfeld recognizes the fact.

"I have selected what I believe are the four most beautiful girls in Hollywood, according to the Ziegfeld standards. They will leave at once for New York City."

After appearing in "Show Girl" the girls probably will return to Hollywood to appear in the first all-talking, all-color picture which Mr. Ziegfeld and Mr. Goldwyn will make together.

THREE-CAR COLLISION HURTS TWO

Mishap Wrecks Autos; Woman in Second Crash May Not Survive

Three automobiles were wrecked simultaneously yesterday morning at the top of Domingues viaduct, on Anaheim Boulevard, when a machine driven by Edgar J. Laughlin, 29 years of age, a garage operator living at 2225 East Anaheim Boulevard, Long Beach, collided with a car driven by Edison Renard, 19, a mechanic residing at 815 Marne avenue, Long Beach. The two cars, in collision, struck a third machine driven by Ray See, of 1117 East Fifteenth street, Long Beach.

See escaped without injury. Renard, taken to the Seaside Hospital, Long Beach, was found to have a fractured pelvis and a broken right leg, while Laughlin, at St. Mary's Hospital, Long Beach, is suffering from a broken left arm and numerous cuts and bruises. Dr. A. H. Nerad, Wilmington police surgeon, who gave the two injured men first aid, reported to the police that Laughlin had been drinking.

In another collision yesterday Mrs. Robert F. Crockett, 60, of 825 Union street, San Diego, received injuries, which police surgeons say may result in death. She was in a car driven by her husband when it collided with one driven by C. W. Hunter, 2126 Magnolia street, at Sixteenth and Alameda street. Mrs. Crockett was unconscious with a possible skull fracture when taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Both drivers were served with citations for reckless driving by Policeman Rouch of the Newton-street division.

When a red-line car crashed into and capsized his truck last night, H. Blag of 1442 Mayfield Road, was saved from injury by his load of dirt. This spilled, cushioning his fall. Blag was driving in the same direction as a Pacific Electric car, when he turned in front of it at Venice and Sawtelle boulevards. The truckman was dug out from the dirt by spectators. Three others on the street car were not so lucky, and had to be treated at Culver City Community Hospital. They are Motorman J. R. Leslie, Mrs. Eliza Essere, 2215 Baxter street, and Mrs. C. D. Doran, Venice, all cut by flying glass.

Ex-Official of Federal Bank Expires Here

William Barnes Newsome, formerly vice-chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Tex., died yesterday at his home at the Gaylord Apartments, 3355 Wilshire Boulevard, from a heart attack. Mr. Newsome, who was 77 years of age, had been in failing health for several years and had virtually retired from active participation in his extensive business interests, which comprised mainly flour and cotton mills.

With his wife, Mr. Newsome had come to this city only a week ago to spend the summer. His son, Tom W. Newsome, had also come here and was living at the Gaylord Apartments. Besides his wife and son he leaves a daughter, Mrs. G. H. Wooten of Austin, Tex.

This afternoon Mr. Newsome's body will be taken from the funeral chapel of W. A. Brown, 1815 South Flower street, and put on a train for Dallas, where the funeral will be conducted next Tuesday.

Chandler, associated with the United States Treasury Department, and Mrs. Chandler, have just arrived here from their home in Milwaukee to spend the next two or three years, following Mr. Chandler's transfer to this city as an Internal Revenue agent to investigate income-tax returns. For the next several months they will occupy the home of Mrs. Chandler's sister, Mrs. Frank Fell of 363 West Pioneer Drive, Glendale. Mrs. Fell left yesterday for an extended visit in the East. THREE CONVENTIONS BOOKED BY CHAMBER

Three more conventions were booked yesterday to meet in Los Angeles, according to a report received by Secretary-Manager A. G. Arnoll of the Chamber of Commerce from Harry Main, manager of the organization's convention department. The two organizations that will hold their annual conclaves here next year are the National Council of Catholic Women, meeting in June and drawing an attendance of 400 women, and the Grand Guardian Council of the Order of Job's Daughters, meeting May 23-24, 1930, with an attendance of 500. The Supreme Lodge of the Fraternal Brotherhood which will bring 100 visitors to the city, will gather here in June of 1933.

OLD SALTS TURN LANDLUBBERS

California Climate Finally Gets 'Em

Replica of Old Ironsides

Morris Peterson, left, sailor for fifty-two years, who made this exact replica of Old Ironsides as well as many other miniature ships; Miss Lee Roth and Shorty English, Peterson's old sailing partner.

"SHIP AHOY! What ship's that?"

"Ship Nancy Ann; three decks and no bottom!"

"Whar ye bound?"

"Hongkong, China, with a load o' windbags! Come aboard!"

And so it goes, this glib, nonsensical repartee, between Morris Peterson and Shorty English, two old salts who sailed the seven seas together for fifty-two years and who turned up in Los Angeles yesterday as landlubbers won away from allegiance to the bring deep by the Southland's matchless climate.

For some time now, since clipper ships went out of fashion, the two sea partners have contented themselves with swapping memorable narratives of nor'westers and full sails. Nor does time hang heavy on their hands, especially Peterson's; for that old hearty busies himself with the making of miniatures.

Learning, as a boy, to construct them to scale, Peterson has kept at the fascinating work all these years; and the latest product of his handicraft is an exact replica of "Old Ironsides."

HOAX DISCUSSED IN COLLINS SUIT

Hutchens Boy's Deception Subject of Argument

Witnesses Tell of Seeming Truth of His Story

Capt. Jones Lays Damage Action to Politics

Arthur Hutchens, Jr., the 9-year-old boy who said he was the missing Walter Collins, so he could get a free trip to California, was the subject of considerable legal argument in Superior Judge Vicini's court yesterday, where the $55,000 damage suit of Mrs. Christine Collins against Chief of Police Davis and Police Captain Jones is on trial.

Several witnesses testified, saying Hutchens had convinced them he was Collins by giving intimate details of his life in Los Angeles. One woman, Mrs. Louise Wightman, said that even though Hutchens's parents had come from De Kalb, Ill., to identify their son and take him home, she still was convinced the boy was Walter Collins.

Capt. Jones, one of the defendants, explaining his answers to Attorney S. S. Hahn, for the plaintiff, said Mrs. Collins told him she had forgiven him for his mistake and that she understood the difficulties of a man in his position.

"Mrs. Collins never would have brought this suit if she had not been induced to do so by men who had a political interest in injuring Chief Davis and the police administration," said Capt. Jones, who is acting as his own attorney.

Capt. Jones said the "men behind the damage suit," are "Rev. Bob Shuler, Rev. Gus Briegleb, and Police Commissioner Thorpe."

Testimony in the case practically was finished last night and, except for a few questions, Monday's session of the court will be occupied by arguments of the attorneys, and Capt. Jones. Chief Davis has not appeared at any session of the court, his interests being represented by his attorney, Frank Hutton.

NEW BENCH ANXIOUS SEAT

Gov. Young to Withhold Appointments for Present to Newly Created Court of Appeals

Appointment by Gov. Young of three justices to the bench of the newly created Fourth District Court of Appeals at Fresno will not be made immediately, the Governor said here yesterday. The law creating the court does not become effective until August 14, next and there is no need for immediate action, he explained.

Since the sessions of the court will be held in three different cities in the Fourth District, it is probable, attorneys point out, that the Governor will draft attorneys or judges from three separate counties in the district for duty in the new Appellate Court. Among outstanding candidates for the posts are said to be Superior Judge J. L. Strother of Fresno, Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner of San Bernardino, and Superior Judge Spencer M. Marsh of San Diego.

Appointees to the bench of the new high court will be required to run for re-election at the general election in 1930, it is pointed out.

Wife Also Has Her 'Lucky Day'

Walter A. Beswick may have considered May 13, 1927, a lucky day for himself, but his wife, Netta H. Beswick, had hers yesterday in court when she was granted a decree of divorce by Superior Judge Yankwich.

According to Mrs. Beswick's testimony, she came home and found a letter from her husband, entitled "Lucky Day." It said in effect:

"I am out. Have moved and am glad of it. All I hope is that I never see or hear from you again as long as I live."

"We'll make this day lucky for you, madam," said Judge Yankwich as he signed the decree.

BRUSH FIRE RAGING NEAR CULVER CITY

Baldwin Hills Swept by Flames That Defy Efforts of Force of Thirty

Fire last night was sweeping unchecked across the Baldwin Hills in county territory near Culver City, and at a late hour had burned over between 150 and 200 acres.

The fire was discovered in late afternoon and still was going strong late last night, despite the efforts of thirty fire fighters called out by the county fire dispatcher, who also sent two tank trucks to the scene.

Firemen reported that no buildings were menaced with the possible exception of those on the University division pistol range. The flames centered around the well-known "57" sign set in stones.

Radio Dealers at Convention Enjoy Barbecue

With more than 200 present, the annual convention of Sparton radio dealers of Southern California met yesterday as guests of Walter M. Pagan, president of Pacific Wholesale, Inc., at the Uplifters' Ranch.

A feature of the gathering was the presence of Capt. William Sparks, president of the Sparks-Withington Company, which manufactures the Sparton radios. Sparks is said to be the first major radio executive to visit Southern California.

Speakers pointed out the progress of the past year and the record sales increase of that period. Addresses also stressed the bright future of radio for the coming year. Capt. Sparks told the story of Sparton radios and Mr. Pagan summed up the achievements of the past year.

Entertainment features included an exhibition drill by the Elks'-American Legion Zouave drill team under the command of Capt. Sparks and an old-time Spanish barbecue completed the program.

Other speakers were C. W. Griffin, sales manager, Pacific Wholesale, Inc.; Mat Schuster, factory representative; Leigh Borden, Pacific Coast representative, Sparks-Withington Company, and Donald Keith, vice-president, Pacific Wholesale, Inc.

Today's Bible Text

Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. Colossians II:8.

IN SUSPENSE

It seems that the ensembles for men as provided in the fall fashions will include a pair of silk suspenders.

LADIES MUST FLY

A Man who promised his bride a plane before they were wedded has welched on his word and now the wife seeks a separation. She wants to fly from her husband.

BIGGER BUSINESS

Although many souls persist in looking at the dark side of the picture it is significant that official reports of 315 different industries in the domain of big business show earnings of approximately 40 per cent in the first half of the year above those of the same period in the previous year. It is quite possible that things have gone harshly with some of the smaller stores and factories, but there is more business than ever in the nation and the profits are heavy. Perhaps the right man isn't always getting them, but there they are.

SOCIETY IS AFLOAT

The monitor Amphitrite, once a government war vessel and later a pleasure craft in Florida waters, is now doing service as a floating country club on Long Island Sound. Members of Gotham's smart set who are detained in the big city during the torrid season are making much use of the craft and it has become quite a fashion center for the elect. Maybe they play bridge and poker, but it is not a promiscuous gambling club. If it were the outfit might be pinched. As it is the topnotchers are enjoying their water within shooting distance of the Battery.

SEX APPEAL AND BUSINESS

Delegates to the convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs seemed to be of the opinion that sex appeal really had no weight in the world of commerce and trade. Which would seem to prove that they are not as wise as they look. They held that the average man was not to be swayed or influenced by vampirish methods and that the sedate and sensible woman of intelligence and experience is the one that puts the deal across. The men folks may hope that this is so, but they know better. They don't all grow up at once.

THE ALASKA FLYERS

Alaska is finding great use for planes in negotiating her white distances. Gov. Parks is able to fly from Juneau to San Francisco in the span of a single day. Under a new governmental policy at least 30 per cent of the road construction fund is used for new airports. Any place with a population of more than eighty souls can have an airport by covering half the cost. Natives who have never seen a railroad or street car or traveled in an automobile have ridden in planes. The flying machine covers many of the acute problems of transportation. Alaska is coming into the picture on wings of power and action.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

The politicians in power in Greece are the wise boys. They don't want to grant full suffrage to all women, but they are afraid to say so. So they temporize. With a flourish Premier Venizelos asks that municipal franchise be granted to women. They are concerned and interested in their city affairs and should have a voice and vote. But in the mire of national politics? No! That is no domain for a lady. But if they will participate let it be those of years and venerable judgment, who can contribute to the solution of problems from the standpoint of experience. Beautiful women under 35 will not be given the vote. They are too precious in the home and in society. They should not be encumbered with the franchise. But the more venerable dames to whom beauty is denied might bring something of service to politics and, therefore, should be urged to vote. Under these conditions it is not imagined that there will be any great rush for registration. If a woman virtually has to admit that she is over 35 there will be no rush of skirts to the polls.

A QUADRUPLE VICTORY

By walking off with national championships in both senior and junior divisions, with both second places, and with nine of the ten gold medals awarded, the youthful athletes of this section covered themselves with glory in the finals of the 1929 Junior Olympic Games conducted at Atlantic City Thursday and participated in by boys from all parts of the country. The four top places, in fact, came to Los Angeles and its immediate suburbs. That this was no accident is attested by the fact that last year also Southern California boys took both first places.

This quadruple victory is particularly important not because it again directs the attention of the world to California as a land of outdoor sports, not because it calls attention to the fact that the World Olympics will be held here in 1932, not because it gives California generally some valuable advertising, but because it was reached through the participation of 34,000 Southern California schoolboys in a program of mass athletics intended for their general physical development, and not primarily for the development of champions.

So far as the championships are concerned, these could have been won by picking out a score of last year's star performers at various schools and giving them intensive training—with no benefit whatever to the nonparticipating thousands. But Robert San Jose of San Pedro is the champion of the boys between 14 and 16 and Vane Baker of Huntington Park is champion of the boys under 14, only after winning a series of eliminative and regional competitions in which they were pitted against practically all the athletically inclined youth of this end of the State. The second places in these events were taken, respectively, by Fernando Ramos and Jerry Deal, both of Los Angeles, who also came to the top in the same way.

Another point in connection with the Junior Olympics as they have been developed is that they tend to bring out all-'round ability rather than ability in a narrow specialty. The five events chosen for the boys to be rated upon give tests of speed, of strength, of skill, of ability and of co-ordination, without providing any test that could be overtiring or produce injury to any healthy boy. They are the seventy-five-yard dash, chinning the bar, basketball throw, standing broad jump and baseball throw for distance.

This program, with the emphasis placed on 100 per cent participation, rather than upon individual excellence, may now be said to be thoroughly established in Southern California, as a result of only two seasons' trial. "Athletics for everybody," instead of supertraining for the specially gifted, has caught on at the schools at a surprising rate; and in counties representing about half the area of Southern California, every school took part this year.

The Times, which has sponsored the competitions in eight Southern California counties, is naturally gratified with the results of this undertaking—now no longer an experiment—for promotion of physical well-being of our youth, not merely at the winning of the championships by these local boys, but at the widespread participation, the general interest, the spread of the gospel of the outdoor life. It is incidentally glad also that California has again been advertised as a land where youngsters grow vigorous in body and mind.

WE HANG IT UP AGAIN

Pilots Loren W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart take their stand today as heroes de luxe in the eyes of the air minded. They take their stand once more on terra firma after being out of all contact with it for the amazing period of 246 hours and 43 minutes, thus hanging up a record for endurance in a refueled airplane that makes all previous records appear almost insignificant. Indeed, they were so long in the air that some thought they intended to duplicate the miracle of the prophet, Elijah.

While millions all over the country hail the feat of the men at the control stick and their self-reconditioned biplane, their achievement naturally is greeted most vociferously in Los Angeles and Culver City, the scene of their triumph. There is truly justification for the exultant boast of William Gibbs McAdoo, owner of the Angeleno, "This flight proves the supremacy of Los Angeles in the world of aviation."

Their flight proves three things beyond dispute: that human endurance is equal to any test the future of commercial aviation may impose on it; that airplane engines are now so near mechanical perfection that few failures of flight in the future need be feared from their breakdown, and that Los Angeles possesses the best atmospheric flying conditions of any spot on the continent.

The first endurance record was made over the Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport when the Army trimotored Fokker, Question Mark, remained in the air for nearly 151 hours. Three months later the two Texans, Robbins and Kelly, at Fort Worth stretched the time to 172 hours and 32 minutes. Newcombe and Mitchell of Cleveland capped this record almost immediately by adding another hour and a half. And now at Culver City Mendell and Reinhart have left all these records glimmering by holding the Angeleno aloft for more than ten calendar days.

Evidently those who want to make a record for being up in the air better come to Southern California. It is here that the records start and finish. There is no question mark about the capacity of the Angeleno. And no better air to be up in.

A word of praise is also due the refueling plane and its pilots whose masterly handling of the contact operation contributed in no small measure to the success of the joint enterprise. The skill and precision with which nonstop flight planes can be refueled and reprovisioned in the air is in fact the chief practical lesson to be drawn from the spectacular performance of Mendell and Reinhart. A nonstop flight around the world may be the next endurance record. It is about the only spectacular record now left to ambitious flyers.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

EVERY Sunday afternoon at around 1 o'clock cars begin turning off Beverly Boulevard on the road to the Uplifters' Ranch. But they don't all look like the cars of people who could belong to that distinguished organization. And when they reach the club's property they do not stop. They drive on to the heights where, from Chautauqua avenue, they may look down on the beautiful panorama of Rustic Canyon. There they park till, for half a mile, the curb is black with an unbroken line of cars, take out camp stools, boxes, kegs or chairs to sit on, and settle for a wait of perhaps two hours.

And then they look on probably the greatest free show in Southern California—a thrilling polo contest, in which speed, skill, sportsmanship, courage, stamina and quick-wittedness figure, between eight of the most brilliant horsemen and sixty-four of the most spirited horses in Southern California.

And some of those contestants—Will Rogers and Hal Roach for instance—are internationally famous personalities.

Renewing Auld Acquaintance

Being near-sighted and an invited guest, we did not save 50 cents by going to the heights, but entered at the regular admission gate. And we're mighty glad we did. For, first of all, we got close to fine horses. We'd almost forgotten how much human appeal there is about a horse.

We saw men who hadn't seen a horse, close up, for years, strolling about in a sort of ecstasy—feeling almost like boys again.

The human crowd also was interesting, containing about twenty celebrities to the square rod.

Unhurried Will Rogers

We were there early, having an engagement to meet Will Rogers at 1:45. As expected, he strolled in promptly at 2:40, the game being scheduled to start at 2:30. Everyone else was there, waiting for him, Hal Roach having flown over from Reno for the game. But good-humored Will was unhurried. He stopped to look at his horses, leaned over to pat the neck of a beautiful black and whisper into its ear, stopped every six paces to shake hands with friends, and greeted us, with a broad friendly grin, at 2:55.

"Thank God, I met you at last!" he said. And who could help grinning at a man like that?

Something About Polo

Polo is a gentleman's game, not played for profit, but purely for sportsmanship. It is so fast that each player must use eight horses in one game, and some of the horses are worth $10,000 each. The game was invented by the Persians more than 1000 years ago and the English learned it in India and taught it to the rest of the world. It is played on a field 900 feet long and 450 feet wide by two teams of four men each, the object of each team being to knock the willow ball between the goal posts on its goal line. The ball is about the size of a baseball and is hit with a mallet about one inch in diameter.

It takes amazing skill to hit that ball true and straight while riding a frantic race against opponents who are trying desperately to "ride you off." The baseball player stands on solid ground, using a bat with many times the hitting surface of a polo mallet, and always hits at the ball from the same position. A polo player has to hit forward, backward, sometimes from one side of his horse and sometimes from the other. And all the time he is riding, turning swiftly, riding hard again. The races at Tia Juana are tame beside those impetuous races on the polo field. At the end of each "chukker," or period of seven and one-half minutes, both horses and riders are sweating, in spite of the cool ocean wind sweeping up Rustic Canyon, and fresh mounts are necessary. There are eight chukkers.

Sportsmanship at Its Best

The real thrill of any athletic contest comes from sportsmanship and in polo one sees it at its best. None but a skilled rider, careful of the rights of others, could play in that game without hurting somebody. But when a polo player dashes down field, knocking the ball ahead of him, and opponents race him as madly as ever jockeys raced to win a derby, and one sends the ball flying back with a backhand stroke, and all turn swiftly and race the other way, nobody gets hurt. Hal Roach is the only left-hand player here and he holds a special permit from the international polo association because he has demonstrated that he can play left hand without endangering others.

Brave-Hearted Horses

The horses are just as keen on the game as the riders, and seem to understand it as well. They hardly have to be turned—they turn to follow the ball as a dog does to follow a rabbit. In that game the ponies scored two goals and who can be sure they did it by accident? The ponies frequently kick goals. And when the horses get hit, as they sometimes must, they dash ahead as gamely and unfalteringly as if impervious to cruel pain.

Announcing a Conversion

That game between the Uplifters and the Midwicks was the first we ever saw, but from now on we're a fan. It was worth the trip just to see the superb riding and stroking of Neil McCarthy or the beautiful teamwork of the Midwicks, or the gallant efforts by which Snowy Baker frequently saved his goal line from imminent menace. This is Southern California's first season of summer polo and the whole community should be interested in making it such a success as to establish this as the one all-year polo region of America.

SEEK FARM FACTS

Nearly all the nations of the world have promised co-operation in the taking of an agricultural census of the earth next yeas. It will be under the auspices of the International Institute of Agriculture and is approved by kindred bodies in all countries. It is realized that the figures gathered will be important in supplying crop reports and other information that will be valuable in clearing the markets. Statistics may be dry, but they have a definite standing with intelligent students and efficiency experts. They can be made to help the farmer in spite of himself.

TO A LIGHTNING BUG

By James J. Montague

For long I watched the dots of flame
That dance against the summer night
And fatuously thought you came
To scatter beauty and delight.
Your twinkling incandescence seemed Like floating motes of rainbow dust,
And till today I never dreamed
Of looking on you with mistrust.

I knew, of course, that you must eat,
For even elfin things like you
Require their daily bread and meat
Their strength and vigor to renew.
But you so lightly poised in air
As passed the scented twilight hours
That I supposed you made your fare
The nectar of the full-blown flowers.

But foolish trust soon comes to grief;
I found you firmly perched today
Upon a tender cherry leaf
Which you had eaten half away.
To shed those green and rosy beams
Which sparkle on the dusky leaves
And down the lawn, you must, it seems
Lap up the lifeblood of my trees.

But such is futile human faith
We mortals harbor in our hearts,
Until, an evanescent wraith,
It spreads its pinions and departs.
Hereafter when you gleam and glow
Across the darkling garden wall
I'll not applaud you; I shall know
You're just a beetle, after all.

HELPING SMALLER BUSINESS

[Boston Transcript]

That small business concerns are growing among the great is evidenced in the announcement coming from the meeting of the New England Council at Manchester, Vt., that an organization has been perfected for the purpose of helping the little fellow when it comes to reasonable expansion of his business. Perhaps the term "little fellow" is to be understood as used in a comparative sense. Some of these enterprises which look small in comparison with their big brothers bulk large in the communities where their operations are centered and where they may offer the chief opportunity for employment. At a time when there is much said about the tendency of business to limit itself to larger and larger units with the result of pushing the smaller and independent concerns to the wall, it is cheerful intelligence that there is a movement on foot to aid those whose affairs are not of sufficient extent to permit them, when it comes to expansion, to obtain financial assistance in the way open to the big fellows.

MORE AMERICAN SHIPS

[New York Evening Post]

The latest proof of the value of the government's new shipping policy is afforded by the announcement that the Dollar Steamship Company will build six great liners to cost $50,000,000.

Before the passage of the new law designed to expand the American merchant marine and to take the government out of the shipping business this company, as one of its officials says, would "not have dreamed" of making such an extensive addition to its fleet. But today it has the assurance not only that the government will refrain from any competition with private shipping as soon as it has completed the sale of its own vessels but also that it will lend substantial encouragement to those wishing to build ships for operation under the American flag.

These new vessels will carry the Stars and Stripes into the Seven Seas.

EMERGENCY IN LEGISLATION

[Chicago Daily News]

How some legislative bodies interpret or apply "emergency" provisions is illustrated by action of the Wisconsin General Assembly. At its recent session it passed a bill permitting fifteen-round boxing matches, so-called, for championship honors. Unwilling to delay the operation of the act, the General Assembly, by a two-thirds vote, ordered that it take effect immediately.

No one has explained whether needs of the public peace, health or safety created the emergency which called for immediate application of the new prize-fighting law. Presumably the sponsors of the measure deemed it superfluous to go into self-evident particulars.

There are emergencies and emergencies. Some are actual, some purely Pickwickian.

Quarantine Imperative

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My attention has just been directed to a special article published in the Los Angeles Times under date of June 24 entitled "The Fruit Fly," by Ransome Sutton. It is not our general practice to offer criticism of newspaper articles of this nature, but in view of the serious situation presented by reason of the recent finding of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida, with the imperative necessity for whole-hearted co-operation from the public at large in California, it impresses us that an article of this nature, largely based upon presumption without scientific foundation, may adversely affect public opinion and should be answered.

Mr. Sutton is correct in his statement that some twenty years ago there was much concern over the possible introduction of the Mexican fruit fly into California and his statement that "We have recovered from that fear" is probably correct so far as the average individual is concerned. However, the plant quarantine officials of the State and Federal governments and those far-sighted fruit growers who have their capital invested in that industry in California have never lost their concern over the possible introduction of this pest.

In referring to the Mexican fruit fly Mr. Sutton writes, "The probabilities are that during the last twenty years there have been thousands of these flies in this State." During all of these years the State Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture have taken every precaution to prevent the introduction of the Mexican fruit fly into this State. Rigid quarantines have been strictly enforced against all host fruits of that pest from Mexico and none of these fruits have been permitted entry into California or other portions of the United States. We very seriously question this statement made by Mr. Sutton that there have been thousands of these flies in this State and would appreciate receiving information as to his basis for this conclusion. It is Mr. Sutton's statement that "The larvae cannot live long enough to metamorphose into flies in dry soil," and his intimation that the fruit fly could not go through its life cycle in California, that is most apt to adversely affect public opinion.

With all due credit to Mr. Sutton, he apparently is not an entomologist. He has been wrongly informed when he states that the Mexican fruit fly and the Mediterranean fruit fly belong to the same genus. As a matter of scientific fact, one belongs to the genus Anastrepha and the other to the genus Ceratitis, but both belong to the family Trypetidae. Now this is important from a practical angle, for while we do not have in this State any known species of the two genus mentioned, we do find here in California at least two species of the family Trypetidae; one commonly attacking our gooseberries and the other, only recently introduced, attacking the husks of walnuts. Both of these species have practically the same life history as the Mexican fruit fly or the Mediterranean fruit fly. In fact, so far as appearance goes, the larvae or maggots of either of these California species could readily be mistaken by anyone who is not a trained entomologist for maggots of either the Mediterranean fruit fly or the Mexican fruit fly, and yet both of these species of the fruit fly family which we now have in this State are going through their pupal stage in our dry soil. The larvae or maggots of the walnut husk maggot enter the soil and pupate there in exactly the same manner as does the Mexican fruit fly and this walnut husk maggot is found only in the vicinity of Chino, which is certainly as dry as any section of this State devoted to fruit growing.

I have but recently returned from a trip to Florida, where I spent some time investigating every phase of the Mediterranean fruit fly situation there. It is apparent, if we are to keep this serious pest from our State, that we must have the friendly co-operation of the public, particularly the traveling public, for it is the small lots of fruit in the possession of uninformed automobile or train travelers that are so difficult to control. We do not want hysteria nor do we want our citizens to have any magnified idea of the menace, but we do want to have the true facts so that they may willingly extend their assistance. Certainly this aid will not be forthcoming and the interest of the average citizen secured from any publicity which minimizes the facts and presents theoretical conclusions without scientific foundation.

A. C. FLEURY,
Senior Quarantine Supervisor.

ANOTHER ROW

I think I can see that the people will soon takes sides as to radio, as they did in religion. For a long time in human history everyone accepted religion as a wonderful thing, but by degrees those who did not care for it asserted themselves, and now religion is administered with this understanding.

At first everyone said of radio: "What a wonder!" But it developed that many did not care for it, and my prediction is they will assert themselves and object to listening to its messages when they are neither interesting, agreeable nor important.—[E. W. Howe.

TUTORS AND PRODIGIES

BY L. J. VANDENBERGH

The recent verdict of the jury in the case of the State of California vs. Mrs. John Barry, the mother of 9-year-old Jack Barry, found the mother guilty of neglecting the education of her child. The child was described as a prodigy and the mother as his tutor. The case has been widely commented on "pro and contra." The merits of the case, however, are summed up in a clear-cut issue of law and fact.

Act 7487, known as the Compulsory Educational Law of the State of California, reads: "Each parent, guardian or other person having control or charge of any child between the ages of 8 and 16 years, not exempted under the provisions of this act, shall be required to send such child to public full-time day school for the full time . . . provided that the following classes of children shall be exempted by the proper school authorities from the requirements of attendance upon a public full-time day school . . ."

The fourth exemption reads: "Children who are being instructed, in study and recitation, for at least three hours a day for 160 days each calendar year by a private tutor or other person, in the several branches of study required to be taught in the public schools of this State, and in the English language; provided, that such tutor or other person shall be capable of teaching; and provided further, that such instruction shall be offered between the hours of 8 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m."

Until recently, therefore, any capable person was allowed to instruct a child "de jure." That capability, however, must be shown "de facto" to the satisfaction of the jury. In the Barry case the jury decided that the mother was guilty of neglect and, therefore, adjudged her incapable of being a tutor or instructress.

For further information of interested parties it may here be added that the law affecting tutors as above quoted was amended by the 1929 Legislature on March 25, 1929, to read: "Such tutor or other person shall hold a valid State credential for the grade taught" . . . In the future, therefore, a tutor must be fully qualified to teach with a teacher's credentials.

It should be remembered that in modern days our educational system has developed into a standardised uniformity to give children the best education which scientific methods have evolved on democratic merits of equality. We cannot nullify the State's program to suit parental idiosyncrasies where the child's interest is concerned.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

American Government?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A six weeks' course in American government which started July 8 is to be given during the summer session of Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard. The class will meet on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. Instruction is free.

The course will be divided so that approximately an equal amount of time will be given to the study of constitutional principles, the provisions of the Federal Constitution and the applications and interpretations of the Constitution.

Individual research and reports will be encouraged and given credit. High school graduation credit and college recommendations may be earned by those interested. Students are urged to enroll and get started with their work as soon as possible.

THE ORGAN GRINDER

I saw him playing down the street,
His organ somewhat old and yellow,
A monkey danced about his feet,
A little red-capped funny fellow.

A dozen children up and down
From step and doorway hurried to him
And joyed to see the little clown
Take off his cap for what they threw him.

I, too, a "grown-up" as they say,
Was listening there as glad as any—
When all at once I heard him play
Sweet "Annie Rooney" for my penny.

Oh, music masters of the town
You smile, I know what you are saying,
But listen, nowhere up or down,
Was I so touched as by his playing.

A little while and he was gone
To give some other children pleasure,
I wondered were he playing on
Yon little songs delightful measure.

That night he slept on board or straw,
Nor fame nor gold came ever nigh him;
What matter, if in dreams he saw
The little ones made happy by him?

Abbe Thomas Moreaux, director of the famous observatory at Bourges, France, says an aviator, flying at an average speed of 125 miles an hour and never stopping could reach the moon in eighty days. Prospective tourists to that planet now have something definite on which to base plans for a vacation trip.

Bail Bondsman Remanded in Charge Growing Out of Mrs. Pantages Case

Denial by William R. (Paddy) McGee, bail bondsman, that he offered money to Police Officer William Dutton to influence his testimony regarding second-degree murder charges pending against Mrs. Lois Pantages, wealthy theater owner's wife, yesterday failed to save him from being bound over for trial on bribery charges by Superior Court. Municipal Judge Frederickson ordered him held to await trial under $2500 bail at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing.

Officer Dutton testified that McGee approached him at the inquest conducted over the death of Joe Kokumoto, asserted to have been killed by Mrs. Pantages's automobile. "You don't have to testify that she was drunk, do you?" he quoted McGee as asking. When he replied that he did not, McGee told him, "If you forget it there'll be plenty on the line for you," he declared.

Jack Chris, investigator for the District Attorney's office, declared that he saw McGee taking pictures of the scene of the accident several days after it occurred. He also testified that McGee called him on the telephone the day before the arrest and asked him, "Are you going to arrest me for this?"

Taking the stand, McGee declared that he did not speak to Dutton at the inquest. He said he took the pictures "because I was trying to help out Mr. Pantages, who is an old friend of mine."

Duffys Come to El Capitan in "First Year"

Dale Winter and Henry Duffy make their appearance at the matinee tomorrow with the Henry Duffy Players at El Capitan in Frank Craven's comedy, "The First Year." This will be the first time they have been seen here since the production of "The Patsy" two seasons ago. The present engagement is limited to four weeks only.

"The First Year" has been the most popular comedy written by Frank Craven, noted actor-playwright, it is said. It is a story of Tommy Tucker, the small-town chap, who woos and wins the attractive Grace Livingston, despite the efforts of his rival. The first-year quarrel, the wife's return to her parents and the determination of Tommy to win her back make up the incidents in which comedy is combined with sympathetic appeal.

Henry Duffy will have a role that suits his comedy talents as Tommy Tucker, while Dale Winter will be the small-town girl, Grace Livingston. Other players include Lloyd Neal, Florence Roberts, Ray L. Royce and George Leffingwell.

CARMEL MYERS SIGNED

Carmel Myers has been signed to take the part of Valeska in "The Broadway Hoofer," Columbia's first synchronized musical comedy, which will go into production within a few days. Sally O'Neil heads the cast and George Archainbaud will direct.

Warner Brings Sophie Tucker in 'Honky-Tonk'

Sophie Tucker, internationally noted "red-hot mamma" of the vaudeville stage, makes her screen debut in "Honky-Tonk," a Warner Brothers' Vitaphone production starting at Warner Brothers' Theater on the 22nd inst. In this production Sophie Tucker is in her own element for she portrays the role of the leading entertainer in a night club, which gives her the opportunity to sing seven of the numbers that have brought her popularity.

However, in this picture, she does not choose this vocation because of her love for it, but she takes the part of a sacrificing mother, working in the only profession that she knows, and denying herself everything beside the bare necessities of life in order to keep her daughter, Lila Lee, in an exclusive European finishing school.

CHANEY FILM STARTS

"The Desert Song," Warner Brothers' screen operetta, will be seen and heard for the last times tonight at the Fox Uptown. John Boles and Caralotta King have the principal roles and offer the songs that first made "The Desert Song" internationally popular. Starting tomorrow and continuing until Sunday the Fox Uptown will show Lon Chaney's newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer triumph, "East Is East," with an all-star cast in support, including Estelle Taylor, Lupe Velez and Lloyd Hughes. "East Is East," is one of Chaney's most colorful screen vehicles to date and provides the popular star with a picturesque role to portray.

MUSIC TYPES CONTRASTED IN CONCERT

Hollywood Bowl Audience Pays Tribute to Molinari and Pantelieff

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The flashing contrast of Russian and Italian music-making by Molinari and Pantelieff aroused the Bowl thousands to noisy expressions of approval at the third Hollywood symphony concert last night. Mozart in his most Italian mood of gay elegance, the Haffner symphony in D major, arias from Borodin's "Prince Igor," "Dances for the Lute" liberally transcribed by Respighi and a stunning operatic overture, "Cleopatra," by Mancinelli, comprised the list.

The symphony without sadness was done with pointed charm in the exquisite mood of chamber music. How fascinated Wolfgang Amadeus would have been to have heard his gay festival music augmented by a full modern orchestra. It is a credit to the precious taste of Molinari that its beauty was enhanced, the restraint and balance retained and its refinement and grace emphasized. In the Mozart, the crisp utterance of each section made possible by the steel shell added to rather than detracted from the effect.

The interest in the Hollywood presentation of the Russian bass-baritone, Max Pantelieff, was intensified by the piano accompaniments of Maestro Molinari. It is not generally known that Bernardino Molinari was one of the foremost Italian accompanists before the lucky break of the war gave him his opportunity as conductor of the Roman Augusteum concerts. When he had finished assisting Pantelieff every listener was aware of his excellence.

Pantelieff made an immediate hit. In the "Lament" of Prince Igor and two renditions of "The Flea," by Moussorgsky the power of his fine voice, his unmistakable artistry, a commanding stage presence and winning graciousness completely conquered his audience. A finer resonance was manifest in the Recitative and Aria of Prince Galitsky from the same Borodin opera, with orchestral accompaniment—as the new shell becomes a loud-speaker when the piano is played. These songs were all sung in the original Russian, of course, and the language is eminently singable.

The "Vision Fugitive" from Massenet's "Herodiade," was given a vivid reading by Pantelieff characterised by his own reaction to the drama, and having the ring of authority.

The old dances and airs for the lute were four in number and in them Respighi paid his respects to the ancient Italians and ably demonstrated his own versatility for they are as far away as possible from any other Respighi works we have known. Henri De Busscher, the oboe player "par excellence," carried much of the original lute's burden of song with Ilya Bronson's 'cello solo and Macquarre's flute-playing adding rare moments of beauty. This type of music and Molinari's conducting reveal a taste and widespread artistry that is too often hidden in this orchestra. Clare Mellonino at the piano gave the performance effective punctuation.

The concert closed with an extraordinary overture by Mancinelli on the theme of "Cleopatra." Melody and gorgeous orchestral color mingled and rose to a climax in which Molinari lost himself in an overwhelming frenzy of sound and brought the audience to its feet shouting bravo at the top of its several thousand lungs.

Tonight Molinari will conduct the Beethoven seventh and a similar popular program.

MEMORY GOOD—SOMETIMES

"I have memorised eighty-page stage parts overnight," says J. C. Nugent, the stage playwright-actor-director, now in Hollywood, "but otherwise I'm just like any other man. I can't remember names, birthdays—or my wedding anniversary!"

COMEDIAN CHOSEN CEREMONY MASTER

Walter Catlett.

Honors will go to Walter Catlett, Broadway's noted comedian, as master of ceremonies at tonight's midnight matinee of the "Hollywood Revue of 1929" in Grauman's Chinese Theater.

The celebrated New Yorker was brought here by William Fox to write the dialogue, direct and play a comedy part in Raymond Cannon's production "Why Leave Home," the musical comedy version of "Cradle Snatchers," and is appearing at the Chinese through the courtesy of that studio.

Catlett has won recognition in the leading comedy part in "Sally" and the "Follies," "Lady Be Good" and "Rio Rita." He will introduce artists from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and noted players of the stage in a rapid-fire program of surprises.

Celebrated Actress is En Route

Ethel Barrymore

Will favor Los Angeles with two plays at the Mason Theater, the first, "The Kingdom of God," starting Monday night. Miss Barrymore will arrive by special train Monday morning.

LASKY STAR IS IN BARRIE PLAY

Hoot Gibson's First Universal Opus Is Bowman Story; Columbia Singing Juvenile on Long Contract; Three Sisters Play in "Three Sisters"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

What a delight it will be to all lovers of the dramas of J. M. Barrie to know that the plays will appear as talkers on the screen. Paramount purchased the screen rights to these plays several years ago, and now has the talking rights to several of them. So we are likely to see the wistfully delightful "Mary Rose," the charming "Kiss for Cinderella," the evanescent "Peter Pan," and all the rest of the fascinating Barrie plays on the audible screen.

GARY COOPER

The first to be made as a talker will be "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," written during the war days.

Gary Cooper will have the featured hero role in the picture, and Richard Wallace will direct.

"RAMBLIN' KID" IS NEXT FOR GIBSON

Now that Universal has decided to give Hoot Gibson the largest salary being paid a cowboy actor at the present time, we are not at all surprised to learn that he is to be furnished with excellent stories.

HOOT GIBSON

Hoot's first under his new contract will be "The Ramblin' Kid," by Earl W. Bowman, which will supply the western actor with all sorts of acting opportunities as well as athletic stunts.

Sallie Eilers will take the leading feminine role, and Arthur Rosson will direct.

You will also have a chance to hear the voice of your favorite western actor, as the picture is to be a talker.

Columbia Signs Jack Egan

That bright young actor, Jack Egan, is getting an excellent break these days. He has been playing juveniles in several pictures, including one for First National with Alice White.

Now Columbia has signed him on a long-term contract. And that isn't all, either. Egan has been assigned the enviable role of the hoofer in "The Broadway Hoofer," which Columbia is to produce as its contribution to the back-stage musical pictures.

George Archainbaud, who has a long and rich experience as stage director and actor in all lines of the business, is to direct the production, and Rufus Le Maire, noted Broadway producer, also as heretofore announced, will supervise.

Three for "Three Sisters"

While no contracts have yet been signed, it is known that Fox is negotiating with those three charming young sisters, Loretta Young, Sally Blane, and Polly Ann Young, to take the name parts in "The Three Sisters," shortly to go into production.

SALLY BLANE

Louise Dresser will have the mother role, which is from some standpoints the most notable part in the picture.

Paul Sloane, who enjoyed such success with "Hearts in Dixie," will direct.

Nora Lane in "Sally"

Due to the exactions of color photography, as well as the role, many screen tests have been taken to fill the role of Sally's sister in the musical screen version of "Sally," which First National is producing.

NORA LANE

It wasn't until yesterday, however, that just the right person was found. Nora Lane is the happy girl. Her signing was announced by Ray Rockett.

Miss Lane, you remember, was discovered by the late Fred Thomson, and appeared in several pictures with him. Since that time she has played a number of notable roles.

Louise Dresser's Narrow Escape

Louise Dresser seems fated to suffer many injuries at the hands of her pets.

A few weeks ago Miss Dresser was bitten by her cat when she attempted to separate it and her pet dog while they were fighting. Thursday night she had a narrow escape from being bitten by her dog, which yesterday morning was found to be suffering from rabies.

Miss Dresser and members of the family were romping with the animal, when it suddenly made a leap for Miss Dresser's face, biting her lightly on the lip. The bite fortunately did not draw blood. The physician who examined Miss Dresser pronounced her injury harmless.

Symphony Will Mark Popular Bowl Concert

Tidal waves of tone and crashing crescendoes at the first popular Saturday-night concert of the summer season of symphonies at Hollywood Bowl, will predominate the program to be conducted by Bernardino Molinari.

The tremendous seventh symphony of Beethoven, described as an orgy of rhythm and musical capers, with occasional storms of fury to make more eloquent the transports of gayety, will be the first selection. Molinari, a master in achieving cumulative effect, is expected to build up his climaxes in a masterful manner.

This selection will consume the entire first half of the program. Richard Strauss's "Death and Transfiguration" will follow the intermission. As a stirring finale of the evening, the Rakoczy march by Hector Berlioz will be presented.

EDNA MARION FINISHES

Edna Marion, petite blonde comedienne, has completed her featured leading role in the twelfth and last comedy of the two-reel series starring Arthur Lake for Universal and directed alternately, by Sam Newfield and Harry Edwards. Miss Marion has received an attractive offer to be featured in a talking comedy series by a company for which she has already done audible roles, and it is probable that she will sign.

Elinor Praises "Dynamite" as Great Picture

Carli Elinor, managing director of the Fox Carthay Circle Theater, is full of enthusiasm regarding Cecil B. De Mille's first all-talking picture "Dynamite" which is to have its world premiere showing at the Circle on the 28th inst., following the close of the run of Janet Gaynor in her first talkie "Four Devils."

"'Dynamite,'" I believe, "is the finest talking picture made to date," says Elinor. "It is a great story, produced with all the genius of which De Mille is noted, and given by a fine group of players. Some, such as Conrad Nagle, Julia Faye and Tyler Brooke, are products of the best in the silent drama, while Charles Bickford and Kay Johnson, recruited from the New York stage, are destined to become equally popular with film fans."

"Into 'Dynamite,'" continued Mr. Elinor, "De Mille has injected all of the bizarre and unusual features that made 'Why Change Your Wife,' 'Don't Change Your Husband' and 'Manslaughter' so popular, and in addition he brings to it raw drama that will quicken the pulse of the most blase person, and enhances this with one of the most thrilling and spectacular scenes ever taken."

Jewish Drama Draws Throng to Theater

BY JACOB COOPER

The Mason Operahouse last night was the scene of a demonstration in favor of the Yiddish Art Theater players who presented the Letvick play "Rags." The lobby was jammed with people, and when the curtain rose on the first act there was not a vacant seat to be found in the entire house.

It may be that the rumored success of this play in New York drew the crowds; or that the drama, dealing with the life of a Jew in America, attracted through its nearness of interest. The action of the play takes place in New York where Mordecai Maaza, a Jew of the Old World, has located. Here he is forced to work in a rag shop owned by his son-in-law. His children, quite Americanized, drift away from him and his life becomes embittered.

It was not so much the plot that made for interest, as it was the clever lines and the skilled and convincing acting.

Maurice Schwartz was, as usual, the consummate artist.

It was Lazar Freed, as Reb Elyah, a co-worker in the rag shop, who gave the finest characterization of the evening. There was not a detail missing to make his part one of the finest achievements in character acting. Isidore Cashier, the never-to-be-forgotten actor of "The Lower Depths," was well cast in the role of After Levi, the senior partner in the rag shop. The balance of the cast, no doubt, were swept along by the acting of these principals, and gave their share to make the production a polished whole.

JOE TENNER LEADS NEW STAGE REVUE

California Ramblers Provide Rhythm Numbers at Million Dollar

The second week of the Million Dollar Theater's change in policy, namely, the acquisition of a stage show, started yesterday. The entertainment was called a "Dixieland Revue," although the "Dixie" part of it was kept quite thoroughly in the background.

Joe Tenner, an affable gentlemen, who claims some sort of a record at the Folies Bergere, Paris, led the California Ramblers" consisting of approximately ten young men in natty costumes, through a cycle of numbers, interspersing specialties here and there.

Some expert dancing on the part of a young lady, who exhibited tap routines on her toes, helped the presentation, which got off to a somewhat lethargic start.

A trio of orchestra boys, singing the well-known "galloping" patter type songs, also appeared. The program was embellished with a chorus which appeared at various times. A tiny tot pleased with what was termed a "Typical New York East Side Dance."

The current screen feature is "The Studio Murder Mystery," a Paramount production directed by Frank Tuttle.

Hall Scheduled for Appearance

James Hall will make a personal appearance at the United Artists Theater Monday night in connection with showings of "This Is Heaven," in which he plays opposite Vilma Banky. Hall has his first speaking screen role as the young millionaire-chauffeur of the comedy romance of modern youth.

At his appearance Hall will sing the theme song of the film, "This Is Heaven." The actor has one of his best roles to date as Miss Banky's leading man, it is said.

Also on the program with "This Is Heaven," is "Dear Vivian," Christy talking play featuring Raymond Hatton and Sam Hardy, and an Oswald sound cartoon. Oliver Wallace at the organ offers "Song Sensations of the Season."

Screen Stars to Attend Concert

Stars of the stage, screen and musical world will unite to make the program of the Hollywood midsummer jubilee at Hollywood Bowl on August 7, one of the most elaborate outdoor entertainments ever staged.

William Koenig, chairman of the motion-picture industry's committee in charge of the affair, has the assurance of several of the greatest headliners of the amusement field that they will be on hand to participate in the event, the financial proceeds of which will be turned over to the Los Angeles Sanatorium, the free tuberculosis institution at Duarte, as the film colony's contribution to the amalgamation deficit appeal.

"HELLO BILL" AT BURBANK

The current attraction at the Burbank Theater, "Hello Bill," is an Elks' convention week special and was written especially for the enjoyment of the B.P.O.E. "Hello Bill" is a fast-moving vehicle full of comedy, versatile dance specialties, and up-to-the-minute musical numbers, which provide snappy burlesque entertainment. Fay Norman and June Rhoads appear in pleasing dance numbers. Curls Mason, ingenue, is attractive in her number and June Hazleton charms with her voice. The girls of the ensemble are the featured attraction of "Hello Bill," with Charlie Fritcher and Harry Le Van at the head of the comedy end of the bill.

FOLLIES SHOW PLEASES

"Miss Tabasco," presented at the Follies Theater this week, is said to be one of the most popular burlesques seen at the theater this season. "Miss Tabasco" has no particular beginning or ending. It starts and finishes in jam-tempo. Most of the fun comes from Max Coleman and Bumps Mack as comedians. Melene Chorka is the prima-donna with a good voice. Evelyn Myers, Louise Kellar and Mary Walton have been placed to advantage in the show. The chorus girls are pleasingly costumed and their dancing indicates much training.

SHE FILES CHARGES AGAINST TAXI MAN

Pauline Campbell

Accusing F. R. Halligan, taxi driver, of luring her into his cab and then beating her when she resisted his advances, Pauline Campbell, cafe cashier, yesterday swore out a battery complaint before Deputy City Prosecutor McDonald.

The girl told Assistant City Prosecutor Krowl that Halligan accosted her at Sixth and Figueroa streets, telling her that she was supposed to get in his cab. Thinking that it had been ordered by her boy friend, she entered, she declared, whereupon Halligan came into the rear compartment and began making love to her.

"When I jumped out he chased me along the street and then beat me until passers-by rescued me," she told Krowl.

SURVIVOR OF FATAL CRASH EXONERATED

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS DRIVER OF BLAME FOR DEATHS IN COLLISION

After hearing evidence regarding the automobile accident in which Loo Main, 25 years of age, and Henry Young, 22, Chinese, were killed at Magnolia street and Vernon avenue in Vernon, a Coroner's jury at the Easterling undertaking parlors in Huntington Park Thursday returned a verdict exonerating J. Newberry, driver of the other machine, from blame. The verdict stated that Young and Main came to their death through negligence in not obeying the speed law and in not having their car under proper control.

The evidence showed that on Tuesday afternoon the two young Chinese were driving a light truck east on Vernon avenue and that Newberry was driving on Magnolia street. As the latter reached the intersection at a low rate of speed, the truck struck the bumper of his car and turned completely over. Young and Main were thrown from the car, both suffering fractured skulls.

Young was connected with the United Market and Main was employed by him. Newberry is employed by the Baldwin Packing Company.

The Greatest Endurance Record Ever Made!

DROPPING their plane gently to earth in a perfect landing at 2:13 p. m. Friday, July 12th, at Culver City Airport near Los Angeles, Loren Mendell and "Pete" Reinhart, co-pilots of the Buhl Wright-motored, air sedan "Angeleno", completed the greatest endurance flight in history, establishing a record of 246 hours, 43 minutes and 32 seconds in the air.

Physically exhausted themselves, but with their motor in perfect condition, the flyers were brought down after nearly a week and a half of continuous flight because of the accumulation of foreign substance on the stabilizer which made further flying hazardous.

Both flyers paid high tribute to Richfield Gasoline and Richlube Motor Oil which they had selected after exhaustive tests and which made possible the perfect performance of their motor throughout the flight.

Carrying an over-load of almost seven hundred pounds in excess of the regular "pay load" of the Buhl air sedan, their total gasoline consumption was less than twelve gallons per hour of flying time, while their oil averaged less than one quart an hour—an almost phenomenal record best expressed in Reinhart's words, "The oil gauge might just as well have been painted. It didn't drop a pound of pressure during the entire flight."

Once again Richfield has helped make air history. The same qualities that made it the choice for the "Question Mark" army flight, first of the great endurance achievements; the selection of Captain Wilkins for his thrilling dash over the North Pole and the choice of winners in many other speed and endurance records are carried on in this epochal eleven days among the clouds—more than 22,000 miles of continued flight.

Use Richfield and Richlube in your own car—the ideal combination for everyday driving—better by actual test.

Time—246 hours, 43 minutes, 32 seconds
Pilots—Loren W. Mendell and "Pete" Reinhart
Sponsors—A. E. McManus, Jr. and Wm. G. McAdoo, Jr.
Plane—Buhl Air Sedan
Motor—Wright J-5
Power—Richfield Aviation Gasoline
Lubrication—Richlube Motor Oil Richlube High Pressure Grease
Number of Refuelings—31

VARIED TUNES WILL BE ON AIR

Hodge Podge of Music for KHJ's Listeners

Light Opera Scheduled Via Station of KTM

Other Good Things on Tap in Local Broadcast

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

A diversity of tunes today will mark the 9 o'clock evening program over KHJ, the Don Lee station, with tunes ranging from "Oh, Ya Ya," to "Salome."

"I'll Always be in Love With You," will be given as a duet number with organ and violin, while the singers and orchestra will do the gems from "Rio Rita."

Vera Barstow, violinist, will play the Thais "Meditation," with orchestral accompaniment, and a male trio will do, "Once in a Lifetime," also with the orchestra accompanying.

"I Used to be a Shrinking Violet," will be June Parker's jazz contribution to the hour in the form of a blues number.

ENGLISH HUMOR

At 7 o'clock KNX will feature the instrumental trio, and male quartet under the direction of Dudley Chambers. This will be followed, a half-hour later, with "Bits From England," a fun and frolic period by Jack Carter, known also as the boy from London, and Marie Golden, pianist.

The Hollywood Bowl concert will be broadcast between 8:30 and 10 p.m. through the lines of KFI.

KHJ at 9 o'clock will offer the fourth in a series of radio revues, featuring musical comedy, character sketches, soloists and musical groups in a musical medley and hodge podge of all the good things that have been given over the station in the past few weeks.

LIGHT OPERA

KTM at 10 o'clock has scheduled its light-opera hour with the concert ensemble, assisted by Bruce Duncan and Lucy Day as vocalists.

The station's publicity scribe hastily pens a cryptic message: "Ermine, Jackobowsky, New Moon, Romberg Madame Sherry, Hoschna and Good News, De Sylva Brown and Henderson," which to the initiated apparently is supposed to mean that a good time is in store for those addicted to light opera via the radio.

Scott Bradley, as usual, will lead the concert ensemble, while Edward Lynn will be the announcer.

KTM IN NEW STUDIOS ON BEVERLY BOULEVARD

The studios of KTM yesterday were moved from the Elks' Temple to 3634 Beverly Boulevard. The first program in the new studios will be given tonight.

Coincident with the movement announcement was made by Henry A. Hohman, managing director of the Pickwick Broadcasting Corporation, that the transmitting equipment later will be located on a site purchased yesterday opposite Clover Field, Santa Monica.

A building of Spanish architecture is to be planned, Hohman said, and the radio towers will be lighted with beacons to serve as guides for aviators.

Fire Destroys Electric Shop and Contents

Fire of unidentified origin destroyed the contents and most of the one-story frame structure at West Pico and Ardmore boulevards which housed the L. A. Duncan Electric Shop and salesroom and caused an estimated loss of $50,000.

The flames started in the roof and before the fire department could reach the scene had spread through the building. A strong breeze hampered the work of firemen in their efforts to confine the blaze to the one structure.

Patrolman Christensen of Wilshire Division and fire inspectors declare the fire did not start as the result of a shortage in the electrical wiring in the building. Most of the loss suffered was from destruction of high-priced electrical fixtures, firemen said.

James E. Baker Funeral Service Will Be Monday

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at Pierce Brothers' funeral parlors for James E. Baker, for many years a resident of Los Angeles, who died last Thursday at his home, 1022 Florida street, after a long illness. Interment will be in Odd Fellows' Cemetery, Whittier Boulevard.

Born in Syracuse, N. Y., February, 11, 1857, he came to Los Angeles in 1909, engaging in the hotel and apartment-house business. About nine years ago he disposed of the considerable city and county property he had acquired here and became active in the oil industry, sinking two test wells in Tulare county. Three years ago a paralytic stroke resulted in his retirement.

Mr. Baker was a member of Lodge No. 136, F. and A. M., for thirty-five years and of the Odd Fellows for forty years. He leaves two sons, J. H. and R. H. Baker.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

MOULDED GRAPEFUIT SALAD

Two cupfuls of grapefruit pulp and one cupful of grapefruit juice, one package of lemon gelatine, one medium sized avocado, equal parts of mayonnaise and whipped cream; peel the grapefruit, remove all the fiber, seeds and core, break pulp up into small pieces and save the juice, measure the fruit and liquid, prepare the gelatine, substituting the fruit juice for part of the water, turn into a cold mold that has been wet with cold water and when the jelly begins to set, add the diced avocado and the grapefruit, garnish with slices of avocado, maraschino cherries and the dressing.

APRICOT PUDDING

Take eight medium-sized apricots, peel and halve them, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half a cupful of brown sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-forth of a cupful of shortening or butter, one-half a cupful of sugar, one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one egg, one-half a pint of whipped cream; place the one tablespoonful of butter in a saute pan, add the brown sugar, and the salt, and allow to cook for five minutes; keep warm; cream the one-forth of a cupful of shortening with half a cupful of sugar, then add the well-beaten eggs, sift the flour and baking powder, and add alternately to the creamed mixture with the milk; mix well, oil a baking dish, place the apricots in it, cover with the brown sugar and butter mixture, add the cake batter, place in a moderate oven and bake for thirty minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr. Frank McCoy

author of "The Next Step to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

SECURING A PURE WATER SUPPLY

In large cities the problem of securing a sufficient supply of pure water is sometimes a difficult engineering feat. Los Angeles, for example, has constructed an aqueduct 226 miles in length, traveling over many mountains and valleys, to conduct water from a pure source, and is now actively engaged in endeavoring to obtain a still larger supply when the Boulder Dam is built. Greater New York City consumes 9,000,000 gallons of water per day. Quite a problem for engineers.

All water sources originate with the rainfall. Next to distilled water, rainwater is probably the purest form in which water can be obtained. It is subject, however, to some contamination in the passage through the air, especially in the neighborhood of factories or densely populated districts. Contamination is also likely to occur from house roofs, rain gutters, or other collecting agents. The first rain to fall should not be used, and rainwater should be stored in a cement, stone or galvanized tank. Because of its softness, rainwater is especially valuable for washing, cooking and drinking, but it must not be allowed to remain in contact with lead or copper vessels or pipes.

Spring water varies in wholesomeness. It usually contains many earthy substances which are dissolved by the carbonic acid absorbed from the soil by the rainwater. It is sometimes very pure by the passage through natural filters. Spring water should not contain any organic matter. The deep springs are generally more wholesome than the shallow springs which disappear in dry years.

Well water varies as does spring water. The shallow wells are more subject to pollution. Deep wells usually produce good water, but they should have a surface casing for some distance down to prevent seepage in of surface impurities.

River and stream water are very subject to contamination by passing through manure fields or cesspools or sewage. A number of epidemics have been traced to pollution or river and stream waters. When taken from the stream near its source or from mountain lakes, the water is usually good. The vegetable organic matter contained in the water is not as dangerous as is the animal organic matter or refuse.

The hardness of water is usually due to carbonate of calcium or magnesium, or sulphates of calcium, magnesium, or iron and aluminum. Dysentery or diarrhea can be caused from organic material contained in the water, indigestion from hard water. Enteric or typhoid fever and Asiatic cholera frequently results from contaminated water. There is also the possibility of worm eggs or embryo being present. Lead poisoning may result from soft water standing or passing through lead pipes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Eczema

Question: Mrs. A. T. K. asks: "Is eczema a skin or blood disease? Is it contagious and is there a cure?"

Answer: Eczema is not contagious and not caused from outside infection and is essentially a blood disease, being caused by a form of acidosis which means lowered blood alkalinity. It is always curable through dietary measures. Please send for my special article on skin disorders.

Trouble With Eyes

Q.: Reader writes: "Please tell me what causes a pain beneath the outer half of the eye. Also, what causes black specs to be always present in the vision?"

A.: Your trouble may be caused by improperly fitted glasses, sinus or antrum trouble, abscessed teeth; or, the pain and the symptoms of black spots may be due entirely to liver congestion from autointoxication.

Milk as Meat Substitute

Q.: J. H. asks: "Is milk a good substitute for meat, eggs and fish? If a person eats greens sometimes, starches, fruits and milk in abundance, does he still need meat, eggs and fish?"

A.: The protein of milk is not exactly the same as that found in flesh foods, but it provides an excellent substitute for meat with those who are theoretically vegetarians. There is no good scientific reason against the use of a certain amount of flesh food in the diet, but milk or cheese may be substituted, if one is not inclined to catarrhal disorders.

"Simple" Goiter

Q.: L. O. G. writes: "I am 14 years of age and have developed a 'simple' goiter. Was advised by the school-teacher to take a mixture of sodium iodine, but obtained poor results from the two bottles I used. Now everyone suggests rubbing iodine on the outside of my throat. Do you think my diet has been the cause of this goiter?"

A.: The cure of simple goiter is simple enough through dieting without the use of any medicinal preparations. You get all the iodine you need in a well-balanced diet, and it is much better for you in this organic form than the mineral iodine of drug preparations. Your goiter will quickly reduce in size if you will take a fast, using one kind of fruit on any one day and continuing with the fruit regime until your thyroid is practically normal in size. Then follow the daily menus I arrange for you in each Friday's article, but leave out the starchy meals and substitute fruit.

This department offers helpful data on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed-wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

CONSTIPATION CHIEF AILMENT OF BABIES

The universality with which mothers say: "My baby is constipated" should lead the most casual thinker to decide that this isn't half as serious as most mothers believe.

The new-born baby is usually given a laxative to rid the intestines of the meconium present in them at birth. This is a dark tar-like substance. As soon as the stools become normal color the mother begins to watch them with hawk-like eyes. If the baby doesn't immediately fall into the habit of having a daily evacuation she decides that this is constipation and she begins to dose him for it. From that to the state of constant constipation and the necessity for constant dosing is just one step.

We are convinced that if mothers will allow Nature to regulate itself and evacuate the bowels when there is sufficient secretion there to stimulate a movement, that we will have no constipated babies. Mothers seem terror stricken to allow the baby to go forty-eight hours without a momevent. Having read all the advertisements designed to sell laxatives and learned by heart the symptoms that are supposed to follow constipation she feels sure that twenty-four hours without a stool is causing the baby to be restless, feverish, all due to "auto-intoxication."

The mothers who have the courage to stay away from laxatives, who do not run for the bottle of physic when the baby slips over a day, find no ill effects whatever. In time if one puts the baby over the stool at a regular hour daily the habit becomes established. If it doesn't then one had better find out what is wrong with the food, or whether the baby is getting enough of it to really make a daily movement possible.

When there is stubborn constipation coupled with persistent vomiting, one can couple the two firmly for if baby is vomiting back most of the food he eats he is naturally going to be constipated, just as is the baby who is holding down his food but isn't getting enough of it to create any natural bowel activity.

We know a baby right now who is 5 months old and weighs nine pounds. He looks not unlike a scrawny chicken and he has been vomiting persistently from birth. The mother has been jumping from food to food, and treating the resulting constipation with daily doses of physic!

In one week of thick feedings and no laxatives this baby has gained a pound and a quarter and has had natural movements. He was starving due to an imperfect development of the passageway leading from stomach to small intestine and he was being forced to have daily movements when starvation was the cause of his trouble.

Instead of trying out all the well-known constipation medicines, be more persistent in tracking the cause of the constipation. It may be starvation in which case the constipation is merely a symptom of the real condition which demands treatment.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

SINCERITY

By Mrs. Agnes Lynn

The sincere child wins our confidence. We like him because he does not fool himself and because he does not try to fool others. At adolescence he is not likely to present that most distresing of all spectacles—youth struggling in a quagmire of spiritual confusion.

Only parents who are themselves sincere can bring up sincere, straightforward children. And so many of us who are generally quite honest are not so in relation to our children. Often our motives are entirely worthy. We wish to save our children from the unhappy, seamy side of life. We wish to protect them from all that is not right and beautiful.

But no one is quicker than the child to read the truth we try to hide. He sees behind toothy politeness. He senses the family friction that masks itself in the apparently casual conversation of the living-room. He guesses the fears beneath the smooth social surface. No matter how skillfully we "interpret" facts he understands the truth behind the verbiage.

We pretend, for instance, not to see the funeral procession about which the child who walks beside us is openly curious. We do not want him to know about death. He is too young. We evade, we invent. He is not deceived. He knows that this is something important of which we are afraid.

He in turn is afraid, and he is even more curious. Both his fear and his curiosity have the exaggeration and intensity of childhood. How much better it would have been to answer his question directly, simply, with no more emotion than we felt. The fear would have lost its power. For whatever we can face and accept, cannot distort our thoughts and feelings.

Sincere parents are courageous parents. They are men and women who can take the bitter with the sweet. They can accept life and their own limitations as they find them—valuable qualities worth more to the child than a whole world colored pink and sugar coated for his benefit.

Neal Dodd officiating. Interment will be at Hollywood Cemetery. The funeral services will be in charge of the Motion-Picture Relief Fund.

Mr. Grandon, who was about 50 years of age, was a railroad engineer prior to 1902 when he came to Los Angeles and entered the motion-picture field. He became famous as a director of serial films in the early days of the industry and directed Mary Pickford, Mme. Petrova, Edmund Breese and many other stars.

In 1925 Mr. Grandon suddenly disappeared from Los Angeles and later was discovered by Webster Cullison, a Hollywood director, in the hospital for the poor at Portland, Or. Grandon had been stricken with paralysis on the right side and was unable to speak.

"The Motion-Picture Relief Fund immediately took steps to have Mr. Grandon brought to Los Angeles," said A. W. Stockman, secretary of the organization. Last Saturday Grandon suffered another stroke and became unmanageable and Dr. Paul Roen ordered him sent to the General Hospital. Perry Found Guilty by Jury in Julian Case

Arthur Perry, cloak-and-suit wholesaler, was found guilty of usury in connection with the Julian Petroleum debacle by a jury in Municipal Judge Pope's court yesterday after more than four hours' deliberation. Sentence was delayed by a motion for a new trial made by Samuel Miller, defense attorney, whose argument will be heard by Judge Pope on Tuesday.

Perry was accused by Deputy City Prosecutors Brockman and Lindley of lending $13,000 to Jack Bennett, the "bright young man" of the Julian crash, on 1000 shares of Julian stock, and of making a profit of $2000 in thirty days. The defense contended that the transaction in question was a legal agreement for sale and repurchase of the stock, while the State held that the stock was put up as security for a loan.

PRODUCER DENIES DISROBING DANCER

Miss Lillian Albertson, defendant in a $32,000 damage suit in Superior Judge McLucas's court took the stand yesterday and denied she had rudely assaulted Miss Maria Befeki, oriental dancer, plaintiff in the case. OIL WELLS' VAGARIES TOLD

Expert Driller Testifies in Suit Indications Often Misleading in Petroleum Game

Shale, while indicative of oil, does not necessarily imply that oil is present, was in effect the testimony yesterday of D. C. Burke, oil driller, a defense witness in the suit of Warren K. Deuel against the Rio Grande Oil Company and the Barnsdall Oil Company for a share of profits derived from the Elwood field, near Santa Barbara.

Burke testified that often oil is not located, even when the indications are that it is there.

Following failure the previous day to gain a nonsuit the Barnsdall Oil Company yesterday was placing its witnesses on the stand.

Deuel, who asserts he promoted the field, stated in his complaint that he had an agreement with the defendants whereby he was to receive certain acreage in the oil field for himself and a share of the profits upon the field's development. He asserts he signed a release agreement upon the representation that the one well then being drilled probably would be abandoned, receiving $2500. The well later was brought in and the field now is valued at several millions. The defendants maintain that at the time of the agreement hope of oil production was at a low ebb.

Upon instructions from Superior Judge Yankwich, who is trying the case, Deuel elected to pursue his case on the basis of recision of the agreement, instead of demanding specific monetary damages.
